Two Men Gambled. Salary, One Million? Man's Safety Valve. They Burn Them.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

TWO MEN three thousand miles apart, won by gambling on yesterday's derby.

One, English, 54 years old, bought a ticket in the Calcutta sweepstakes, and drew the favorite, expected to win. If that horse had won, the holder of the ticket on the favorite would have made $600,000.

The wise owner of the favorite ticket sold it for $100,000, will invest at 5 per cent, and live happy ever afterward. He took a certainty on $100,000.

And the horse on which he had the ticket lost. An outsider, Blenheim, won at odds of 18 to 1.

THE AGA KHAN, who owns Blenheim, is head of a great religious body in Asia. They send him a fortune every year, for the good of their souls. He spends it on racing, for the good of the British turf.

THE OTHER GAMBLING winner is a Brooklyn youth, 18 years old. He drew the 18 to 1 winner, Blenheim, in a Canadian sweepstake, and is, TEMPORARILY, richer by $149,000.

A MIRACLE MIGHT happen, the young winner of $149,000 MIGHT invest the money wisely, take care of it, enjoy prosperity.

The general rule is "once a gambler, always a gambler until the money gives out."

The pity is that such gambling news, which must be printed, starts thousands gambling. They do not hear of the tens of millions who gambled and lost.

EUGENE G. GRACE, president of the Bethlehem Steel Company, Charles M. Schwab's creation, declined to answer questions about his salary. Lawyers asked:

"Is your salary more than one million a year?"

Mr. Grace replied in substance:

"None of your business."

ONCE THE MENTION of a $1,000,000 salary would have shaken the stars in their courses, almost. Now it shakes nobody. Everything is a matter of percentage. If you earn five thousand a year for your employer, you are worth about twenty-five hundred dollars.

If you earn five million dollars a year, you are worth two hundred and fifty thousand, if you earn $50,000,000 a year, you are worth $2,500,000.

A CIVILIZATION that can afford to pay $250,000 a year salary for a few minutes talk on the radio, can afford $1,000,000 for running a big steel concern, spread all over the country.

Mr. Grace is one of the ablest steel men living, and an able corporation manager.

THE LONDON DAILY MAIL is agitated because 3,000 men marched through the street at Poona in India, "openly abusing the government, carrying a portrait of King George, emperor of India, decorated with old shoes, in token of contempt."

The Mail correspondent thinks something should be done to make the Hindus respect their British emperor.

THE FACT THAT not very much is done, shows how wise the British are. Great Britain will let you TALK to your heart's content, if you don't ACT.

In Hyde Park, a few blocks from Buckingham Palace, you may say whatever you think about King George. Nobody will disturb you while you only talk.

A wise nation knows enough not to sit on the safety valve. Man's mouth is his safety valve.

CHICAGO'S POLICE suspect that gangsters, working toward greater crime perfection, have established a private crematory to burn the victims of their "rides," machine gun executions, etc.

Of late, gangsters "wanted" by other gangsters have disappeared, their corpses never found.

THE LATEST FASHION is to shoot your man and carry away the body in an automobile. The police say several "big shots" in the who's who of crime must have been cremated, since they can't be found. Examination of one furnace revealed 100 sticks of dynamite.

MARRIED ONLY A year, a charming young woman, bringing suit for divorce against her rich husband at West Palm Beach, Fla., said the husband rang alarm clocks and cowbells, all over the house, until late in the morning.

THE MASTER IN CHANCERY called that extreme cruelty and divorced her. "A trust settlement of half a million to a million dollars is under discussion." The husband, according to the annoyed wife, hid many alarm clocks in her room, arranged to go off every few minutes.

The rich, with no serious work on hand, are prone to strange forms of amusement.

MRS. RUTH BRYAN OWEN, victorious in her second as in her first Florida campaign for Congress, defeats her gentleman opponent overwhelmingly. He, Dewitt T. Deen, a lawyer, ran on a "wet" platform.

Straw votes are unreliable. Many Americans like to "vote dry and live wet." And Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, inheriting her father's talent, in accordance with the laws of heredity, will continue to be a good congressman.

WALSH FINDS CANNON IN CONTEMPT

Applause and Slurs Greet Departure of Churchman; Probe Body in Quandary

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—Bishop James Cannon, Jr., whose defiance of the Senate Lobby Committee has furnished the capital with a two-day sensation, spectacularly emphasized his disdain of the committee's authority today by not only refusing to answer questions concerning his politico-lobbying activities—but by walking out of the room and leaving the committee flat.

Although Cannon had appeared voluntarily, Senator Walsh held that once having placed himself under committee jurisdiction, he could not withdraw until excused.

The Montanan added there might be doubt as to the committee's authority to inquire into Cannon's political activities, but there was no doubt the withdrawal today amounted to contempt.

The bishop, who organized the South against Al Smith in 1928, contended that he was being "persecuted" by a "wet Roman-Tammany element," denied the authority of the committee to probe his activities and expenditures.

AMELIA WED, REPORT IN BOSTON

Family Denies Knowledge of Rumored Marriage to Man She Gave Up After Sea Hop

BOSTON, June 5. — The Boston Traveler today says it is reported that Miss Amelia Earhart, the first woman to make a trans-Atlantic flight, is to marry or already has married Samuel Chapman, of Marblehead, Mass.

The Traveler says members of the two families have neither confirmed nor denied the report.

Miss Earhart is believed to be at Marblehead with her mother and a sister, Mrs. Muriel Morrissey, for the summer.

At the time Miss Earhart made her flight she was reported engaged to Chapman, but later announced the engagement had been broken, although the two remained friends.

Some time ago it was reported she was engaged to George E. Putnam, New York publisher, but this was denied.

FAMILY MUM

MARBLEHEAD, Mass., June 5.—(AP.)—Members of the family of Miss Amelia Earhart, trans-Atlantic flier, today disclaimed any knowledge of the truth of reports that Miss Earhart had wed or was to wed Samuel Chapman, of Marblehead, Mass., her fiance before she made the ocean flight that brought her fame.

Her sister, Mrs. Muriel Morrissey, who is spending the summer here, said today she knew nothing of it and that Miss Earhart was in New York.

GOLFER'S DEATH LAID TO HEAT

With the temperature soaring toward 90, Hiram Harris, secretary of the Chartiers Gas Coal Company and a member of the Pittsburgh Athletic Club, fell dead today on the fifteenth green of the Schenley Park golf links, presumably a heat victim.

Harris had left his residence at 6817 McPherson boulevard shortly before noon, accompanied by a friend, and started to play golf. Sometime later Harris collapsed on the green. His caddy rushed to the clubhouse and summoned Dr. H. E. Cantor, who had Harris removed to the Montefiore Hospital. There he was pronounced dead.

The caddy said that Harris had complained of feeling ill prior to his collapse.

Harris leaves a daughter, Miss Grace Harris; three brothers, William, Thomas and Russell Harris, and two sisters, Miss Susan Harris and Mrs. Rose Talbot, all of Pittsburgh.

Plane Falls In Water With 12

BOSTON, June 5.—(AP.)—One passenger was perhaps fatally injured and 11 others suffered minor injuries and immersion today when a tri-motored Colonial Air Transport plane fell into the waters of the municipal airport.

The plane's passenger list included W. A. Hayton, of Rochester, Pa.

Simon A. de Aulthier, a French aviator, of Boston, who suffered minor injuries, said the accident was due to failure of the right motor of the tri-motored plane, just as the craft was turning southward.

The plane's pilots were Val Chick and Charles O'Connor.

CITY POLICE WITH NIGHTSTICKS DISPERSING MALONE SUPPORTERS AFTER BREAKING UP MAYOR'S RIVAL'S MEETING

ZEP FLIES HOME FROM SEVILLE

SEVILLE, Spain, June 5.—(AP.)—The Graf Zeppelin left Seville for Friedrichshafen at 5:35 p. m. (1:35 p. m. Pittsburgh time), after spending only a half hour here today.

The Graf had cruised above the landing field almost two hours before it could descend to the mooring mast after its arrival.

The big dirigible had successfully completed the first and most dangerous part of its home trip to Friedrichshafen, Germany, with 22 passengers, after the latest aerial journey to the New World—the voyage over the ocean from Lakehurst, N. J.

Incessant rain four hours over the entire Iberian peninsula had delayed the Graf and prevented the usual turn-out of cheering thousands at the arrival.

There was a crowd, but much smaller than that which bade farewell to the air liner when it took off from here for its first voyage to South America.

The Graf arrived over the local air field just 61 hours and eight minutes after taking off from Lakehurst, N. J., on Monday night.

The dirigible touched land 62 hours and 30 minutes after the hop-off.

Meeting of Malone Forces Stormed by Police; Fifth Ward Split

It took a small army of police and considerable mace swinging to do it, but the Fifth Ward has two ward chairmen today.

One of the chairmen, former Councilman James F. Malone, was elected at a rump meeting in front of Watt School as a large squad of police broke up their session, Harry Feldman was named chairman at a meeting of the Kline faction inside the school.

The only person injured, although many were roughly handled, was Mrs. Anna Graham, of 2833 Breckenridge street, a ward committeewoman. She said she was choked and shoved against a brick wall by a policeman.

The excitement there featured the meetings of the Republican ward committees last night. Rival factions meeting in the same hall of the Thirtieth Ward, formerly peaceful Knoxville, also elected two chairmen. The second meeting of the week in the Third Ward and close battles for leadership in the Sixteenth and

Edith R. McCormick Undergoes Operation

CHICAGO, June 5.—(INS.)—Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick, Chicago social leader and daughter of John D. Rockefeller, was convalescing today from an operation she underwent yesterday at Passavant Hospital.

Although the operation was said to have been a minor one, Mrs. McCormick was reported to have been under an anesthetic for nearly an hour. Mrs. McCormick's presence at the hospital was kept secret from her friends.

Society Leader Sues for Divorce

CHICAGO, June 5—(INS.)—Mrs. Jean Hippach Unander-Scharin, Chicago society leader, has filed a bill for divorce from Hjalmar Unander-Scharin, former New Yorker, it was revealed today. The charge is misconduct.

The defendant is a nephew of Victor Unander, former Swedish ambassador to Egypt, and was a reserve officer in the Royal Eighth Dragoons.

BLUE LAW HIT IN M'KEESPORT

Initial returns from McKeesport in the Blue Law poll of the county by the Sun-Telegraph show the voters of the First Ward of that city favoring repeal by a 4-to-1 majority, with eight votes for the Blue Laws, three for modification and 32 for repeal.

The canvass of McKeesport is continuing as the poll is extended further into the suburban and rural districts of the county.

The boroughs of Crafton and Castle Shannon are reached with the distribution of ballots today.

All of the 32 wards of Pittsburgh favor repeal by a ratio ranging from 2-to-1 in the Twenty-eighth Ward to 51-to-1 in the Twenty-fourth Ward. The total vote in Pittsburgh to date is 36,049, divided as follows:

For the Blue Laws	5,201
For modification	2,654
For repeal	28,191

These totals give a ratio of 5.4 votes for repeal for each vote in

FURORE OVER LOST LIST IN SIXTH

Member of Return Board Protested by Elections Association, Note Reveals

All sorts of developments featured today's activities in local politics and the primary election aftermath:

1—It was revealed that the Allegheny County Elections Association had protested the appointment of one member of the primary election recount board. The disclosure was made following the disappearance from the custody of the board of documentary evidence of an election refraction.

2—Secret methods used in the conduct of the recount work were severely criticized by Pinchot leaders.

3—Political leaders were discussing the near-riot that featured the election of Republican ward leaders in the Fifth Ward and the election of duplicate sets of officers in three wards by opposing factions.

4—Attorney Samuel S. Rosenberg presented petitions in Common Pleas Court for a recount of ballots in 19 Wilkinsburg districts.

Disclosure that the Allegheny County Elections Association had protested the appointment of one member of the recount board and vigorous criticism of secrecy in conducting the recount, were post-primary election developments today.

Records of the Election Association, it became known, reveal that a letter was sent by that body, organized to prevent ballot frauds, to Judge James R. Macfarlane, objecting to the naming of Howard Bennett as a member of the recount board. Bennett was employed by the association as an investigator two years ago.

Boy Scout Fully Dressed Replaces Memorial Nymph

The "Boy Scout" that took the place of a "nymph" was placed on exhibit in Carnegie Institute today. It is the bronze figure of a knickered, sweatered, hatless boy that will symbolize the dreams of youth in the memorial to George Westinghouse in Schenley Park.

A nymph sans clothes had been the original choice for the role, but the committee in charge of the $200,000 architectural piece asked Daniel Chester French to transform it. And he did.

The bronze boy, called "American Youth," is the first of the memorial to be exhibited publicly.

Three more sculptural pieces are yet to be sent here—one a medallion of George Westinghouse, the inventor; others, men in working and business suits. These, also, were substituted for half-draped "spirits."

LAW MAKING RUM BUYER GUILTY URGED ON SENATE

HIGHCOURT'S DECISION CITED

Sheppard Says Ruling Shows Need of Legislation to Curb Intoxicant Purchase

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—Declaring the buyer of liquor incites the sale and is the "creative force behind the vast conspiracy against the Constitution," Senator Sheppard (Dem.), of Texas, "father" of the Eighteenth Amendment, today appealed to the Senate Judiciary Committee to favorably report his bill that would make the purchaser equally guilty as the bootlegger.

He asserted the Supreme Court's decision in the Farrar case, which held the buyer not guilty under existing law, only showed the necessity for enacting additional legislation, covering the buyer.

LAYS ALL BLAME ON BUYER

He said:

"Ultimately the whole structure of liquor lawlessness rests upon the buyer of illicit liquor. Without him, traffic in illicit liquor could not persist. Unmenaced by the terror of the law, he practically subsidizes moonshiners, rum runners, high-jackers, bootleggers, corruptionists, gangsters, and the whole unsavory crew who are held together by the cohesive power of profit."

The House yesterday passed the so-called "juryless trial" bill, which went to the Senate today, where its passage was not expected.

ANOTHER HOOVER VICTORY

President Hoover today had scored another congressional victory with passage of the so-called "juryless trial" bills by the House. This makes three of the four major parts of the program approved by that body. Two have become law.

The situation was:

Prison reform program, including new prisons to house increased population, due to prohibition and other laws, had become law.

Measure transferring prohibition enforcement from Treasury to Justice Department had become law.

Wickersham commission court reform program, including "juryless trial" bill and modification of Jones law, had passed House and was sent to the Senate today.

House Interstate Commerce committee had virtually agreed to report out modified administration bill for unification of border patrol forces.

'Radio' Doctor, Nurse Held for Court

Dr. J. E. Johnston, 65, "radio cure" physician, of the Liberty Building, Penn and Sheridan avenues, and his office assistant, Miss Ethel Meising, 40, of Wilkinsburg, waived hearing and were held for court today by Alderman George J. Anderson.

Johnston charged with conspiracy and attempting to obtain money under false pretense, was released in $2,000 bail. Miss Meising, charged with conspiracy, is at liberty in $1,000 bond.

County detectives raided the physician's office last week after he is alleged to have accepted $25 marked money from a sleuth to treat by radio his supposed sister in Washington, Pa. Equipment by which he is said to have pretended to use in diagnosing and curing patients by radio, was confiscated.

SCORE SECRECY IN RECOUNT

vealed yesterday, was scored by Frank. He gave out this statement:

"The operations of the recounting board must be a great disappointment to anyone interested in the fairness of elections. The recounting board which functioned in the fall of 1927 resulted in the indictment and conviction (or pleas) of about 300 persons on account of election crimes. Since then, the operations of recounting boards, while becoming increasingly expensive to the county, have been increasingly hampered until, in connection with the primary election just concluded, the climax of absurdity has been reached."

RECOUNT CLOAKED

"The ballots are now recounted in secret, without any provision for supervision of the count by the candidates whose rights are at stake, or by their representatives.

"In 'corrupt and contented' Philadelphia, a recounting unit consists of three persons, and every facility is afforded the representatives of candidates for observing every step of the work, and such a unit completes, on the average, one box per day.

"In Allegheny County, a recounting unit consists of four persons, with no supervision by representatives of candidates, and such a unit worked on one box for about three days in order to finish the count.

"This particular box was from the First District of the Sixth Ward of Pittsburgh, and was brought in at the expense of County Commissioner Charles C. McGovern by way of testing the results which might be expected from recounting under present conditions.

CHARGES THEFT

"As soon as the ballot box was opened it was observed by members of the Recounting Board and reported to the court, that the numbered list of voters, which was found in the ballot box, was extremely important, since there were only 532 names entered on it, although there were 550 ballots found in the ballot box.

"It now appears that this numbered list of voters had been allowed to be stolen, either while the same was in the custody of the Recounting Board, or in the custody of the sheriff of Allegheny County.

"It is worthy of attention also that on the first day of the Recounting Board's operations, all the members of that board voluntarily promised the representatives of Mr. Pinchot that they might appoint a clerk to participate in the operations of the board. Such a representative was immediately suggested, since which time one reason after another has been found for not complying with this promise.

"The theft of the numbered list of voters is particularly serious, since it has done away with the best available proof of the undoubted fraud which was committed in this election district, and was, in effect, the theft of records from the Court of Common Pleas."

Judge Macfarlane held an inquiry into the matter yesterday. At its conclusion he refused to discuss it with newspapermen. He said:

"I don't know what you are talking about. I have nothing to say for publication."

Attorney Leander Trautman, chairman of the recount board said:

"We have investigated. We have not found the list. We do not know what became of it."

Assistant District Attorney George P. Langfitt, who attended the inquiry said:

"Judge Macfarlane is the spokesman. I have nothing to say."

PARK SILENT

District Attorney Andrew T. Park, said at his office last night:

"The matter is entirely in the hands of Judge Macfarlane until it is reported to us for action. Mr. Langfitt was there at the Judge's request. I cannot give anything out on Judge Macfarlane's investigation."

In session for a week, the recount board was to have finished its first box, the First of the Sixth, yesterday. The missing list caused an uproar on the board and nobody was paying much attention to anything but the missing paper.

Orange and Green Blend in Glad Greetings

BROOKVILLE, Ont., June 5.—(AP.)—At the opening of the annual session of the Orange Association of British America yesterday, a bouquet was received at lodge headquarters with a tag bearing the inscription:

"Greetings and best wishes for a successful convention, from the Knights of Columbus."

Last week the Knights of Columbus convention here received from Lieut.-Col. A. W. Gray, provincial grand master of the Orange Order for Ontario, East, a bouquet bearing a tag with the inscription:

"Greetings from Grand Orange Lodge to Knights of Columbus at their annual session."

RECOUNT PLEAS FILED AT LAST

Petitions asking for a recount of ballots cast at the primary election in 19 precincts of Wilkinsburg, where Pinchot received a heavy vote, were presented to court today by Attorney Samuel S. Rosenberg.

Judge James R. Macfarlane remarked that some of the names on the petitions were illegible. He took the papers under advisement and announced he would rule later as to whether he would accept the petitions.

The precincts named are the First, Second, Third, Seventh, Tenth, Eleventh and Twelfth of the First Ward, and the entire 12 precincts of the Second Ward.

Rosenberg, whose activities have been disclaimed by local Republican leaders, said he would present in all 109 petitions for a recount in as many Pinchot districts.

DERBY 'WINNER' ERROR VICTIM, GETS NOTHING

Operators of Pool Notify Him That Correction Shows He Doesn't Get $100,000

International News Service.

LONDON, June 5.—Percy Hogg, engineer on the Southern Railway, qualified without opposition today for the role of the world's most disappointed man.

Yesterday Hogg prepared to doff his dungarees forever, then proceed to enjoy the rest of his life on a $100,000 prize he thought he won on Blenheim in the Calcutta Derby sweepstakes.

Today he learned to his chagrin that there had been a slight error.

Nothing much so far as the operators of the lottery were concerned, perhaps, but of considerable importance to Mr. Hogg. It simply was that he did not, as was previously reported, hold the winning number.

TICKETS SCATTERED WIDELY

However, with more than $10,000,000 in sweepstakes hinging on the result of the Derby, a number of millionaires were made in the space of a few moments. It probably will be some time before the actual winners are known, as the tickets are sold in the four corners of the globe.

Among those who profited in England were Thomas Lane and William Osborne, who got $175,000 each for holding a winning ticket on Blenheim.

They reported at their benches in a Coventry motor works as usual today, preferring to see their cash in actuality before quitting their jobs.

J. W. Bourne, a clerk in London's financial district, won $100,000 in the Baltic Exchange sweepstakes. A hundred dock workers in the Rotherhithe shipping district split a huge prize on Diolite, who finished third in the Derby.

By a queer twist of fate, the Duke of Marlborough drew Blenheim in the Carlton Club sweepstake. Blenheim is the name of the duke's ancestral estate at Woodstock.

FATHER, SON ARGUE

NEW YORK, June 5.—(INS.)—Today the clouds resulting from winning $149,000 in a Derby sweepstake had cleared and all was serene in the Dougherty home in Brooklyn.

Dominick D. Dougherty, Eddie's father, had given the youth a dollar with which to purchase a ticket in the pool. That ticket won. When Eddie was advised he had won he apparently overlooked the fact that though the ticket was in his name it was paid for by his dad.

An argument ensued and things were near a breaking point when Eddie's brother Danny stepped in as a peacemaker—then they decided there was enough for all of them and all were friends again.

J. W. Zaloudek, Omaha, Neb., laborer, and Robert I. Lynn, 59-year-old Portland, Me., tailor, devide the third prize of $48,000 in a Canadian sweepstake.

The winners, those that could be reached, accepted the news in various ways.

"He's yellow" and "He quit," came from those who had no sympathy with his views.

Walsh pounded for order in the noise and confusion.

Nonplussed by the boldness of the bishop, and temporarily helpless because of the fact Cannon was not under formal subpena and further because no quorum was present, Senator Walsh (Dem.), of Montana, adjourned the investigation for a week until the regular chairman, Senator Caraway (Dem.), of Arkansas, returns to Washington.

Caraway is now in Arkansas and is not due to return until next Tuesday.

Upon Caraway's return it will be decided whether to subpena the bishop and place him in a position where his refusal to testify will make him liable to prosecution for contempt of the Senate.

After Cannon's departure, Senator Blaine read into the record a series of telegrams exchanged between Cannon and committee relative to his appearance.

The only evidence of heat in the whole procedure came just as Cannon was about to leave the room, when Walsh ejaculated:

"The remarks you make are for the purpose of criticising this committee."

"I am not on the stand," Cannon snapped.

"You will take your own chances on leaving," Walsh warned him.

"I shall return if you subpena me," the bishop retorted.

The session continued, despite Cannon's absence, with Blaine reading into the record documents seized in Cannon's files. These concerned his 1928 activities, and the distribution of Cannon's much-discussed Anti-Smith pamphlet.

Faced with a vacant witness chair, Blaine placed in the record the report of Cannon to the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, for 1928, in which he listed among his "clerical activities" the Asheville (N. C.) anti-Smith meeting, a meeting at Norfolk, Va., and another at Huntington, W. Va.

Cannon, when on the stand, insisted that he acted as an individual in the anti-Smith fight and not as a bishop of the church. In his report, however, he listed the anti-Smith Asheville conference and others as "church activities."

Mexican Boundary Meeting Next Week

MEXICO CITY, June 5.—(AP.)—The department of foreign relations today announced that the boundary commissions of Mexico and the United States would meet here again next week for discussion of disputed points of territoriality.

PORTER ENTERS HOSPITAL HERE

Congressman Stephen G. Porter, ill for two months, arrived in care of a nurse from Washington this morning and entered the Allegheny General Hospital for an examination by specialists.

Mr. Porter was accompanied by his secretary, Edmund Erk, and Keith Merrill, executive secretary of the United States Foreign Service Building Commission. They were met at the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad station by Dr. S. H. Ralston, a close personal friend of the Congressman, and Dr. E. P. Wickerham.

Erk said Representative Porter had shown improvement since he learned he was to be brought home. He is said to be suffering from a complication of ailments resulting from an attack of influenza suffered last March. He has been confined in Washington hospitals since.

Deny New Killings At Mexican Mine

BISBEE, Ariz., June 5.—(AP.)—Officials of the Silver Plume Mining Co., through officers of the Four C Copper Company, denied reports from Naco, Sonora, that eight persons had been killed in trouble between Mexican workmen and mine officials near Cananea. All has been quiet at the Silver Plume, they said, since Monday, when Charles Koehler, American mill foreman, and a Mexican workman, were killed.

Battleship Swept By $200,000 Fire

WASHINGTON, June 5.—(AP.)—After a $200,000 fire, the battleship Colorado today had been ordered to proceed from the Panama Canal to the Brooklyn Navy Yard for repairs.

Fire in the plotting room, from which the firing of the ship's 16-inch gun is controlled, damaged and destroyed many delicate instruments Monday.

No one was injured. A short circuit started the fire.

Gould's Gambling Palace Ruins Nice Casino

NICE, France, June 5.—(INS.)—The gambling feud along the Cote d'Azur reached its climax today when the famous Nice Casino, mecca of plunging tourists for decades, filed suit against the City of Nice for $800,000, charging its concession had been ruined by the granting of a gambling license to the Palais Mediteranee, operated by Frank J. Gould, American millionaire.

The casino, which had held the gambling monopoly of Nice for years, was hit badly by the competition of Gould's Palais, whose glittering brilliance attracted thousands of visitors since its opening a few months ago.

The Casino charged the city had violated a monopoly agreement by allowing Gould's establishment to operate. In addition to the $800,000 lump damages, the Casino demands $400,000 anually for the duration of its lease, which still has 46 years to run. The Casino thus is asking a total of $19,200,000 from the city to offset the loss of trade sustained since Gould thrilled the Riviera with opening of his $5,000,000 establishment.

Gould and the Casino have been at odds for months. Each has made desperate efforts to capture the other's trade, and present indications are the American gambling magnate has been the more successful.

COURT RULE MAY BEAT MARTIN

16 Philadelphia Members Forbidden to Take Part In Chairmanship Election

International News Service.

PHILADELPHIA, June 5.—The bitter battle over chairmanship of the Republican State Committee between the Vare-Mellon faction and the Grundy-Pinchot followers took a sensational turn today when Judge Harry S. McDevitt, sitting in the Election Court here, granted a restraining order preventing the 16 newly-elected Philadelphia members of the committee from taking their seats at the organization meeting here Saturday.

Loss of the 16 votes for Edward C. Martin, the Mellon-Vare candidate for re-election, it is believed, will be disastrous to their hopes of success.

NOW CLAIM VICTORY

S. V. Brown, of Williamsport, is the Pinchot-Grundy candidate. Loss of the Philadelphia County delegation, Pinchot forces ayer, assures the election of their choice.

Judge McDevitt's action came as a distinct shock to the Philadelphia organization, despite his intimations a few days ago that he would grant a restraining injunction to prevent certification of the Philadelphia vote until all ballots in dispute had been rechecked. He said:

"I am granting an order restraining the County Commissioners from certifying the vote, and any member of the state committee who wishes to take an appeal will have two days in which to do it, the ground having been laid by the decision today."

VIEWED AS DECISIVE COUP

The decision was looked upon as a distinct and perhaps decisive victory for the Pinchot forces.

Earlier in the day Pinchot had issued this statement:

"The pledges of support for S. Van Brown, whom I am backing for state chairman, are so numerous as to assure his election."

The Vare-Mellon faction, however, also claimed their candidate was certain of re-election.

WET PLANK ADOPTED

A wet plank, adopted by the Democratic State Committee without more than a murmur from the dry members today was made part of the Democratic platform in Pennsylvania.

Immediate repeal of the Snyder-Armstrong act, Pennsylvania's teeth in the prohibition laws, and repeal of the Eighteenth Amenrment to the Federal Constitution are advocated.

FORM LIBERAL PARTY

HARRISBURG, June 5.—(INS.)—Five Philadelphia men, prominently identified with the Association Against the Eighteenth Amendment, pre-empted the title "Liberal Party" by petition to the Dauphin County Court here today. Nomination of a ticket was indicated.

The pition was presented by Robert K. Cassatt, Wilbur Morris, William W. Montgomery, Jr., Raymond Pitcairn and Randolph W. Childs.

Parents Ask $25,000 For Son's Death

GREENSBURG, Pa., June 5.—M. A. Noon, of Scottdale, has been named defendant to a damage suit for $25,000 filed here by Leroy C. Bowman and his wife Florence Bowman of Scottdale. The suit grew out of the death of the couple's son, Clare Otto Bowman, who it is alleged was fatally injured by the defendant's auto on April 26, 1930.

Convict Driver in Death of Student

Ray Williams, 23, of Finley street, was found guilty of involuntary manslaughter in Criminal Court today. Williams, it was testified, had been drinking when his automobile ran upon a sidewalk, killing William S. Wiles, 19, a dental student, of 5139 Broad street.

CO-ED VANISHES AT SEA FLEEING UNWELCOME MARRIAGE

IN LOVE WITH ANOTHER SUITOR

Police Seek California Girl After Discovery of Note Spurning Mother's Choice

SAN FRANCISCO, June 5.—(AP.)—Fearing that Miss Alice Giddens, 23, amateur actress and former University of California co-ed, had committed suicide or fled to avoid marrying a man she did not love, police today investigated her disappearance from the coastal liner Yale.

Miss Giddens, sister of Roy A. Giddens, Los Angeles telephone company executive, embarked from Los Angeles May 26 on the Yale, bound for San Francisco.

LEFT NOTE

When the vessel arrived here she was missing, although her traveling bag, coat and purse, and a farewell note were found in her cabin.

The brother arrived in San Francisco yesterday and enlisted police aid in a search for the young woman.

He said Miss Giddens had been in love with a Los Angeles youth, and apparently had agreed to her mother's wish that she marry another man.

During the voyage, the brother believes, the young woman either leaped overboard or decided to disappear when the Yale docked here to avoid marrying the unwelcome suitor.

BELIEVED IN NEW YORK

LOS ANGELES, June 5.—(AP.)—While police of this city and San Francisco are investigating the disappearance of Miss Bernadine Alice Giddens, Los Angeles co-ed, from the deck of a coastwise steamer, Mrs. Wilda Giddens, her mother, today expressed belief the girl is in New York City, where she plans to marry a former Pasadena (Cal.), actor.

Mrs. Giddens revealed that since the young woman came here four years ago from Seattle, Wash., where she attended the University of Washington, she has been involved in a series of love affairs and was engaged to marry at least two men.

In the note to her mother, posted in Long Beach before she sailed for San Francisco, Miss Giddens said:

"Life has just played tricks on me—and love, too.

"I am sorry I can't go through with the marriage. I am letting you down, I know, and hurting those I love best. I am choosing this way out, because it is a clean break."

3 M'CARTHYS HELD IN JAIL

Mack, Lawrence and Dale McCarthy, alleged collectors for Al Forney, slot machine king, were to be arraigned today following their surrender yesterday. They had been sought for a year as star witnesses in the case of Forney, who was acquitted of gambling charges.

The brothers were taken before Judges Elder W. Marshall, H. H. Rowand, presiding in Criminal Court, and Frank P. Patterson. After a brief hearing the brothers were remanded to jail until today, when the three judges will hear their case.

Park today instructed Assistant District Attorney George F. P. Langfitt to draw up a petition asking for the commitment of Mack on a contempt of court charge.

Mack McCarthy, at yesterday's hearing, denied he had been subpenaed for the trial of Forney. After a brief legal tilt the brothers were ordered to jail.

Two Chinese Win Auto Injury Suit

GREENSBURG, Pa., June 5.—Eddie Yee, New Kenington Chinese, was awarded $300 damages and his minor brother, Ben Yee, $155 against Harry Reges, New Kensington, by a jury in common pleas court. Ben Yee was injured May 11, 1929, when it was alleged, an auto owned by Reges ran over a sidewalk and struck him.

Dynamite Fishing Depleting Streams

GRANTSVILLE, Md., June 5.—According to reports from a number of sources there has been no letup in the dynamiting of streams in this section and across the state line in Somerset County, Pa. It is feared fish will soon become extinct in the streams about Grantsville and Salisbury unless authorities take action.

'Two-Wife' Man Shoots One Taken From Him

CLEVELAND, June 5.—(AP.)—Until police interfered last March, Frank Ipollito had lived under the same roof for 12 years with Mrs. Ipollito and Mrs. Theresa Scilla.

Mrs. Ipollito ran the house, and her husband and Mrs. Scilla worked in garment factories. The children of the two women called them "mother" indiscriminately.

Last night Ipollito took a pair of pistols, went to Mrs. Scilla's present home and opened fire. One shot wounded her in the side. Her brother-in-law drove Ipollito off with a milk bottle and police captured him.

Witnesses said he blamed the woman for intercepting the children of his legal wife on their way from school.

FEAR TONG WAR AS TWO DIE

NEW YORK, June 5.—(AP.)—Chinese gunners and hatchet men went into action in four cities today and last night, killing two men and leading police to fear widespread tong warfare may be impending.

Last night a group of Chinese rode through Chicago's Chinatown in an effort to put Frank Chin "on the spot." Chin, a representative of the Chin Oak Tin Tong, was not touched by any of the bullets sprayed from pistols and a machine gun.

In Boston seven shots were fired into the headquarters of the Hip Sing Tong early today, but no one was injured.

Ha Gong, a waiter, was killed in New York by two men who hid in a doorway near his home. He was a Hip Sing.

Assailants killed Eng Sing, Newark laundryman, today with a hatchet.

POLICE READY HERE

Police today were prepared to cope with any outbreak of tong warfare in Pittsburgh. Inspector of Detectives Frank R. Boyd announced investigation failed to reveal evidence of an imminent clash between the Hip Sings and the On Leongs here.

British Labor Seeks Union for Servants

LONDON, June 5.—(AP.)—First steps toward organization of domestic workers-maid servants, cooks and butlers—were taken at today's final meeting of the National Conference of Labor Women.

Trade union organizers and domestics pooled their support and secured the unanimous vote of the conference to send out 1,000 questionnaires, during the next year, to sound out servants on how they feel about a domestic service charter.

If the canvass favors the plan, the conference next year will start organizing servants, to insure proper working hours, recreation and pay.

New Probe in Murder Of Gangster's Girl

NEW YORK, June 5.—(INS.)—Detective Edward Freel today was en route to Cleveland to continue his investigation into the murder of Anna Urbas, whose garroted body was found in the Harlem River last week. Police believe the slayers of Edward Moran, with whom Miss Urbas had been living, were named in correspondence with the girl's mother, who is in Cleveland. Their theory is that Miss Urbas was slain to prevent her exposing the men who killed Moran, bodyguard of the late Arnold Rothstein.

Baldwin Instaled As Cambridge Head

CAMBRIDGE, Eng., June 5.—(AP.)—Former Premier Stanley Baldwin today was installed as chancellor of Cambridge University in succession to Lord Balfour.

Charles G. Dawes, ambassador, was one of the several distinguished persons to receive the honorary degree of doctor of laws.

Baldwin announced a gift of $3,500,000 from the Rockefeller Foundation.

VATICAN REPLY DUE ON MALTA

ROME, June 5.—(AP.)—It is understood that the Vatican will publish a white book replying to the British blue book concerning the controversy at Malta in which will be contained a series of documents, some of which do not appear in the British book.

The Vatican will seek to prove that it has never interfered in any political question on the Island of Malta, but has only endeavored to protect religion, and will claim that it has acted within its rights in that direction.

LONDON, June 5.—(AP.)—Conflict between the British government and the Vatican over the recent political crisis in the British colony of Malta was revealed here in the issuance of an official blue book.

The blue book contained correspondence concerning the Maltese situation and charged the Vatican with acting in a manner "which constitutes nothing less than a claim to interfere with the domestic politics of a British colony."

Weather Conditions.

Showers and thunderstorms were again general over the states from Central Illinois westward. It is cloudy this morning over this section and southern states. Light showers occurred at scattered places yesterday afternoon and last night. The rain area has not advanced much farther eastward since yesterday, but the barometer is decreasing over the East, which is favorable to cloudiness and showers.

There was a slight increase in temperature over the eastern states since yesterday, while over the western states there was a further drop.

River Conditions.

The rivers are stationary at low stages. Stage at Franklin is 1.2 feet; Lock No. 1, 10.2; Pittsburgh, 10.1; Dam No. 1, 9.6; Dam No. 6, 7.6; Dam No. 8, 9.3 and Dam No. 12, 3.9. The dams are up.

Aviation Bulletin.

The skies are clear and ceiling unlimited everywhere from Chicago eastward. Haze is reducing visibility to two miles over the mountains and eastward to the coast. From the mountains westward visibility ranges from four miles to unlimited. The wind ranges from 10 to 12 miles from the mountains west to Chicago, east of the mountains, two to four miles. The direction is from the Southwest everywhere.

Good flying weather will continue tonight, but cloudiness will set in Friday, and scattered showers and thunderstorms may be expected.

BOOM MORROW FOR PRESIDENT

TRENTON, N. J., June 5.—(AP.)—A presidential boom for Dwight W. Morrow, ambassador to Mexico and candidate for the Republican senatorial nomination in New Jersey, has been launched here.

With Mr. Morrow occupying a seat on the platform of a political rally last night, Edward C. Stokes, former governor of New Jersey, and Dr. John Grier Hibben, president of Princeton University, advanced his name as a White House possibility.

Mr. Stokes said:

"Mr. Morrow is not only worthy to have a seat in the United States Senate; Mr. Morrow is presidential timber.

"I know I am treading on delicate ground. At Atlantic City the other day, he disavowed being a candidate. I don't think he has anything to do with that question. No man in this country is big enough or great enough to decline a call to the presidency."

Britain Again Blocks Tunnel to France

LONDON, June 5.—(AP.)—Prime Minister MacDonald informed the House of Commons this afternoon that the government had decided against the construction of the proposed English Channel tunnel.

Priest Saving Sacrament In Church Fire Overcome

PHILADELPHIA, June 5.—(INS.)—Seven firemen were injured and a priest was overcome when fire destroyed the sacristy of St. Casimir's Lithuanian Church here this morning and threatened the rectory and convent building adjoining.

The blaze was discovered by Father Victor Michatis when he went to the edifice to celebrate mass.

He summoned the Rev. Alex Aluskas, another curate, and both entered the blazing building in an effort to save the sacrament and sacred vessels.

They were driven back by the intense heat, but upon the arrival of fireman, Father Michatis re-entered the building and was making his way out with the sacred relics when he was overcome. He was carried to safety by the firemen.

The seven firemen hurt were trapped in the building when the roof collapsed.

Lieut. John McCann, of Engine Company No. 22, was so seriously injured it was feared he may die. He suffered a broken back and internal injuries.

Loses $625,000 By Dying 20 Days Too Soon

CHICAGO, June 5.—(AP.)—Judge Hugo Pam, of the Superior Court, who died recently in New York, would have inherited a quarter share of a $2,500,000 estate had he lived 20 days longer. His will, filed for probate yesterday, disposed of an estate of $40,000.

Judge Pam and three sisters were made beneficiaries of the estate of their brother, Max Pam, with the provision that the estate be held in trust for five years. June 17 was the expiration date of the trust.

Five Indicted in Giant Gem Robbery

NEW YORK, June 5.—(INS.)—While a detailed list of the $1,200,000 worth of jewelry held by police is being broadcast to 18,000 jewelers throughout the country today, a woman and four men will be arraigned in General Sessions Court. They were indicted yesterday on three charges in connection with robbery of $300,000 worth of the gems.

French Deputies O. K. Court Change

PARIS, June 5.—(AP.)—The Chamber of Deputies today ratified the protocol adopted at Geneva in September, 1929, modifying the statutes of the Court of International Justice of the League of Nations to permit the adhesion of the United States.

IMPRISON 140 IN SALT RAIDS

BOMBAY, June 5.—(AP.)—One hundred and forty salt raiders from Worli were tried here today, and 115 were sentenced to three months' rigorous imprisonment for unlawful assembly.

The others, who, as juveniles, were sentenced to serve one day of simple imprisonment, told the magistrate they would raid the Wadala salt works again tomorrow unless given heavier penalties.

A hartal, or cessation of work, was observed by Indian Nationalists here today in mourning for Mahatama Gandhi, who ended his first month's imprisonment at Yeroda jail, Poona.

Thirty cotton mills closed and 65,000 workers went on strike.

PASHAWAR, India, June 5.—(AP.)—Afridi Lashkar tribesmen, who had advanced on Peshawar in the night, cutting wire fences and blocking roads, were repelled by troops which engaged them this forenoon. Most of the Lashkars retired across the border.

Court Action Tests Ban on Wine Tonic

SAN FRANCISCO, June 5.—(AP.)—Authority of Prohibition Administrator William G. Walker to withhold permits for the manufacture of wine tonic was challenged here today in Federal Court, on behalf of the Sterling Pharmacal Company. Its attorney declares:

"This is the beginning of a campaign by drug manufacturers to learn their rights. We intend to carry the issue to the Supreme Court, if necessary."

The company's petition recites that its alcohol supply has been cut by Walker to 100 gallons a year.

Chicago Police Aid Drys, Asserts Doran

CHICAGO, June 5.—(AP.)—James Doran, prohibition commissioner, believes enforcement conditions in Chicago are better than in other big cities. He said:

"In Chicago we have always obtained greatest co-operation from police. Philadelphia is second and New York is the worst."

SHOUSE SCORES HOOVER, TARIFF

COLUMBUS, O., June 5.—(AP.)—Jouett Shouse, chairman of the Democratic National Executive Committee, who is to be the principal speaker at a Democratic victory dinner here tonight, today assailed the leadership of President Hoover and the tariff bill. He said:

"Men who are to succeed in the discharge of the duties of President of the United States, the most important position in the world, must be men of leadership and courage, with ability to lead the thought of their country in any circumstance that they may confront.

"And I say with regret, but I do not hesitate to assert, that so far in the Hoover administration there has been so totally lacking the courageous leadership which the country has a right to expect that already his administration is floundering hopelessly and helplessly."

Shouse said of the tariff measure:

"It has no friends outside of those interests whose lien on the Republican party has forced the bill along."

Prospectors Rush To New Ore Bed

WRANGELL, Alaska, June 5.—(AP.)—Lured by the discovery of a body of ore believed to contain copper, gold and silver, prospectors are rushing to the Cassiar district, 100 miles up the Stikine River, northeast of here, in Northern British Columbia.

One of the veins is about 30 feet wide, reports received here said. Samples brought here ran $49.44 in copper, $3.20 in gold and indicated a silver content of about five ounces to the ton.

Michigan Man Gets U. S. Parole Post

WASHINGTON, June 5.—(AP.)—Arthur B. Wood, commissioner of pardons for Michigan, has been selected as one of the three members of the new Federal Pardon Parole Board.

Attorney General Mitchell, who announced the selection today, is expected to name the other members soon.

Wood is also a probate and juvenile judge and a director of the American Prison Conference.

Mrs. Hoover Hurt Again; Ordered to Rest Camp

WASHINGTON, June 5.—(INS)—Mrs. Herbert Hoover, slowly convalescing from an injury to her back she suffered in a fall at the White House two months ago, strained her injured muscles when she entertained President-elect Alaya, of Colombia, at his recent visit at the White House, and has been requested to go to the Hoover mountain camp in Virginia for an "indefinite stay." She will go to the camp this afternoon with her secretary.

Mrs. Hoover had been going about her apartment in a wheel chair but abandoned it when the Colombian statesman appeared. Yesterday she motored to the home of Secretary of Labor Davis for luncheon, but Mrs. Davis had provided a wheel chair for her.

Dr. Joel T. Boone, White House physician, said today the first lady had not suffered a relaps but admitted her strained back muscles have not healed sufficiently to allow her to resume her social activities.

He said he requested she remain at the camp in order to remove her from the ever-pressing social engagements here. He will visit her periodically.

Mrs. Hoover will be joined at the camp Saturday by her husband and his party, who will stay over the week-end.

TARIFF BILL SNAGGED AGAIN

Sent Anew to Conference When Curtis Backs Protest By Democrats on Rates

WASHINGTON, June 5.—(AP.)—The tariff bill was returned ot conference today for the fourth time when Vice President Curtis upheld Democratic points of order against its rate provisions.

While the decision will delay the long-pending legislation, Republican leaders expect speedy correction of the rates and return of the bill for a final vote next week.

The rates questioned today are embraced in the original conference report, already approved by the House.

MUST NAME CONFEREES

The House will have to reappoint conferees before the two bodies can negotiate. Democrats in that branch will attempt to instruct the conferees on many eates, but House Republican chiefs will obtain a rule to thwart their move and save time.

The Vice President sustained points of order against some of the conference rates on cheese and, while in doubt about objections raised against watch rates, suggested a revision of the language.

HOLDS CONFEREES ERRED

The Vice President upheld the contention that the conferees had exceeded their authority in rewriting certain duties, including those on rayon, and a section providing for free entry of cattle for pasturage purposes.

Senate conferees immediately were reappointed and Chairman Smoot, of the Finance Committee, expressed hope the House would reappoint its managers during the day, so the bill could be brought back to the Senate floor by Monday.

BANK DIVIDEND FOR CREDITORS

UNIONTOWN, Pa., June 5.—With $1,039,000 ready for distribution, 14,800 depositors of the defunct Citizens Title and Trust Company will receive [illegible] per cent dividend early in July, according to an official announcement made today by Frank W. Jackson, deputy secretary of banking.

If no exceptions delay the payment the distribution of checks should come the first week in July.

The remaining assets of the bank—$835,372.55—consist of notes, mortgages, judgments, and much time will be required before another dividend is declared.

HIT BY TROLLEY, LOSES LEG

Rushed to the South Side Hospital after she had been struck by a street car, today, Margaret Sivtala, 5, of 2306 Jane street, underwent an operation for amputation of her right leg below the knee.

Physicians said her left foot also was crushed but would not be amputated. She likely will die, they said.

According to police the child was playing in Carson street when she was struck by the trolley car at South Twenty-third street. Police sought for an hour before finding her parents.

KLINE, MALONE WIN IN RIVAL MEETINGS

Near Riot Marks 5th Ward Elections; Woman Injured As Police Charge Voters

Twenty-ninth were other indications of continued bitterness in local factional politics.

As a result of the night's activities the leadership in the Fifth, Third and Thirtieth wards remains undecided as far as official results are concerned. As was expected Mayor Charles H. Kline retained control of most of the other wards.

BOTH CLAIM MAJORITY

Both sides claimed to have a majority of votes at the Watt Street School meeting. The Feldman supporters said there were 81 votes cast for him. The Malone supporters claimed to have 82 votes. There are only 132 accredited committeemen and women in the ward. Either one side or the other was wrong.

The Feldman supporters were admitted to the auditorium. The Malone group gathered near the school and at the time set for the meeting marched in a body to the school house door. They were stopped by the police who demanded to see their credentials.

FIGHTS WAY OUT

Former Ward Chairman James M. Smith, who was admitted to the school, fought his way out past the police at the door.

He jumped up on the school yard wall and before the police could interfere called the meeting to order. While Police Lieut. Jack Lavery was pulling Smith down from the wall Frank Anderson was named temporary chairman by Harry Lewis. Two policemen grabbed Lewis as he was nominating Malone. The Malone supporters roared their approval of Malone while police waved nightsticks and sporadic battles raged. Nobody was arrested, although a patrol wagon was parked at the school for emergencies.

Both sides won but the total of the votes claimed proves that either one or both are exaggerating a bit.

ISSUE STATEMENTS

Both chairman issued statements after the meetings. Feldman said:

"I am greatly pleased with the support given to me by the loyal members of the Republican party in the Fifth Ward."

Malone said:

"The spectacle displayed by the police at the Watt school meeting was the most un-American and unsportmanshiplike thing I have ever seen in ward politics. For 32 years I have been taking part in politics and never saw a policeman at a meeting although we have had some bitter fights."

The Malone faction elected Mrs. E. M. King vice chairwoman, and Leo Flynn, treasurer. The Feldman ticket was composed of Mrs. Murray Edlis, Mrs. Sylvia Franz, vice chairwomen, Mrs. Sarah Winslow, secretary, and Sidney R. Ray was unopposed for treasurer.

TWO CLAIM ELECTION

Rival claims resulted from the Thirtieth Ward meeting in Knoxville Junior High School. Lon Mackintosh, supported by the Kline administration, claimed 45 attended, and that he and his slate were elected by 23 of those present. He offered to produce their signatures.

Supporters of John F. Donley, seeking re-election as ward chairman, claimed an attendance of 46, and that 24 supported him. The rival factions voted separately in the same hall.

Donley called the meeting to order and was elected temporary chairman in rapid-fire fashion. The Mackintosh supporters, protesting against what they termed "Strip" tactics, went to the rear of the hall. The Donley group then re-elected him, named Mrs. Virginia Rauh vice chairman and Harry Alton, secretary. Then the others elected Mackintosh, Helen Walsh, vice chairman, Perry La Barr, secretary, and William Grimm, treasurer.

Claiming the rules require the meeting to be held last night, administration committee members in the Third Ward met and elected Joseph Engelsberg chairman, Ida Wayne, vice chairman, Samuel Rubinoff, secretary, and James P. Martarella, treasurer. Supporters of John J. Verona, present ward chairman, met Tuesday night, unanimously naming Verona and his entire ticket.

WOMEN IN FIGHT

Fred Bacher won the Twenty-ninth Ward fight, defeating Constable M. J. Boehner 39 to 32. In the Sixteenth Ward Fred Dengler, Kline aide, won a close fight from George E. Levake, 61 to 54. Mrs. Ellen Kneidler defeated Mrs. Mary Randall for vice chairman by one vote. E. Boyd Birch was re-elected in the Twenty-eighth by a 26 to 12 vote over John McCartney.

Members of the Second Ward committee presented P. J. O'Malley with a diamond studded watch.

Women staged the battle in the Fourteenth. Mrs. Margaret Meanor defeated Mrs. Anna Winner 96 to 27 in the fight for vice chairman. Joseph Brown defeated Sarah McClelland 98 to 39 for treasurer. A threatened battle in the Eighth failed to materialize, Roy D. Schooley being re-elected 92 to 0. The Thirteenth Ward committee will meet tonight, the hall being unavailable yesterday. The ward results:

First—Superintendent of Police P. P. Walsh, chairman; Father Goodwin, vice chairman; John Maberry, secretary, and Frank Casallia, treasurer.

Second—P. J. O'Malley, chairman; Mrs. John Schnurr, vice chairman; Edward Sweeney, secretary; George Lal, treasurer.

Fourth—Howard Neely, chairman; Miss Della Conwell, vice chairman; M. J. Muldowney, secretary and Louis Wicks, treasurer.

SULLIVAN NAMED

Sixth—Congressman P. J. Sullivan, chairman; Myrtle Jones, vice chairman; Joseph Atkinson, secretary, and John Liebert, treasurer.

Seventh—Alderman Charles A. Burke, chairman; Anna R. Beatty, vice chairman; Thomas McDowell, secretary, and William S. Zeppenfeld, treasurer.

Eighth—Roy D. Schooley, chairman; Nellie C. Barkley, vice chairman; G. Paul Coultas, secretary, and William H. McClafferty, treasurer.

Ninth—Deputy Fire Chief I. J. Conley, chairman; Mrs. Larie Will, vice chairman; E. Y. Dobson, secretary, and Nicholas Weischaup, treasurer.

Tenth—P. J. Donahoe, chairman; Katherine Enright, vice chairman; John M. Husten, secretary, and John Frazier, treasurer.

SOOST, DE ROSA PICKED

Eleventh—Magistrate William R. Soost, chairman.

Twelfth—Michael DeRosa, chairman.

Fourteenth—P. F. Casey, chairman; Mrs. Margaret Meanor, vice chairman; Alexander Cooper, secretary, and Joseph Brown, treasurer.

Fifteenth—Leo J. Kirch, chairman; Mrs. Catherine Charles, vice chairman; Thomas Murphy, secretary, and John Collins, treasurer.

Sixteenth—Fred Dengler, chairman; Mrs. Ellen Kneidler, vice chairman; Joseph Lotz, secretary, and William Casey, treasurer.

Seventeenth—Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong, chairman; Mary C. Bayer, vice chairman; R. L. Succop, secretary, and Marie Henning, treasurer.

Eighteenth—Thomas D. Jones, chairman.

Nineteenth—Samuel J. Reno, chairman; Mrs. Winifred Foley, vice chairman; John Zelch, secretary, and Mrs. Lillian Guckert, treasurer.

Twentieth—Edward Townsend, chairman.

Twenty-first—William Hurd, chairman; Mrs. Harry A. Little, vice chairman; William McLaughlin, secretary, and Ben Carothers, treasurer.

OTHERS NAMED

Twenty-sixth—T. D. Lecky, chairman; Minnie Wehner, vice chairman; Edward McElroy, secretary, and Charles Kaufman, treasurer.

Twenty-seventh—Samuel J. Grenet, chairman; Laura J. Hinnau, vice chairman; David B. Cadugan, secretary, and Sarah Slater, treasurer.

Twenty-eighth—E. Boyd Birch, chairman; Jean E. Brown, vice chairman; Grant S. Hunter, secretary, and Leo L. McClure, treasurer.

Twenty-ninth—Fred Bacher, chairman; Mrs. Cora Kellar, vice chairman; Elmer H. Haupt, secretary, and William J. Evans, treasurer.

Thirty-first—C. J. McBride, chairman; Mrs. Emily Bertan and Mrs. William Bost, vice chairmen; George Schmeltz, secretary, and John Chivino, treasurer.

Thirty-second—John J. McGrath, chairman.

12 Lbs. of Candy Yearly for Each! Get Yours?

CHICAGO, June 5.—(AP)—America's consumption of candy in 1929 weighed 12 pounds for every man, woman and child. The total was 1,382,243,387 pounds, an increase of 117,000,000 and one pound per capita over 1928.

The figures were reported to the annual convention of the National Confectioners' Association today by the food division of the United States Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce.

The increase was the largest in history, the candy makers said.

RECORD TIME FOR POSTCARD

There's a speed demon in Pittsburgh and it's not a man or machine—just an ordinary postcard.

This particular postcard is the property of Mrs. R. E. Lightner, 507 Shady avenue. It was mailed to her from Buenos Aires arriving in Pittsburgh in exactly three days.

The Graf Zeppelin picked up the card May 30 at Rio de Janerio and flew it to the United States. This accounts for the speed.

The card was mailed by David H. Matson, general manager of the American and Foreign Power Corporation, to Mrs. Lightner, his mother. Mrs. Lightner claims that the usual time it requires a letter to arrive from Buenos Aires to Pittsburgh is 12 days by air.

Plasterers Sign New Wage Scale

The present wage scale in effect here for plasterers was signed last night by committees representing the workmen and the Builders' Exchange, settling the dispute which last week threatened a strike.

Members of Master Plasterers Association and the Plasterers' Local Union No. 31 had asked that due to unemployment the daily hours be cut from eight to six and the same wage of $13.30 be paid. Employers refused their demands.

Marlier Named Head Of Architect Group

Raymond M. Marlier has been elected chairman of the architects' council of the Chamber of Commerce and Harry Vishman and Frederick Giffin vice chairmen. Donald J. Howard was renamed secretary.

Plans for the 1931 exhibition of architectural work accomplished by Pittsburgh designers, which is to be carried on along more extensive lines than the first show sponsored by the Chamber in April, were discussed at the meeting following the election.

Flag Day Plans Completed by Elks

Plans have been completed for the annual Flag Day community celebration to be held in East Park, North Side, June 14, under the direction of Allegheny Lodge, B. P. O. Elks. Secretary of Labor James J. Davis is to be the principal speaker. Others scheduled to talk are District Attorney Andrew T. Park and the Rev. James R. Cox, pastor of St. Patrick's Catholic Church. Thomas Kelly, exalted ruler of the Elks lodge, is heading the committee in charge.

ZEP THROTTLES SPEED TO MISS STORM AHEAD

Dirigible Due in Spain Later Today; All Well Aboard Ship—Course Is Changed

EXCLUSIVE

By SIR HUBERT WILKINS.

(Radio via Berlin)

ABOARD THE GRAF ZEPPELIN, en route to Seville, June 5.—The Graf Zeppelin, held up by a storm over the South of Spain, had to shape its course direct for Lisbon at slow speed late last night so the storms could pass and allow a safe landing at Seville later today.

All is well aboard the Zeppelin and the passengers appreciate the constant care which Dr. Eckener exercises over their safety and well-being.

Radio weather reports from Spain showed Seville late last night as the center of a circle of heavy rain storms.

TAKE NORTHERN ROUTE

Dr. Eckener immediately radioed the home office at Friedrichshafen giving our position at 38.30 north latitude, 18.30 west longitude, or almost 1,100 miles by the Lisbon route to Seville. That was at about 8 p. m. last night Pittsburgh time or 11 p. m. local time.

In his message he stated that because of the unfavorable situation at Seville he would be forced into the more northerly and longer route which at an average gait of about 60 miles an hour, everything considered, would bring us to Seville about 1 p. m. Pittsburgh time today.

Chances for a record crossing went glimmering, but that made no difference to the 22 passengers, many of whom are enjoying their first Zeppelin tour to the fullest extent.

We passed over Horta, the principal town of the Azores on the Island of Fayal, at 11 o'clock local time (9 o'clock Pittsburgh time) after a record trip of 33 hours in elapsed time since leaving Long Island.

COLORFUL VIEW

We passed over the colorful little city quite low and went along the island of St. George and over Angra, giving the passengers a bird's eye view of the beautiful little cluster called the Azores.

At 1 p. m. local time we left the picturesque island of Terceira behind and headed for Cape Vincent. Seville was 1,000 miles away and the weather chart indicated that the northerly cross winds would aid us only slightly.

The whole group of islands with their variegated fields and white houses clustered together gave the place an air of prosperity and in all a charming picture.

Painter Injured As Scaffold Falls

Charles Wallace, 46, of 123 Luna street, was in Pittsburgh Hospital today with injuries suffered yesterday when a scaffold on which he and Daniel Garner, of 6312 Penn avenue, were working dropped 25 feet to the ground. They were painting a two-story frame dwelling at 133 Auburn street when the accident occurred.

Garner saved himself by seizing the edge of a window sill when the scaffold fell.

Zoo Candy Stand Destroyed by Fire

A confectionery stand in the rear of the Highland Park Zoo was destroyed by fire of undetermined origin today. The flames which consumed the stand, operated by Michael De Rosa, Twelfth Ward political leader, were visible to residents across the Allegheny River. The blaze was discovered by a motorist, who sounded an alarm from Stanton avenue and Heberton street. Firemen estimated the damage at $2,500.

1 Stabbed, 1 Jailed In Dice Game Row

A Negro, unidentified, was stabbed today in a fight following a dice game on the Water street wharf at Smithfield street. He was taken to Allegheny General Hospital in a serious condition. Preley Coleman, 39, Negro, 2909 Wylie avenue, was arrested.

Delay to Zeppelin Brings Pleasure to Bride

EXCLUSIVE

By LADY WILKINS.

(Radio via Berlin)

ABOARD THE GRAF ZEPPELIN, en route to Seville, June 5.—Even though we will not get to Seville as soon as at first expected, the extra traveling time affords added pleasures aboard this fine airship.

We do not now expect to land at the Spanish port until later today.

The days are too short for all enjoyments and the nights too short for all the sound and refreshing sleep one can get in this fine, clear atmosphere.

Shortly after breakfast yesterday large fleecy clouds appeared on the horizon before us and at 11 o'clock (9 a. m. Pittsburgh time), a brown mass of land loomed.

We soon were close upon the green-checkered fields of the Azores Islands.

Their brilliantly colored landscapes sprinkled the picturesque islands and the quaint old houses brought cameras to click on all sides for an hour, as we threaded our way above the beautiful scenery.

We caught a glimpse of the high peak on the Island of Pico, a conical mountain said to be visible on an average of fewer than eight days in a year.

After lunch we passed Terceira Island and sped onward to Spain, then more than 1,000 miles away, and with the prospect of having to do it all on the Graf's motors, since the weather maps showed practically no aid from winds along the route.

Since the opening of the Fifth Avenue Store we've sold lots of bacon. Sometimes as much as 15 tons—30,000 pounds—in a single day!

We've sold practically every brand of bacon packed in the United States and bacon from foreign countries, but never did we find a bacon that would entirely answer all specifications of the bacon we wanted for our customers.

So we got together with one of America's foremost packers—we unfolded our specifications and according to them he produced a bacon good enough to be branded FIFTH AVENUE, a bacon definitely superior in taste and flavor to all others.

Fifth Avenue Bacon is dry cured—an extremely mild cure—not pickled in salty brine as the average bacon. Fifth Avenue Bacon is smoked the old fashioned way, over hickory embers. Fifth Avenue Bacon has fragrance and flavor—a delicacy of taste you've never before experienced. Taste it before you buy. Two Demonstrations in the Fifth Avenue Store.

S. A. R. ELECTS; 'REDS' SCORED

ASBURY PARK, N. J., June 5.—(AP)—Josiah Van Orsdel, associate justice of the Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia, was elected president general of the National Society of Sons of the American Revolution at its closing session here.

Justice Van Orsdel, who, during the presidency of Theodore Roosevelt, was assistant attorney general, succeeds Howard C. Rowley, of San Francisco.

Dr. C. G. Hughs, of Pittsburgh, in a denunciation of Communism, declared recent forest fires in New Jersey were lighted by the "reds." Dr. Hughs said a farmer told him he had seen a car conspicuously bearing a little red flag speeding along woodland roads hurling fire brands into the underbrush. He declared:

"I have often seen these little red flags on cars myself, but never before knew what they meant."

Contributions totaling $3,000 were collected by the flag committee to be used in teaching school children to respect the stars and stripes.

The congress sent this telegram to President Hoover:

"The National Society of Sons of the American Revolution sends its sincere and cordial regards to our compatriot, Herbert Hoover, and pledges its adherents to your endeavors to uphold American ideals."

President Hoover replied:

"I am deeply appreciative of the cordial message of greetings of Sons of the American Revolution and ask you please to express my cordial thanks to the forty-first congress."

Hsst! a word to the wise outdoor girl

HANDS calloused from golf . . . lips chapped by the wind . . . necks and noses sunburned and freckled . . . here's how to repair this damage.

Lay in a stock of "Vaseline" Petroleum Jelly. At home on the dressing table. At the club in your locker. And apply it freely. For example: If the hands are calloused or rough and chapped, or too dry, or sunburned, or the cuticle is inclined to form hangnails, massage them with a generous amount of "Vaseline" Jelly before retiring and wear soft gloves to bed.

If lips are chapped, apply "Vaseline" Jelly every time you think of it. It is obtainable everywhere, in tubes and jars.

These are simple, easy things to do. Do try them. Your looks will benefit enormously.

PANTAGES OPEN THEATER WITH DAVIES FILM

Pretty Star Scores Big Hit In "The Florodora Girl" At Opening of New House

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS
Motion Picture Editor of Universal Service

LOS ANGELES, June 5.—A who's who in the film capital might easily have been compiled last night from the list of film celebrities who attended the opening of Marion Davies' latest cosmopolitan screen play, "The Florodora Girl." The opening of a new theater is always an event in Hollywood but the combined premiere of the beautiful New Pantages Theater and the presentation of "The Florodora Girl" was a gala occasion that will not soon be forgotten.

Aside from Marion Davies' popularity in the film colony advance word had been whispered around that Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer had struck a new note in "The Florodora Girl" and how this film colony does react to originality.

Benny Rubin and Walter Catlett, famous comedians, introduced the stars over the microphone and their bright and witty introductions sent everyone into the theater laughing. Eddie Cantor in his own inimitable way continued the merriment when he officiated as master of ceremonies inside the theater.

BRILLIANT FIRST NIGHT

The two Pantages boys, Rodney and Lloyd, deserve a world of credit for the planning of this fine new, modernistic theater and for the carrying out of a brilliant first night and a program of interest.

West Coast in association with Pantages had a formal dedication with Marion Davies officiating as guest of honor. Eddie Cantor introduced Miss Davies and presented her with a gold pass set with diamonds in remembrance of the occasion. Lloyd Pantages made the dedicatory speech and H. B. Franklin said a few well chosen words about the significance of this fine new theater.

Perhaps the greatest charm about "The Florodora Girl" is that it dares to be different. There are none of the old stereotyped scenes that have long been associated with our film making. "The Florodora Girl" is like a breath of fresh air. It is charming and quaint without being old-fashioned.

The love interest is as sparkling and full of romance as if it happened in 1930 instead of in the gay nineties. The comedy is as full of bright quips as if the slang had been spoken by a modern Ziegfeld chorus girl, instead of by a member of the famous "Florodora Sextette."

SLANG OF TIMES

Yet there is no slang that was not a part of the vocabulary of the chorus girl 30 years ago, when "Diamond Jim" Brady bought his wine and bock beer as a privileged beverage and "Tell Me Pretty Maiden" was the song of the hour. The expressions are all bona fide and were censored by one who was a part of the mauve decade when these beautiful girls carried off New York's choicest matrimonial catches. The gay era when a tandem for two, leg o mutton sleeves, pompadours and huge chrysanthemums were the vogue.

Marian Davies empresses even those who have long appreciated her artistry by her portrayal of Daisy, the chorus girl who invariably says the wrong thing. She is by turns pathetic, amusing and alluring, but always beautiful. The costumes of the gay nineties are particularly becoming to Miss Davies' slenderness. Her blonde hair worn in the fashion of the fluffy ruffle age, is so becoming we almost cast our vote in favor of it against the modern bob.

The cast of "The Floradora Girl" has undeniably fine talent, but even with the array of Hollywood and Broadway's best and bravest, Miss Davies' performance stands out. She again demonstrates she is indeed our very foremost comedienne of the screen.

BEAUMONT GIVES BEST

Some wise man once said a picture can only be as good as its director permits. In that case let me say Harry Beaumont gives his best to "The Floradora Girl." He demonstrates his craftsmanship in his deft handling of the comedy scenes, among them probably the funniest is the scene at the beach where the pretty maidens wear long bathing suits and modestly hope their gentlemen friends won't see their ankles.

The excellent story and dialogue furnished by Gene Markey are kept perfectly in the "gay nineties" spirit. Mr Markey has wisely balanced his comedy with a little pathos, just the type of story that fits Marion Davies so well and which she, better than any actress on the screen, knows how to handle. Ralph Spence, Al Boasberg and Herbert Hopkins wrote additional dialogue. The music, gay, catchy and tuneful, is by Herbert Stothart and the lyrics by Clifford Grey and Andy Rice. "The Florodora Girl," when all has been said and done, is the type of entertainment that the whole family can enjoy. Pa and Ma will love to reminiscence on the days when they did their courtin' on a tandem and the younger generation will adore the comedy and the contrasts in manners and modes.

12 CHILDREN HIT BY AUTO, HURT

CHICAGO, June 5.—(AP)—An automobile out of control ploughed into a group of 60 school children waiting for a street car yesterday, injuring 12. Bernard Robinson, 19, driver of the machine, was arrested.

Robinson said he took his eyes from the street to look at an address on a piece of paper. When he looked up his car was upon the children, who had lined up with their teacher. Several children, none of whom was more than 14, were tossed to the right and left and others were run down.

None of the injuries was believed fatal, but nearly all were serious.

Class Holds Benefit For Crippled Boy

Proceeds of a "Kid and Weight" party to be held tomorrow night at the home of Miss Irma Schaffnit, 467 Dawson avenue, Bellevue, under auspices of the "R. R. M." class, Bellevue Presbyterian Church, will go to a crippled boy in North Carolina for whose medical treatment the class is sponsor. Each person attending will be charged one cent admission for each pound in weight.

Fight on Forest Fire Led by 3 Airplanes

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., June 5.—(AP)—Preceded by three scouting planes to direct their movements, a small army of fire fighters was dispatched into the forests northwest of here today to subdue the flames which have ravaged the country for a week.

JOHN HARRIMAN SUED BY WIFE

NEW YORK, June 5.—(AP)—Filing of a suit for divorce by Mrs. Anna Foley Harriman against John Harriman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Harriman and a nephew of Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, became known today. Mrs. Harriman charges misconduct.

The disclosure came with the signing of an order by the Supreme Court Justice Valente directing the taking of testimony of Joseph Liggett, registration clerk at the Hotel Drake, Chicago, in behalf of Mrs. Harriman, concerning the registration Oct. 19 last of a "Mr. and Mrs. John Richards."

The Harrimans were married at the Park avenue home of his parents on Oct. 12, 1927, less than two months after his present wife and Louis De Laigle Munds, a broker, were divorced in Reno. Harriman in 1922 was married to Alice Laidley, a film actress, musician and dancer. Both were 19 and he was preparing to enter Princeton at the time. She died suddenly in Paris in 1926.

Army Man Promoted For Service to Byrd

WASHINGTON, June 5.—(AP)—An Army regulation providing for competitive examination for higher rank has been waived in the case of Technical Sergeant Benjamin Roth, who was today notified by Secretary Hurley of promotion to Master Sergeant for excellent work while a member of the Byrd Antarctic expedition. Admiral Byrd praised Roth's work.

MARION DAVIES HOSTESS AT PARTIES

Star of "The Florodora Girl" Entertains Celebrities at Dinner Followed by Dance

HOLLYWOOD, June 5.—(INS.)—Two parties of splendid proportions, beside a number of less formal ones, were given last night to celebrate the opening of Marion Davies' picture, "The Florodora Girl," at Pantages new Hollywood Theater.

The first was a dinner party given by Miss Davies herself at the Embassy Club.

The second, following the showing of the picture, was given in honor of Miss Davies by Miss Carmen Pantages and Lloyd Pantages at George Olsen's Night Club.

50 GUESTS ATTEND

Approximately 50 guests had been invited by Miss Davies for dinner at 7 o'clock at the Embassy. They arose from the table just in time to arrive at the theater.

Among them were: Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Goldwyn, Mr. and Mrs. Florenz Ziegfeld, Mr. and Mrs. Louis B. Mayer, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Thalberg, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Mulhall, Dr. Harry Martin, Louella O. Mr. and Mrs. Florenz Ziegfeld, Mr. and Mrs. Millard Webb, Leatrice Joy, Billy Joy, Marilyn Miller, Charles Lederer, Mr. and Mrs. Don Alvarado, Beatrice Lillie, Mr. and Mrs. Benny Rubin, Dr. Frank Barham, Jack Collier, Harris Woods, Dr. John Holmes, Miss Dixie Martin, Glenn Hunter, Mr. and Mrs. Slim Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Murray, Eddie Graham, Polly Moran, Billy Emerick, Phyllis Haver, Don Lee, Miss Forton, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Catlett, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Z. Leonard, Esther Howard and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lloyd.

Women Hit Men's Styles

HOLLYWOOD, June 5.—Sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander!

That is the tone of several of the letters received in the Marion Davies fashion contest at the New Pantages Theater here, where Miss Davies' latest picture, "The Florodora Girl," opened last night.

If the men are going to tell the women what to wear, the women are going to make a few suggestions for the men.

If the men want corsets worn, let them wear them!

MEN NEED CORSETS

I would like to see our men in some type of corset or restrainer, wrote Mrs. Vera Carruthers, 4128 Forty-seventh street, Woodside, L. I.

We really dress to please them, but it is only fair that they should improve their modes to satisfy us. Their tummies need corsets. They may laugh, but if they don't adopt them voluntarily we will be forced to dictate.

DEMAND MORE FREEDOM

If men will go back to the styles of the nineties, the women will do likewise, declared Rosalyn Barsh, 365 Washington street, Boston, Mass.

I just wonder if the men would go back to the days when they wore those skin-tight trousers, high gaiters, ruffled neckpieces and cuffs and bobbed hair, as in the days of the nineties! wrote Miss Barsh.

They certainly would not! They are demanding more freedom by creating the wearing of shorts for street and evening wear.

Other letters follow:

MAN ADVISES KNICKERS

There is neither sense nor art in the so-called style of women's clothes. There never has been, and there probably never will be. She is a creature governed wholly by perversity. The whole energy of her being and imitation intellect is bent on attracting the male.

In the nineties she did this by various deformities and absurdities such as the wasp waist, the viper's tongue (after marriage), boring her ears, hoop skirts, standing on stilts (high heels) and daubing her face with war paint. At the present time she has discarded all sense of decency, much less modesty, and by exposure of her person seeks the same object with added abandon.

If woman had any sense of art or style or comfort or convenience in dress, she would adopt the knicker, give up her sex appeal, look chic, charming, sensible and lovable.

S. J. WOODRUFF,
3846 Hamilton street, Omaha, Neb.

KEPT MEN GUESSING

At least the old-fashioned styles left something to the imagination which is considerable in their favor.

H. J. CUNNINGHAM,
Oskaloosa, Ia.

WANTS LONGER SKIRTS

Let's have skirts about five inches below the knee when sitting down. It will save the skirt from being pulled to pieces and a man won't have to blush while talking to a lady.

ALFRED M. HANSEN,
R. R. 1, Box 47, New Auburn, Wis.

WANTS BOYISH STYLES

Put a woman in stays, flowing skirts, long kid gloves; pile wads of hair on her head, top it with a heavy, plumed hat and what is she? Clothes conscious! Stiff, artificial. Give her simple, boyish styles, expressing youth and comfort, and she forgets her appearance. With the result that her personality comes to the fore.

MRS. PENDLETON STEWART MORRIS,
1241 Hope street S. E., Grand Rapids, Mich.

HEALTH VS. ROMANCE

Is not health more to be desired than mystic romance? What woman would prefer the seclusion of the past to the freedom of the present?

If we should give up our modern progress, then and then only, would the American woman wish for a return to the time-consuming styles of the nineties.

HELEN M. DAVIDSON,
6814 Thomas boulevard,
Pittsburgh, Pa.

STYLES ALWAYS CHANGE

The style of the 90's will not return and the style of 1930 will not remain. Feminine styles, like every other event in history, will repeat themselves periodically in modernized forms.

E. E. SULLIVAN,
95 Broad street,
Providence, R. I.

Can You Write On Style?

Do you remember the famous Florodora Sextette?

Are you familiar with the styles of the gay nineties?

Do you prefer those styles to the fashions for women today?

Do you think those styles are coming back?

Put your ideas in a letter and send it to Miss Marion Davies, the New Pantages Theater, Hollywood.

$1,000 in prizes will be awarded for the best letters.

$500 will be paid for the best letter from a woman.

$500 will be paid for the best letter from a man.

ITALY TO START NAVAL SHIPS

ROME, June 5.—(AP)—Admiral Sirianni, minister of the navy told the Senate the keels for the units of Italy's 1930 naval program will be laid this year. The program has been announced as one 10,000-ton cruiser, two 5,000-ton scout cruisers, four 1,240-ton destroyers and 22 submarines.

He said that by the beginning of 1932 Italy would have four 10,000-ton cruisers, four 5,000-ton cruisers, 12 light cruisers, 24 torpedo boat destroyers and about 32 submarines. In addition he said two more 10,000-ton cruisers and two 5,000-tonners would be near completion.

Degrees Awarded By Geneva College

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., June 5.—Former Judge George A. Baldwin, Rochester, was awarded the honorary degree of doctor of laws at the eighty-second annual commencement of Geneva College. Judge Baldwin was a member of the class of 1897.

The Rev. Dr. John C. Broomfield, Pittsburgh, head of the Methodist Protestant Church in North America, and the Rev. Samuel Edgar, Santa Anna, Cal., both former Geneva students, were given doctor of divinity degrees.

Foley Co. to Build Oil Creek Bridge

OIL CITY, Pa., June 5.—Contract for the construction of the new bridge over Oil Creek at McClintockville has been awarded to T. J. Foley Company, Pittsburgh, and construction will be under way in two weeks. The bid of the Foley company was $104,126.

The new bridge will be erected just north of the present one, and will have a 30-foot roadway.

It Seems We Can't Get Enough of These

Chiffon Frocks

With Velvet Jackets

$25

Now we bring forth a second-repeat order of these costumes, for after we have been "sold out" twice, women are still clamoring for them. And that isn't to be wondered at, when twenty-five dollars will buy a sleeveless chiffon frock, and a velvet jacket of the type that can be worn over afternoon frocks and with both formal and informal frocks after 6 o'clock.

The bold patterns of the frocks are in a varying range of lovely colors. And the transparent velvet jackets are in black, or in colors to match the frocks. Sizes 34 to 44.

Rogue Cap

A New Scarf Turban

A new and decidedly youthful fashion . . . this colorful Rogue Cap, made of a printed crepe de chine scarf that is fitted, and buttons close to your head. For golfing, motoring, playing tennis—it becomes a smartly convenient part of your sports ensemble. The color combinations include tan, pink, blue, red, orange, green, orchid, navy, and white. $1.95.

. . . Horne's, Neckwear Section, Main Floor . . .

Cedarized Chests

Ticking Covered

$1.00

An inexpensive and practical way of storing clothing in the summer to protect it from moths and dampness . . . in these collapsible, cedarized, paper-board boxes. The heavy ticking covers are taped and finished with snap fasteners.

The boxes are 31x18x15 inches—a convenient size for packing blankets, children's sweaters and coats, and smaller articles that are easily misplaced in a trunk. Two or three of them will mean much in homes where storage space is limited.

. . . Horne's, Notion Section, Main Floor . . .

A FASHION-THRIFT SPECIAL

Misses' Embroidered Dresses

—In Garden Flowers, Daisies and Dots

$12.75

If you seek change, take your flowers and dots in embroidery instead of in prints.

. . . Garden flowers in three colors, daisies in white with yellow centers, and dots in white on light or dark grounds and in brown on neutral shades . . . The ground colors of the silks are black, navy blue, independence blue, cornflower blue, bud green, water nymph green and beige.

There are eight youthful, short-sleeve models in the frocks, many with dainty collars and cuffs of net or organdie. In sizes 14 to 20.

"TALK OF THE TOWN"

PRINTED SILKS

For Pajamas
Beach Coats
Pillows

$1.00 Yard

For Drapes
Spreads
Scarfs

Fine flat crepes printed with those multicolored blurred designs that were well known at their regular higher prices . . . There are three or more colors blended in each design . . . with blue, orange, capucine, rose, lavender, brown, gray, green, purple, or beige as the dominating tone.

Fascinating beach pajamas and robes, kimonos, scarfs and decorative hangings can be made from these silks . . . and at this sensational price their cost will be negligible. There are more than twenty-five colorings for selection . . . and one as attractive as the other.

A new color scheme for your sunroom or porch hangings . . . for your pillows or chair covers is inexpensively possible with these silks.

Student Suits

A Graduation Special

With Choice of

Two Pair of Trousers or Pair Trousers and Pair Flannels

$25

Young men graduating this June may have a Horne suit for the all-important occasion, and, if desired, a semi-sports outfit for later wear—at a very special price.

These suits may be had with two pairs of matching trousers, or with one pair of trousers and a pair of white sports flannels. They are distinctly young fellows' models—single and double-breasted blue cheviots, light-color tweeds and smart herringbones. The tailoring is specified to meet the approval of young men at their most exacting age.

Graduates and their parents are urged to see these suits—the values are quite unusual.

. . . Horne's, Men's Store, Third Floor . . .

Monogrammed Handkerchiefs

For Men, Women and Boys

Six for $1.45

An excellent time to stock up on these personal handkerchiefs . . . for graduation gifts, for camp needs, for your own general supply. The full name or initial, in any of twelve styles, may be machine-embroidered in white or color. Three weeks are required for delivery.

For Men . . . all white linens, or white with colored thread-drawn borders.

For Women . . . all white linens with 1/16 or ½-inch hems, or white tape borders with colored hand-rolled hems.

For Boys . . . white linens with colored thread-drawn borders.

. . . Horne's, Handkerchief Section, Main Floor . . .

Control Your Weight

Miss Leona Allen, Instructor of Physical Culture, will be in our Corset Shop tomorrow from 11 A. M. until 1 P. M. and from 3 P. M. until 5. She will give advice on Exercising, Body Building, Body Reducing and Correct Breathing. She will also demonstrate the new Royal Weight Controller, an exercise machine. Bring your problems to her for individual attention.

FILE PROTESTS TO ANNEXATION

Exceptions to the annexation of the Fourth and Eighth districts of Baldwin Township to the City of Pittsburgh were filed today in Quarter Sessions Court and certified to Mayor Charles H Kline for action.

The exceptions were based on the ground that the ballots cast in the annexation vote should have been cast at voting places within the districts affected and instead were cast at the regular polling places in the township, both of which were outside the sections voting on annexation.

Those who filed the exceptions were Joseph H Holland, Adam Yecke, A H White, William Hartman and S A Hahn.

MUNHALL FIRE LOSS $20,000

Four fire companies from Homestead and Munhall early last night battled a fire which caused $20,000 damage to the Jackson Furniture Company at 504 East Eighth avenue, Munhall. The fire was discovered by Patrolman A W Batger who turned in an alarm. A boy in the rear of the building telephoned an alarm to Homestead firemen.

The fire was confined to the storeroom in the basement. Firemen were forced to use gas masks to fight their way through the smoke.

Lewis M Jackson, owner, and John Duley and Lewis Averbach, employes, were on the third floor of the building when the fire broke out. They escaped down a smoke-filled stairway.

SPROUL GIVEN TENT PERMIT

The Rev John W Sproul, who earlier in the week was refused a permit to erect a Glory Barn in Munhall, was prepared to open a series of services in Homestead tonight. Burgess John Cavanaugh granted a permit to the evangelist yesterday.

Sproul's tent was erected last night in a section of the playgrounds owned by the Homestead School Board in Seventeenth avenue and Mifflin street. The school directors concurred in the permit being granted when it was agreed the Glory Barn tent should be available to children in event of rain during play hours.

The evangelist will broadcast over his radio station WMBJ from the tent, it was said today.

University Inquiry Follows Shooting

CAMBRIDGE, Eng., June 5—(AP)—Cambridge University authorities have started searching inquiries into the habits of undergraduates as an outgrowth of revelations of escapades in which Douglas Newton Potts, an undergraduate, is reported to have been engaged long before the shooting tragedy here early this week. Potts committed suicide after shooting and killing a tutor, Dr A F R Wollaston, noted explorer, and Detective Sergeant Willis of the Cambridge police.

English Missionary Slain by Chinese

SHANGHAI, June 5—(AP)—The murder of an English missionary, Dr Clifford Stubbs, of the Society of Friends, was reported today from Chenetuful, Szechwan. He was riding in a rickshaw when he was stabbed in the back.

Stubbs was a native of Newcastle-on-Tyne and had been in China since 1913. His assailant was described by the police as a Communist from Chungking.

Talk Less for Good Golf, John D. Says

LAKEWOOD, N J, June 5—(AP)—How to improve your golf, by John D Rockefeller: Talk less; be deliberate. He gave the advice to some young fellows only half a century or so old after he had come in on the winning side of a foursome.

Aviator, Bound To Tower, Dives And Escapes

DELANO, Cal, June 5—(AP)—Aviator C C Curry has a new version of the good old children's game of "merry-go-round."

Flying away yesterday from a vineyard near here which he had dusted with sulphur, Curry struck a high power line. One frayed end of the line tangled in his landing gear. The other end remained fastened to a tower.

When he had flown about 1,000 feet Curry felt his plane jerked rudely and in a moment he was flying in rapidly narrowing circles about the tower.

Curry dived his plane to the ground, escaping unscratched. The plane was damaged slightly.

FIGHT LOOMS ON PHILIPPINES

By COLE E MORGAN

WASHINGTON, June 5—(Universal)—A bitter fight loomed today over the bill reported out by the Senate Committee on Territories and Insular Affairs for Philippine independence, with the announcement that minority members of the committee will vigorously oppose the measure when it comes up for action on the floor of the Senate.

This announcement came simultaneously with the launching of a campaign to win public support to the proposed measure when Senator Hawes, Dem., of Missouri, extolled it in a radio address last night.

Hawes is chairman of the committee that favorably reported the bill and will lead the fight for its adoption in the Senate.

The opposition is led by Senator Bingham, Rep., of Connecticut, a member of the committee.

School Bills Padded $200,000, Ford Avers

DEARBORN, Mich, June 5—(AP)—The Ford Motor Company, which pays 70 per cent of the taxes in the Fordson school district, published today a report of auditors employed by the company which charges that the district school board padded its 1929-1930 budget $200,000.

The Ford auditors criticized among other things the alleged purchase for the high school of waste baskets at $26 each.

Fliers Set to Leave Dublin for New York

DUBLIN, June 5—(INS)—Capt Charles Kingsford-Smith, who conquered the Pacific in a hop to Australia, is ready to start on a non-stop flight from here to New York as soon as weather conditions are auspicious.

John Saul, Free State army aviator, has been chosen as navigator of the big tri-motored Fokker Southern Cross, which will be used and which made the flight to Australia from California.

Temporary Orders Against Three Clubs

Judge F P Schoonmaker in Federal Court today granted temporary injunctions against three clubs on charges of violating the prohibition law. The clubs and defendants named were at 6324 Everett street, Leo Bosio, proprietor; 366 Boquet street, J J Hocking, proprietor; rear of 812 East Ohio street, Frank Rimondi, proprietor.

Liberties Union Here To Dine N. Y. Head

Roger Baldwin, of New York, chairman of the American Civil Liberties Union, will be given a dinner tonight by the Pittsburgh branch of the union in the Downtown Y M C A. The Rev Ralph B Urmy, one of the local directors, will be chairman. Baldwin will be the only speaker.

Woman Accused by Father to Give Up

SAN FRANCISCO, June 5—(AP)—Police announced today that they expected Marion Birney, 29-year-old horticulturist, accused by her father, Dr Bascom H. Birney, of embezzling $63,000 he entrusted to her, to surrender by Monday.

DENVER GREETS CLUBWOMEN

DENVER, June 5—(INS)—A hearty welcome was accorded thousands of delegates arriving today for the twentieth biennial convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, which formally opens here tonight and will continue through June 14.

Kit Carson III, a grandson of the famous scout, greeted the visitors. The youth was garbed in the original buckskin dress of his grandfather.

Prohibition and peace continued to be the paramount topics of discussion among delegates.

Mrs John F Sippel, of Baltimore, Md., president of the federation, declared:

"And the women of the world are also going to play a significant part in securing peace."

The federation is unqualifiedly in favor of the League Court and will indorse the London naval treaty, Mrs Sippel said.

Heat Wave Fells 2 In Baltimore, 1 Dies

BALTIMORE, June 5—(INS)—The season's first fatality from the heat here was recorded today with the death of Samuel Braick, 41, a painter. He was stricken yesterday while painting in a shipyard. The temperature of 98 degrees also caused another prostration, that of Thomas Phillips, 16, but he responded to treatment.

Italy Jails Pair in Mailing of Bomb

TURIN, Italy, June 5—(AP)—With the arrest of Carlo Quesada and his wife the Turin police today expressed relief they had solved the mystery of 30 explosive packages sent through the mails in recent months causing the injury of many persons as well as several fires.

Woman, 70, Dies After Hike of 8,500 Miles

WILMINGTON, Del., June 5—(AP)—Mrs Isabella Tyler, 70, of Ranger, Tex., who with her 96-year-old husband hiked 8,500 miles through the United States and Canada since February, 1929, died of heart disease in a hospital here.

Mrs Tyler and her husband, Texas Tyler, arrived here last week from Philadelphia to be guests of the Rev. and Mrs. J H Foraker. They said they had walked most of the 8,500 miles in a trip from Ranger through California to Canada, thence East to the Atlantic Coast and Philadelphia and Wilmington.

Vesuvius Flow Needs Check, Savant Says

NAPLES, Italy, June 5—(AP)—Warning that the present eruption of Vesuvius may be serious and that immediate construction of earthworks is necessary to avert possible disaster was made today by Prof Malladra, head of the Vesuvius Observatory.

He said the former earthworks were destroyed in a previous eruption just a year ago, leaving a free path for the flow of lava which may come at any hour.

The mountain is increasing its eruptive activity and innumerable burning stones and rocks already have collected in the crater, he said. He suggested earthworks in the valley of the inferno and Atrio del Cavallo.

THREE MANIACS STILL AT LARGE

IONIA, Mich., June 5—(INS)—With three of the 13 lunatics who fled the state hospital for the criminally insane still at large, authorities today refused to slacken their search for the fugitives.

Two of the missing felons are classified as exceedingly dangerous.

Five men were recaptured yesterday. Three were taken in a field of rye where they were sighted by a farmer.

Among the recaptured inmates is Joseph Dabajak, leader of the escape plot.

Farmers in Ionia County continued to keep a lookout for the fugitives today. Deputy Sheriff Edward Good narrowly escaped being the victim of one alert farmer's wife who fired on him when she mistook his party for a group of the escaped inmates.

THAW REFUSED NEW TRIAL

NEW YORK, June 5—(AP)—Supreme Court Justice Levy denied to Harry K. Thaw a new trial of the suit of Marcia Estardus, former actress, in which she won a $25,000 verdict last year.

Counsel for Thaw moved for a new trial on the ground the verdict was against the weight of evidence. Miss Estardus charged Thaw attacked her with a hair brush in his apartment New Year's Day, 1929.

UNKOVICH NEW CONSUL HERE

Kosto Unkovich, 115 Cedar avenue, for many years prominent in Slavian organizations, has been appointed Jugo-Slavian consul in Pittsburgh by President Hoover.

Kosto Unkovich

The appointment came after several of Mr Unkovich's friends learned that there was a movement to establish a Jugo-Slavian consular office in Pittsburgh and requested that he be given the honor.

Mr Unkovich came to the United States in 1902, and, after several years' experience as editor of Croatian papers in New York City, came to Pittsburgh in 1908. He is a graduate of Duquesne University school of law, class of 1915, and a director of the American State Bank.

The new consul's offices are located in the American State Bank Building.

Students Stage Musical Concert

A large crowd attended the concert given by the Pittsburgh All City High School Orchestra and the Pennsylvania Forensic League in Carnegie Music Hall last night. The concert was given under the auspices of the Board of Education, with Dr Will Earhart, director of music, and Lee M Lockhart, special supervisor of instrumental music in the schools, in charge. In addition to the instrumental numbers, a mixed chorus of student singers offered selections.

REACH TRUSTEE ARRANGEMENT FOR FAIRFAX

Receivership Action Dropped After 4 Hours Argument; Will Prepare Decree

Litigants in the receivership proceedings for the Law and Finance Building Company, Fourth avenue, and the Fairfax Apartments, Fifth avenue, in Federal Court yesterday, agreed to appointment of a trustee for the bondholders instead of continuing bankruptcy action for the present.

The decision was announced to Judge F. P. Schoonmaker after opposing counsel agreed on such a procedure after more than four hours of argument on the case.

Certain bondholders in asking receiverships several weeks ago charged bonds were issued to a higher value than the worth of the two buildings.

Prior to yesterday's hearing receivership proceedings had been held in abeyance after a compromise agreement had been reached by which the Pennsylvania Trust Company, of Pittsburgh, was designated temporary depository in place of the F. H. Smith Company, which heretofore held that position.

At that time the appointment of the trust company was satisfactory to all, but shortly afterwards bond holders again complained.

A decree for the appointment of a new trustee will be prepared shortly, it was said.

Bondholders who had previously asked for the removal of the Smith Company include Esther S. Kelly, John L. Snyder, Margaret L. Orr and M. Engstrom.

Sneak Thief Steals Actor's Trousers

A pair of brown trousers containing $10 were stolen from the dressing room of Dave Apollon, entertainer appearing at the Penn Theater this week, according to a report made to city detectives.

Two apartments in a duplex at 2622 Tilbury street, Squirrel Hill, were ransacked by a sneak thief during the night, a police report stated. In the apartment of Dave Bachmer, next door, ties and two gold fountain pens valued at $20 were stolen. Nothing was obtained in the apartment of Harry Lippman.

Tennessee Senator Seeks Short Term

NASHVILLE, Tenn., June 5.—(AP)—A Washington dispatch to the Tennessean said Senator William E. Brock, of Chattanooga, had announced his candidacy for the short Senate term from November 4 to March 4, but would not be a candidate for the six-year term beginning March 4.

In his statement, Senator Brock said that while his friends had urged him to become a candidate for the long term "for personal reasons, after due and earnest consideration, I feel that I should be a candidate only for the short term."

Postmasters Urged For Reappointment

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., June 5.—Congressman S. A. Kendall, Meyersdale, has recommended to the postmaster general the reappointment of Harry N. Beazel, Belle-vernon, and Alex L. Carlier, Point Marion, as postmasters and the appointment of I. N. Welch, now acting postmaster on Mount Sterling.

Lowden to Resign As Association Head

DENVER, June 5.—(AP.)—After serving for nine years as president of the Holstein-Friesian Breeders' Association, Frank O. Lowden, former governor of Illinois, will not accept the nomination again, he told delegates to the forty-fifth annual convention.

L. M. Thompson, of Montrose, Pa., is regarded as a likely successor, but others may be nominated.

Mahoning Jurist To Hear Steel Suit

YOUNGSTOWN, O., June 5.—It has been decided that a Mahoning County judge will try the suit of C. S. Eaton, Cleveland, to prevent merger of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company with the Bethlehem Steel Corporation. Judge David G. Jenkins will likely sit in the case.

Free yourself from the worry of pressing bills. See the "Money to Loan" Ads in the Classified Section.

Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick Over Radio, Tells Nations To Fight Own Battles

International News Service

WASHINGTON, June 5.—Solemn warning that this nation will "not permit itself to become involved in the political quarrels of other nations" has been given to an international audience by Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick.

In a radio address last night over a National Broadcasting Company chain and rebroadcast by the British Broadcasting Company Mrs. McCormick rededicated herself to the anti-League of Nations and anti-League Court policy which recently won her a senatorial nomination in Illinois.

Emphasizing that the court is part of the League, Mrs. McCormick made it plain that all of Europe recognizes that relationship and that it is denied only by proponents of the Court in this country. She said:

RELATIONSHIP EXISTS

"Denial of direct relationship between the League and the Court may surprise our European friends, but the denial is made on this side of the Atlantic every time the issue of our adhering to the Court arises."

Pointing out that the United States has "definitely and repeatedly declined proposals to join the League, Mrs. McCormick added:

"Our men and women feel that we can best serve ourselves and the rest of the world without becoming a part of that alliance. At the same time it is cheerfully conceded that other nations have every right to make their decision to join the League, and the League's Court, just as we insist upon our right to remain out of them."

Declaring that America's millions of women have a personal interest in the peaceful and just settlements of our disputes with other nations, Mrs. McCormick continued:

U. S. KEEPS CONTRACT

"It has been the policy of our government since its foundation to keep our contracts with other nations; to maintain peace with other nations, where it can be done with honor; and as a means of preserving peace we have followed the tradition of not permitting ourselves to become involved in the political quarrels of other countries.

"This is a good rule to follow in the neighborhood in which we establish our individaul homes, and it is equally sound with relation to minding our own business in international affairs."

This nation has many serious domestic problems that demand its attention without going to Europe for work to do, Mrs. McCormick emphasized, saying:

"A majority of American women have felt, I believe, that political and economic problems of the United States should have attention before we undertake to assist in stabilizing economic, political and military conditions in countries overseas.

SERIOUS SITUATION

"We now have in America a serious unemployment situation. We have an agricultural crisis affecting 30,000,000 farm people. We have been trying for 15 months to pass a tariff bill of vital consequence to American farming, manufacturing and labor.

"We have a delicate immigration problem to handle, just as the British dominions have. No controversy since the Civil War has so agitated the country as the present debate over prohibition.

"Our courts are congested, our prisons are overcrowded. A question of law enforcement affecting the Constitution of our country is at issue.

"All women in America hold world peace 'as a sacred consideration' only 'disagreeing as to methods and policies,'" she concluded.

Bradford District Reduces Oil Price

OIL CITY, Pa., June 5.—Effective at once, Bradford district and New York Transit crude oil in lines of the Bradford Oil Company will sell for $2.40 a barrel, a reduction of 10 cents from the price previously posted.

Bradford interests are setting the price for crude in that territory since announcement by the Joseph Seep Purchasing Agency that it would no longer quote prices for the Bradford product.

Permit Racket Quiz Reveals Big Fund

NEW YORK, June 5.—(AP.)—Investigation of the activities of Dr. William F. Doyle, former veterinarian, before the City Board of Standards and Appeals on behalf of applicants for garage and filling station permits, has disclosed deposits in one bank since 1924 of $1,268,000, United States Attorney Tuttle said today. Mr. Tuttle intimated the belief that the cash payments were shared by public officials.

Edge on New Visit To French Factories

PARIS, June 5.—(AP.)—Ambassador Edge today began his third voyage through industrial France to study its life and commercial habits. He went from here to Lille. Saturday he will look over the lace factories of Calais, where on March 28 thousands of lace workers marched in demonstration against the United State Senate's proposed increased customs which factory owners said would kill their industry.

AUTO HITS WALL, DRIVER UNHURT

Crashing through the basement wall of the frame bungalow of Albert Gray in the Beaver Grade road, Coraopolis Heights, Ward Laudermilk, 25, of Aliquippa, driver of the automobile, police said, escaped injury while his companion, John Shotsinger, 24, of Aliquippa, was thrown through the windshield, suffering a laceration of the left eye and bruises of the head and face.

Gray told Motorcycle Patrolman Thomas Drexler, of Coraopolis Heights police, who arrested him, that he was blinded by the lights of an automobile approaching in the opposite direction when he lost control of his car.

Although the Gray residence is situated 90 feet from the roadside, the automobile struck it with such force that the radiator was buried inside the house, Drexler said.

Laudermilk was lodged in the Coraopolis Police Station, but Shotsinger was released after being taken to a physician's office by Drexler.

The bungalow was damaged $200, Drexler said. None of the occupants of the house were injured, police were told.

Send Dirigible R-100 Back to Its Builders

LONDON, June 5.—(INS.)—It was learned here today that the British Air Ministry had returned the dirigible R-100 to its builders, the Airship Guarantee Company, after collapse of 30 feet of its tail assembly during the 24-hour test flight May 22.

Although an official insisted the flight to Montreal would be made as scheduled early in July, other sources had it that the date was likely to be as tentative as that set last year.

Mother, 2 Children Burned in Explosion

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa., June 5.—Mrs. George Baldwin and her two children—Wilma, aged 6, and Jane, aged 4—today were suffering from burns received yesterday when gasoline with which Mrs. Baldwin was cleaning a dress ignited.

52 ADMIT RUM GUILT, FINED

NEW YORK, June 5.—(AP.)—Fifty-two of 110 individuals and firms indicted last fall in a round-up of an alleged "whisky shavings" liquor ring pleaded guilty in Federal Court to conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws.

Fines totalling $15,800 and ranging from $100 to $1,000 were imposed. Indictments against the other defendants were dismissed.

Edwin Glickstein and Jacob Terner, officials of the Glickstein-Terner Bottle Company, Brooklyn, were among the principal defendants. They pleaded guilty and were fined $1,000 each.

Federal investigators charged the ring made liquor from alcohol and shavings scraped from empty whisky barrels, and used counterfeit bottles, corks, labels and stamps. The conspiracy, the government said, spread from coast to coast and as far south as Texas.

The cases of the Baccus Bottle Company, Inc., and certain of its officials, who are under similar charges in Chicago, were set for trial December 31.

Glass Firm Starts Work of Rebuilding

CLARION, Pa., June 5.—Work to restore the two buildings of the Marienville Glass Company, which were destroyed by fire Sunday, has been started. Although the main part of the plant was unharmed, the blowing room and the raw material room were both destroyed. Damage is estimated by R. R. Underwood, of Knox, president of the company, to be about $150,000.

Philadelphia Scion Of Wealth Drowned

PHILADELPHIA, June 5.—(AP.)—Aided by scores of volunteers, police are dragging the Delaware River at Marcus Hook for the body of Jarvis Meirs, 28, member of a prominent Philadelphia family, and an instructor at Episcopal Academy, who was drowned while taking his first swim of the season.

Jarvis was a great-nephew of Mrs. Anna Walker Weightman Penfield, Philadelphia's wealthiest woman.

$25,000 Damages Asked for Injury

For an injured right leg, said to be the result of a trailer of the Milk Cartage Corporation, running on the sidewalk and knocking Anthony Delando down, at Locust and Magee street, Vincent Delando, the boys' father, has sued the Cartage company for $25,000 damages. The accident occurred May 17, when the lad also was injured about the head and other parts of the body through negligence, it is averred, of the defendant concern. Delando, who is represented by Attorney John Wirtzman, lives at 1327 Vicroy street.

Hoover Gets Medal For 'Humane Service'

WASHINGTON, June 5.—(AP.)—The Louis Livingstone Seaman gold medal was presented to President Hoover in recognition of his "outstanding contributions in the many fields of human service."

Award of the medal on behalf of the American Museum of Safety to the Chief Executive was decided upon before his nomination for the presidency, but the formal presentation was delayed.

WATER FAMINE DANGER PASSES

Danger of a water famine in the Squirrel Hill district was eliminated today when city officials announced that a disabled pump at the Herron Hill pumping station had been repaired.

During the two weeks in which repair work was under way the water supply in the Herron Hill reservoir had fallen from 6,000,000 gallons to 3,000,000 gallons and the pressure became so low that scores of families living in second-floor apartments in the Squirrel Hill district were unable to get water.

Many other families in the Squirrel Hill district were able to draw water only in small amounts. The reservoir supply fell from a normal stage of 22 feet to 10.8 feet.

HOOVER LAUDED IN HYDE TALK

INDIANAPOLIS, June 5.—(INS.)—Asserting that America today is fortunate to have the leadership of Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde today extolled the record of the Hoover administration before the Indiana Republican state convention. He said:

"No greater triumph has ever been scored in peace time than the victory which Herbert Hoover has won against panic. Our country will never know all of the conditions against which he battled nor all of the evils which threatened us when the stock market, long overinflated, collapsed."

ACTION SLATED ON ANNEXATION

Council plans to take action within 10 days on the proposed annexation of a large portion of the third district, Baldwin Township.

A group of annexationists headed by John J. McGrath urged support for the project. W. E. Armstrong, appearing for the township, agreed to the proposal generally but asked that the municipality be permitted to retain frontage on Library road.

The petitioners maintained that the township never gave them any improvements which explained their desire to enter the city. McGrath charged that Armstrong wanted the frontage so that the township would get the benefit of the taxes, a statement denied by Armstrong.

Two Negroes Fined For Part in Lottery

James Pendergast, 35, Negro, of 518 Albion street, was fined $28 by Magistrate Charles Papale in East End Police Station today when he admitted selling clearing house tickets. Albert Gupton, 25, Negro, of 3 Wanless street, who admitted he was a "pick-up" man for a clearing house lottery, was fined $50. Both were arrested yesterday at Penn avenue and Carnegie place.

Packs Loaded Gun, Cab Driver Fined

Arrested yesterday accused of carrying a loaded gun, Bernard Murray, 20, of 460 West Seventh avenue, West Homestead, driver for the Yellow Cab Company, was fined $25 by Magistrate Charles Papale in East End Police Station today. Murray, a non-union driver, said he carried the gun for protection.

Desert Gorgeous Scene, Abloom After Rains

BEATTY, Nev., June 5.—(AP)—May showers have brought June flowers to the Armagosa desert and sandy wastes of Death Valley and travelers are viewing the most gorgeous spectacle of desert flora in 50 years.

The rains interspersed with hot days brought life to myriads of seeds that apparently had lain dormant for years. Almost overnight the desert burst into bloom. From a distance the landscape is a great splash of color ranging from yellows and orange to deep purples in countless varieties of blossoms.

ASK MEMORIAL TO WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, June 5.—(AP)—A Washington memorial bridge across the Delaware where Washington crossed above Trenton on Christmas eve 1776 will be proposed in a joint resolution to be introduced by Representatives Eaton of New Jersey and Watson of Pennsylvania.

The bridge would be completed in 1932 in time for the bicentennial celebration of Washington's birthday.

The resolution will provide for a commission of three appointed by the President, the House and Senate to consider plans. Representative Eaton estimated the bridge would cost about $1,500,000.

Bach, Announcer, Wins Diction Medal

NEW YORK, June 5.—(AP)—Alwyn E. W. Bach, staff radio announcer of the National Broadcasting Company, won the medal offered by the American Academy of Arts and Letters for excellence in radio diction.

He began as a radio announcer in 1922 in Springfield, Mass., and four years later was transferred to Boston. He has been on the National Broadcasting staff more than two years.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., June 5.—Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, Republican nominee for the U. S. Senate in Pennsylvania, will conduct the installation of the Ebensburg Loyal Order of Moose Lodge next Monday evening.

WATER POISONS 7 IN FAMILY

AKRON, O., June 5.—(AP)—A man, his wife and their five children are in a critical condition in Citizens Hospital, Barberton, near here, suffering from poison believed to have been swallowed when the family stopped for a drink at a watering trough.

Those in the hospital are Earl Booth, his wife, Jennie, and the children, Irene, 11; Ronso, 9; Roma, 8; Elizabeth, 6, and Doraline, 4.

They gave their residence as Cuyahoga Falls.

South of Akron they stopped at a trough by the roadside for a drink. Shortly after all were suddenly attacked by violent pains. One member of the family stopped a passing motorist who summoned an ambulance.

When the ambulance arrived Mrs. Booth and three of the children were unconscious.

Concert, Fete End Toscanini's Tour

LONDON, June 5.—(AP)—A triumphal concert in Queen's Hall last night and a reception at the Carlton Hotel ended the European tour of Arturo Toscanini and his New York Philharmonic Orchestra.

At the reception Toscanini was presented a bronze plaque by the concert master on behalf of the members of the orchestra. Toscanini now will visit Paris, Italy and St. Moritz and later will conduct at Bayreuth.

CLERK BLOCKS RACE SWINDLE

NEW YORK, June 5.—(AP.)—A broker's clerk saved a wealthy Wisconsin contractor from what police say was a "city slicker's" plan to swindle him out of $25,000.

As police told the story, Albert Abendroth, who also is a banker in his home town, Rhinelander, Wis., came to New York on business and met a "wealthy retired hay and grain dealer from Kansas" and a friend of the latter.

They impressed him with their knowledge of horse-racing, and he agreed that the three would wager $50,000 on the chance of winning $150,000. No cash was put up, because the "grain dealer" said he knew the bookmaker.

They won, but when Abendroth asked for the money he was told the bookmaker would not pay unless they showed they had $50,000 to pay if they had lost. Agreeing to turn over $25,000 to be exhibited to the bookmaker, Abendroth went to a broker's office to sell some stock.

The broker's clerk to whom he told his story communicated with the police, who arrested the "grain merchant" when he appeared to get the $25,000. He said he was John Murray, 53.

WARNER STOCK APPROVED

NEW YORK, June 5.—(AP.)—The listing of 90,077 shares of common stock of Warner Brothers Pictures, Inc., to be issued in connection with acquisition of 53 theaters in the East and Middle West, was approved by the New York Stock Exchange.

The properties include five theaters of the Columbia Theaters group in Western Pennsylvania; 23 of the Universal Theaters circuit in Virginia and Wisconsin; three of the Manos Theater circuit in Greensburg, Pa.; the Ogontz and Wynn Theaters, Philadelphia; three of Theater Realty Company, Easton, Pa., and 17 of the Schine chain theaters, of Ohio.

'Homeliest Woman' Of Sideshows Dies

NEW YORK, June 5.—(AP.)—Rose Barinick, 40, known as the "homeliest woman in the world" in various circuses and sideshows, was found dead in her apartment on the lower East Side.

Death, due to heart disease, had come three or four days ago.

Fayette Span Bill Goes to President

WASHINGTON, June 5.—(AP.)—Time for the Fayette City Bridge Company to bridge the Monongahela River near Fayette City, Pa., would be extended three years under a bill finally approved by the House and sent to the President.

'Sheik' Sideburns Of Mexico City Police Banned

MEXICO CITY, June 5—(AP.)—Chief of Police Mijares Palencia ordered members of the force who wear sideburns to shave them off immediately. He said sideburns gave them the appearance of "sheiks."

Knife Victim Dies, Man, 62, Arrested

GRANTSVILLE, W. Va., June 5.—(AP.)—Stabbed during a quarrel, Ollie Bell, 30, Grantsville, bled to death. Emory Ferrell, 62, was held by the police here, charged with murder. Relatives of Ferrell testified at an inquest that Bell had gone to the Ferrell home and was stabbed by Ferrell in self-defense.

Tramping all over town in search of an apartment is no simple matter. Finding one through the convenience of Classified Ads is. Turn to the Classified Section now.

FUND BILL GOES TO PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, June 5.—(AP)—Congress sent President Hoover a bill for $26,557,767 for its next year's services.

The annual legislative appropriation bill covering all expenditures connected with the legislative branch of the government was given its finishing touches by the House, which adopted a conference report settling differences between it and the Senate. The bill was more than $4,000,000 under budget estimates.

Appropriations for considerable new building are included in the measure.

Actress Divorces Film Director Second Time

LOS ANGELES, June 5.—(AP)—Riza Royce, film actress, was granted a divorce again from Josef Von Sternberg, movie director. The Superior Court approved a settlement giving her $25,000 cash and alimony of $1,200 monthly for five years.

The actress accused her husband of cruelty, staying away from home all night and once with ejecting her from their home. Sternberg denied the charges.

Miss Royce divorced the director in 1927, but in 1928 they became reconciled. They were first married in July, 1926.

Woman, 83, Struck By Automobile, Dies

NEW CASTLE, Pa., June 5.—Mrs. G. C. Rose, 83, died in Jameson Memorial Hospital after being struck by the automobile of Mike Fisher as she was crossing Highland avenue. Coroner J. P. Caldwell is investigating.

FREE MOONEY, RAIL MEN ASK

CLEVELAND, June 5.—(AP)—By unanimous vote the triennial convention of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers appealed to Gov. C. C. Young of California to pardon Tom Mooney, who is serving a sentence for his alleged part in the bombing of the San Francisco Preparedness Day parade in 1916.

Alvanley Johnson, grand chief engineer, telegraphed the appeal to Gov. Young in the name of 80,000 members of the brotherhood. The action follows that of other labor organizations throughout the country.

Mooney has been in a California penitentiary nearly 14 years.

Secretary of Labor James J. Davis will address the convention Monday morning.

ATLANTIC CITY MAYOR FREED

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 5.—(AP)—A jury last night acquitted Anthony Ruffu, Jr., mayor of Atlantic City, of a charge of using his office to further his insurance business. The jury deliberated three hours and four minutes.

The four indictments tried were chosen from 14 lodged against the mayor on the same allegation. No date has been set for trial of the remaining 10.

Towanda Soldier And Comrade Killed

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., June 5.—(AP)—Private Cecil Hankinson, 22, Towanda, Pa., and Private Albert Whitley, Mineral Wells, Tex., were killed here last night when a motorcycle they were riding crashed into an automobile. Both were members of the Twentieth Photo Section at Brooks Field, here.

Hear Him Prove His Strange Assertions

In the First Ripley-Vitaphone Release, Showing at the Warner Theater, Starting June 6

Watch Ripley at work in his studio. Let him introduce some of his freaks to you. Listen to him explain his strange truths. See the tiny porcupine fish that can kill the most ferocious of man-eating sharks; watch Ripley draw the horned man of Africa and then compare the drawing with an actual photograph of this freak. Let Ripley show you how he can help a young lady jump through the hole in a cigarette paper. See the many features that Ripley has drawn for you every day in the Sun-Telegraph, now portrayed on the talking screen. You'll have more belief in his daily cartoons in the Sun-Telegraph after you've seen this picture at the Warner. The feature picture stars Dorothy Mackaill in the "Flirting Widow."

Shoulder Capes Are Stunning

Pattern 1951

Sun-Telegraph 15c Practical Pattern

By ANNE ADAMS.

A delicious frock for afternoon wear boasts shoulder capes that fall in graceful fullness over the arms and continue around the back in becoming line. The peplum, which may be omitted if you wish, is a slenderizing feature that is a smart finish to the beautifully skirt.

Pattern 1951 is exquisitely made of georgette, voile, chiffon or flat crepe. A dainty floral design on a ground of either dark or light tone will be lovely. The reds, pinks, greens, blues and yellows are perfectly ravishing this season in a large range of shades.

May be obtained only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40. Size 14 requires 3¾ yards of 39-inch fabric.

No dressmaking experience is necessary to make this model with our pattern. Yardage for every size, and simple, exact instructions are given.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins carefully wrapped, or stamps, for each pattern. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, STYLE NUMBER and SIZE wanted.

Our BOOK of PATTERNS for adults and children, also transfer patterns, is FIFTEEN CENTS, but only TEN CENTS when ordered with a pattern. Address all mail and orders to Sun-Telegraph Pattern Department, 243 West Seventeenth St., New York City.

Arden Miners Refuse To Accept Pay Cut

WASHINGTON, Pa., June 5.—Refusing to accept a general cut of 7 cents a ton in loaded coal approximately 50 miners employed at No. 10 mine of the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Company at Arden failed to return to work. The cut decreased the scale from 52 to 45 cents per ton.

Attendance Record Of 180 Pupils Perfect

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., June 5.—One hundred and eighty students at the Hiller School here, or 46 per cent of the student body, were perfect in their attendance during the term just ended, Principal Mel Underwood announced. Forty-five will receive perfect attendance seals and 135 certificates.

LEAPER KILLED IN PLANE DIVE

GLEN COVE, N. Y., June 5.—(INS.)—Henry Bushmeyer, noted parachute jumper, died today of injuries suffered last night in an airplane crash.

He had made 500 successful parachute jumps without an accident. Last night when he made his first flight without a parachute, the plane cracked up.

His left lung was punctured. The pilot, Clifford Muchmore, has a skull fracture and internal injuries.

Sues Son-in-law Over Wife's Death

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., June 5.—Charles Baker, Stonecreek Valley, administrator of his wife's estate, filed suit for $10,000 damages from his son-in-law, Dr. Paul B. Hisrich, Bolivar physician, in whose automobile Mrs. Baker was riding when she was killed last January 25, the car colliding with a coal truck.

The suit is a friendly action to secure a judgment covered by insurance. Reckless driving is charged.

CROPS PERILED BY DROUGHT

WASHINGTON, June 5.—(AP.)—With drought prevailing over most of the eastern half of the country, weather bureau officials predicted crops would be severely damaged unless this summer's rainfall was unusually heavy.

The spring drought, one of the most severe and prolonged on record, has continued, virtually unbroken, in South Atlantic and Ohio Valley states since last December. The total rainfall, the bureau said, has been slightly more than half of normal for a six months period.

Crop damage so far, it was said, has not been serious but danger lies in the lack of reserve soil moisture. The region hardest hit extends from Eastern Pennsylvania through Maryland, Virginia and the Carolinias to Alabama, and the Ohio Valley states, particularly Ohio and West Virginia.

LEAD CO. HEAD DENIES FRAUD

NEW YORK, June 5.—(AP.)—Acting as his own attorney at his trial for alleged mail fraud in connection with the sale of Utah Lead Company stock, Michael Barnett, president of the company, denied all of the government's charges.

Among other questions, he asked himself if he had ever authorized published statements saying the company's capitalization was more than $4,000,000. He answered that he had not.

Cross-examined by Assistant Federal Attorney Spieler, Barnett said he and members of his family invested more than $100,000 in the company, which, he said, owned outright more than 2,000 acres of mineralized land in Utah and held options on leases of other property.

Barnett is a member of the Philadelphia bar. Three other defendants are on trial with him.

Legion Convention Delegates Named

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa., June 5.—Dr. B. M. Lawther commander of the J. Wilbur Randolph post of the American legion, here, and George Wilson and Bert Croft, members of the post, have been named as delegates to the state convention of the legion at Harrisburg.

Farmers Halt Grass Fire With Ditches

JAMESTOWN, Pa., June 5.—One of the largest grass fires in recent history was checked on the Mrs. Sara Snodgrass farm, Greene Township, after it had burned for two days and covered 50 acres. Farmers stopped the blaze by digging deep ditches.

Kittanning Bridge Work Suspended

KITTANNING, Pa., June 5.—Workmen in the employ of the Pittsburgh Welding Company who have been repairing the Kittanning bridge during the past week, were notified by the State Highway Department to suspend operations for the present. The structure was condemned by the War Department and the controversy between the Federal government and the Armstrong county commissioners continues.

Youths Rescue Man, Daughter in Lake

SHARON, Pa., June 5.—O. L. Weaver and daughter, Margaret, narrowly escaped drowning when their motor boat upset at Conneaut Lake. They were rescued by William McElroy and Richard Mercker, of Corry.

The first hot day nearly wrecked their romance

She wondered why he lost interest so quickly

...she never suspected "B.O." until—
(Body Odor)

SHE HAD to fight hard to keep back the tears. What was the matter? He had been devotion itself when they started out. Why was he so different now?

Their romance nearly went on the rocks. But fortunately her new sister-in-law gave her some helpful advice in time. Warned her about "B.O.", the polite name for a condition people dislike even to mention—body odor, a fault that will rob the prettiest girl of her charm. Told her the easiest way to keep fresh and dainty even on the hottest, sultriest day.

And once she adopted a simple safeguard against offending, her sweetheart fell in love with her all over again.

Don't blame the weather —blame yourself!

Perspire more in summer? Then be extra particular about washing and bathing often with Lifebuoy and you'll never offend. There's no excuse for even a hint of "B.O."—which others so quickly notice. Lifebuoy will safeguard us!

Lifebuoy's wonderfully refreshing, antiseptic lather—so copious and abundant even in hardest water—purifies pores, removes every trace of odor. Its pleasant, extra-clean scent—that vanishes as you rinse—tells you "Here's safety from 'B.O.'!" No wonder millions of particular men and women declare, "I couldn't do without Lifebuoy."

The finest of complexion soaps!

Lifebuoy is the blandest and mildest of soaps for the face, yet marvelously cleansing. Its creamy, searching lather floods tiny pores—gently loosens clogged impurities—brings back healthy, glowing radiance to dull, sallow skins. Adopt Lifebuoy today.

ORDER INQUEST IN FUME DEATH

An open inquest into the death of Mrs. Evelyn Lipke, 22, of 314 Edmond street, believed to have been asphyxiated by fumes from cyanide being used to fumigate a house next to her home, was ordered today by Coroner W. J. McGregor in order to warn the public of the dangers of asphyxiation from such causes, Coroner McGregor said.

"The death of Mrs. Lipke will be investigated at an open inquest. I desire to warn all persons engaged in fumigating that the greatest caution should be observed in endeavoring to see that the rooms being fumigated are perfectly sealed in order to prevent the escape of the gas and that those occupying neighboring apartments should be warned to keep their windows open and to leave the building immediately if any strange odors are detected."

The cyanide fumes believed to have killed Mrs. Lipke were the same type as those used to execute a murderer three days ago in Nevada state prison.

CONVICTED DRY VIOLATOR HELD

CLEVELAND, O., June 5.—(AP)—Daniel F. Coughlin of Pittsburgh, who is appealing from a five-year liquor sentence at Toledo, was back in jail today in default of $5,000 bond awaiting a hearing June 18 on another rum-running charge.

Coughlin was arrested on a warrant charging conspiracy in landing 33 cases of champagne at Vermilion, O., April 14. He pleaded not guilty before a Federal commissioner.

Police say Coughlin is a member of a group of rum runners which has flooded this section with Canadian liquor.

Car Upsets, Bandit Suspects Captured

CADIZ, O., June 5. — John Strain, 25, Port Royal, Pa., and Otto Francis Berger, 38, Boston, were captured near here when the auto in which they were fleeing from Sheriff Morris Wooster upset and was run into by the sheriff's car. The pursuit followed the holdup of Clyde Wilson, garage owner at Wintersville, Steubenville suburb. Wilson was robbed of $106.

Intercepted at Cadiz, the alleged bandits tried to escape but were pinned under their car when they turned on to a newly graded country road at high speed. Both were injured.

Will Consider Sale Of Youngstown Bank

YOUNGSTOWN, O., June 5.—A special stockholders' meeting of the Central Savings and Loan Company has been called for June 14 to consider sale of the company's assets. The company, which has deposits of $4,030,016, since Monday has not been paying money to depositors.

George L. Oles, prominent merchant, was recently elected chairman of the bank's board. The Home Savings and Loan Company and the Federal Savings and Loan Company have been negotiating to take over the Central.

Ford to Build Big Plant in Shanghai

WASHINGTON, June 5.—(INS.)—Despite turbulent conditions prevailing in China, Henry Ford plans to erect a mammoth automobile plant in Shanghai. He revealed this in a long conference he held with Secretary of Labor Davis. He did not indicate when building operations would begin.

Peppered Liquor Ruled too Hot For Medicine

BEAVER, Pa., June 5.—Agnes Hummer, Beaver Falls store proprietor, pleaded guilty to possession of liquor and told the court the liquor, seasoned with pepper, which officers had found in her home, was prepared for her mother, who is old and ill.

Judge Frank E. Reader, as he imposed a fine of $500 and sentenced Mrs. Hummer to one year in jail, remarked:

"That drink is too hot for an aged and sick woman."

CONDON JAILED IN CONTEMPT

CHICAGO, June 5.—(AP)—Thomas Condon, wealthy head of Condon Industries Inc., and the General Telephone Utilities Company, was sentenced to serve six months in jail by Judge Joseph Sabath in Cook County Superior Court.

Judge Sabath found Condon guilty of "direct contempt" when Condon called his wife's attorney, Benjamin B. Davis, a liar of various degrees and tried to strike him in court.

Condon was taken directly to the Cook County jail, where he was quartered with the alimony club.

Condon was in court to answer a plea made by his wife, Mrs. Mary D. Condon, for an injunction restraining him from molesting her.

Ellwood City Offers U. S. Prison Site

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa., June 5.—An option on 1,000 acres of land near this city has been taken by the Chamber of Commerce as a possible site for the proposed new Federal prison to be located in this district. The location is said to meet all the requirements of the government.

STAR ADMITS LIE ON AGE

LOS ANGELES, June 5.—(AP)—Nora White, actress, who is suing Phillip T. Carling for separate maintenance, admitted in Superior Court that she is 41 years old and not 35 as she first testified. Carling, in the same suit, asks a divorce or annulment of their marriage in Tia Juana, Lower California, last July.

Carling accused his wife of fraud in representing herself to be 35 when they were married. Under cross-examination the musical comedy star admitted she was born in Austria 41 years ago. She also admitted she pawned for $30 a $175 wedding ring Carling gave her.

Mayor Takes Office For Ninth Term

Original Papers In John Brown Case Found

CHARLESTOWN, W. Va., June 5.—After being lost for many years, the original papers and indictments connected with the prosecution of John Brown, abolitionist, and four of his followers in 1859 and 1860, have been restored to the office of the Circuit Court clerk here.

The papers were found in the personal effects of the late Judge D. B. Lucas by Col. Forrest W. Brown, executor under the will of Miss Virginia Lucas. The indictments were written by the late Andrew Hunter, who aided in the prosecution during the famous trials.

Safety Champions To Defend Title

WAYNESBURG, Pa., June 5.—The mines safety rescue team of the Mather Collieries, state champion last year, will defend its title at the annual state first aid meeting at Ebensburg, July 5.

SOLDIER JAILED IN BAKER DEATH

WASHINGTON, June 5.—(AP.)—Charged with the murder of Mary Baker, government clerk, found slain near the Arlington National Cemetery April 12, Private Howard L. Brewster was removed from the barracks of his company here to the Arlington County, Va., jail.

Early in May Brewster confessed to the murder, officers said, but later recanted. After he had been examined by Army alienists and grilled by Federal, Virginia, and District authorities, the murder warrant was issued by Trial Justice Harry R. Thomas to Commonwealth's Attorney William Gloth.

Boy Sets Perfect Record at School

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., June 5.—Thirteen years ago Fred L. Bachman entered first grade of public school here at the age of six. He has graduated from the high school with a record of perfect school attendance. Not an absent or tardy mark has been recorded against him in the 13-year span.

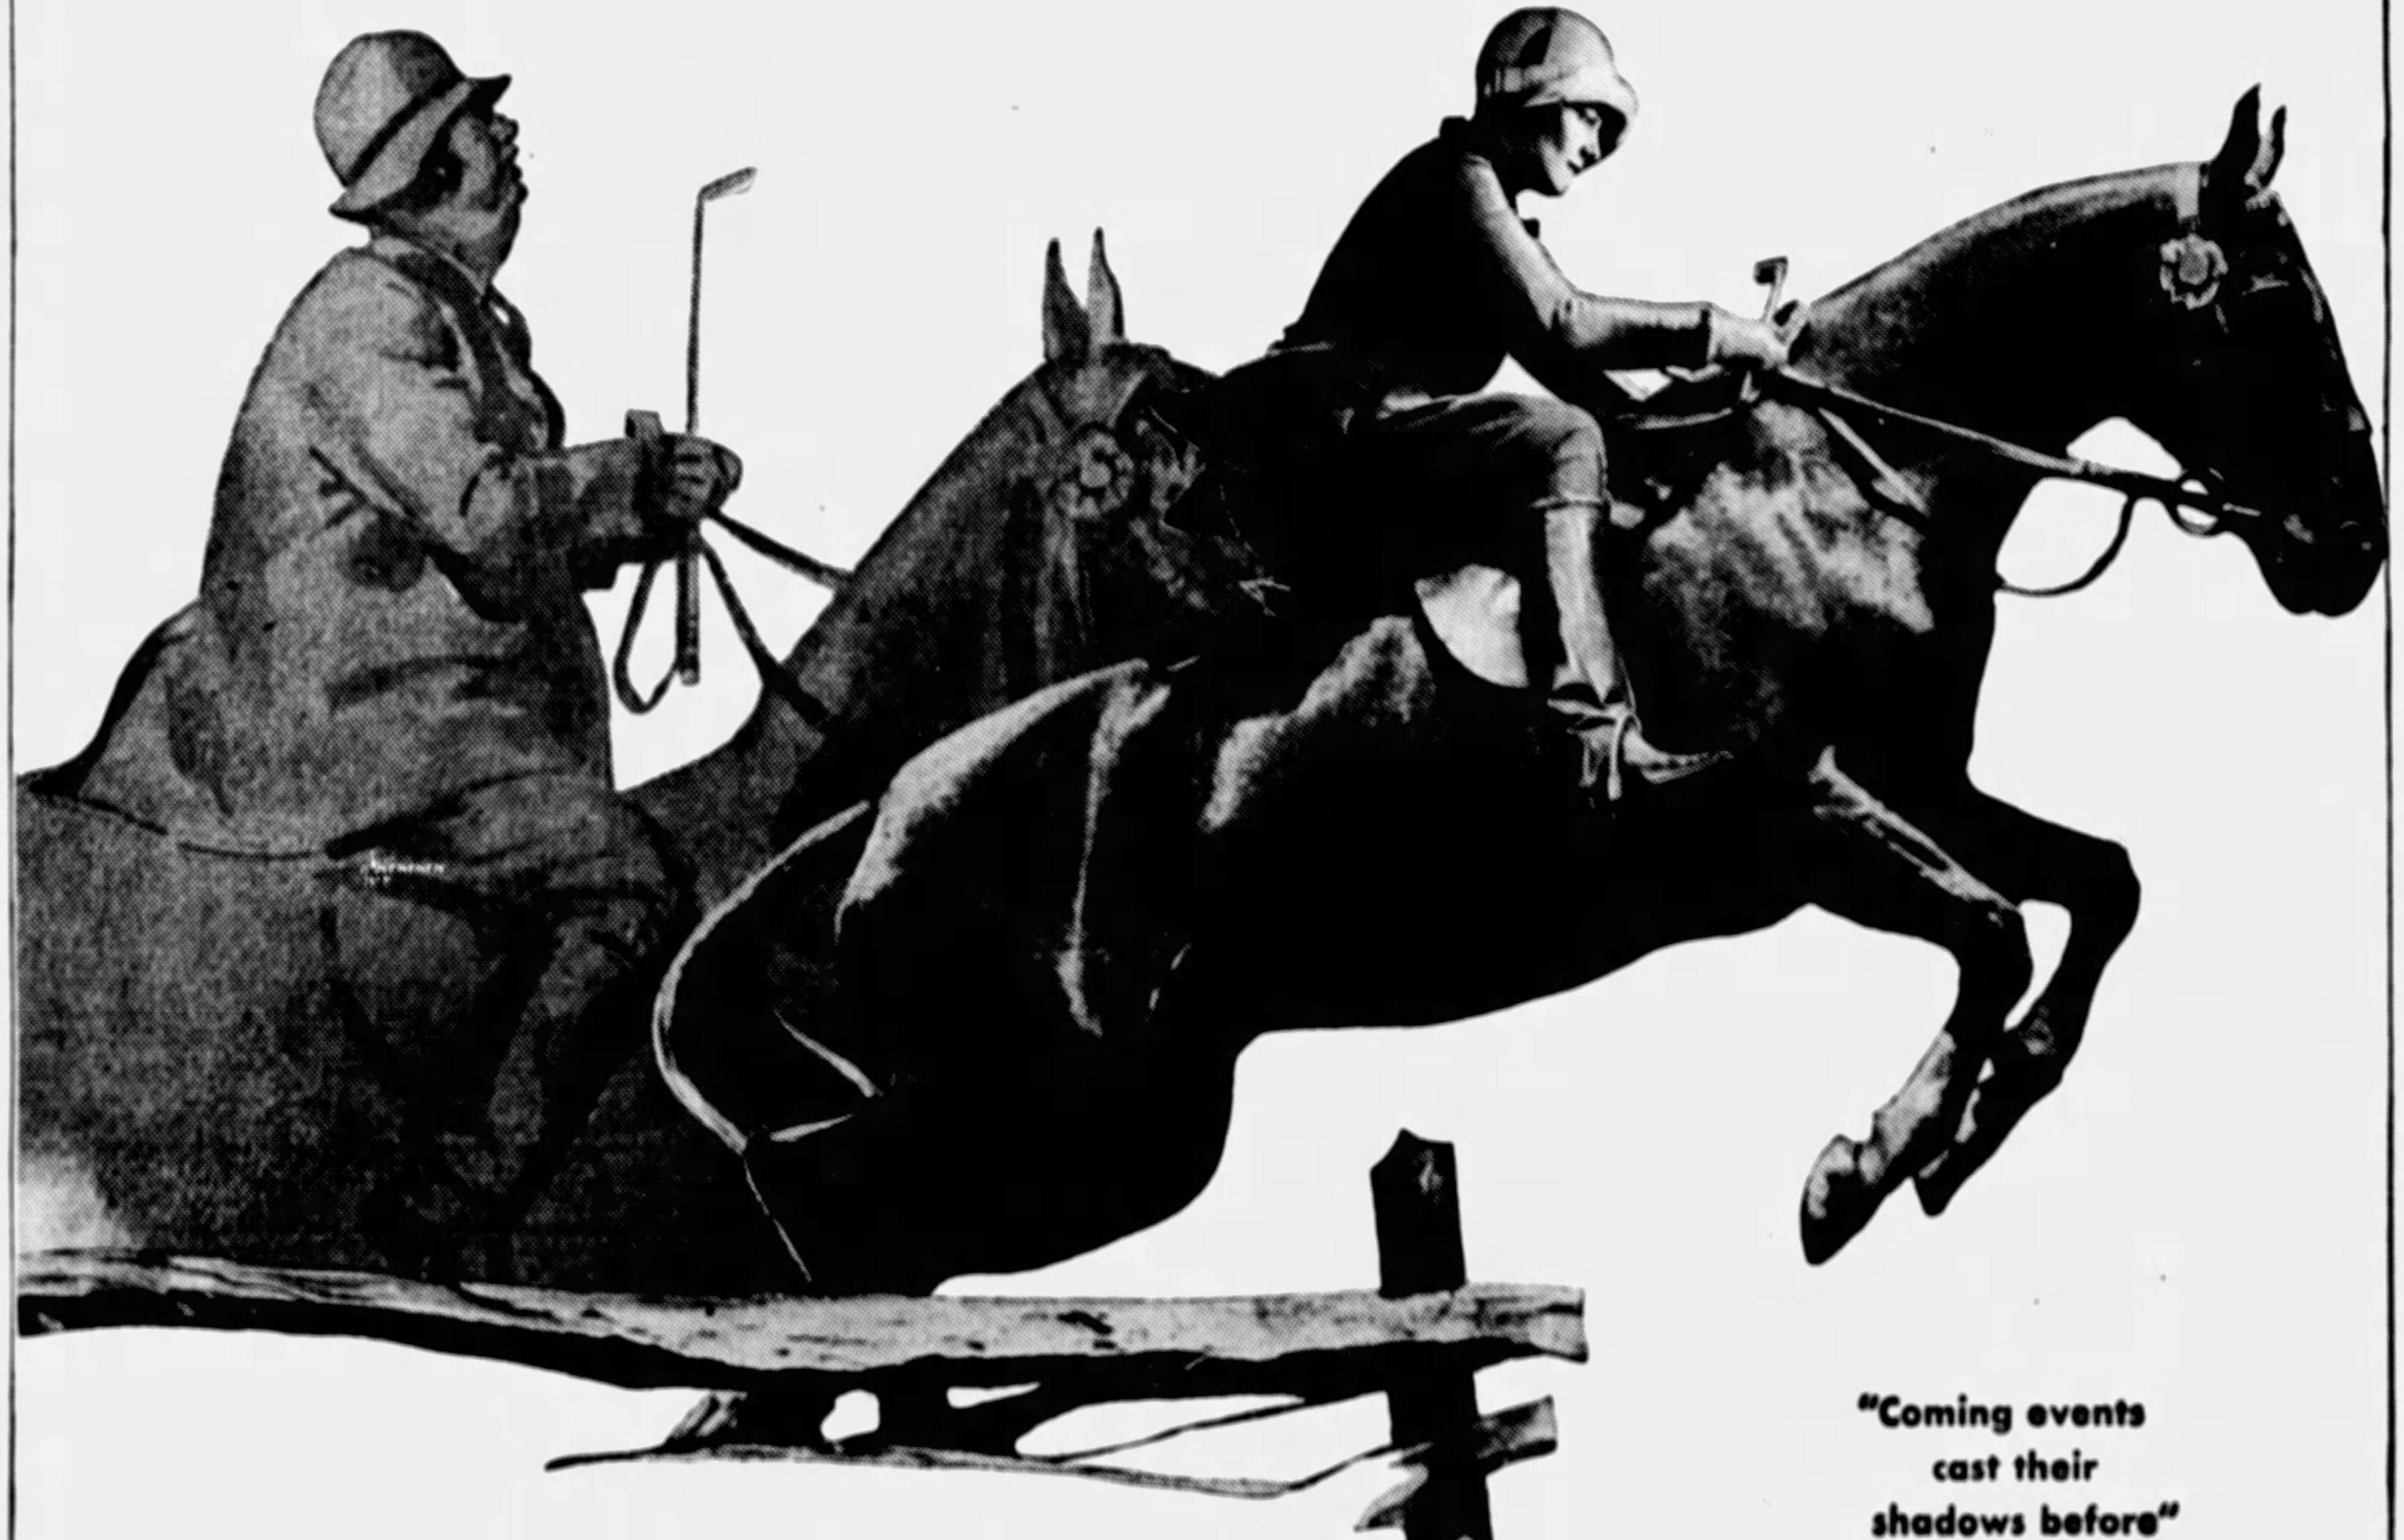
PRETTY CURVES WIN!



"Coming events cast their shadows before"

When tempted to over-indulge

"Reach For A Lucky Instead"

Be moderate—be moderate in all things, even in smoking. Avoid that future shadow* by avoiding over-indulgence, if you would maintain that modern, ever-youthful figure. "Reach for a Lucky instead."

Lucky Strike, the finest Cigarette you ever smoked, made of the finest tobacco—The Cream of the Crop—"IT'S TOASTED." Lucky Strike has an extra, secret heating process. Everyone knows that heat purifies and so 20,679 physicians say that Luckies are less irritating to your throat.

"It's toasted"

Your Throat Protection—against irritation—against cough.

*In his book, "Get Rid of That Fat," Samuel G. Blythe says: "Any man or woman who is twenty pounds overweight is sick." We do not represent that smoking Lucky Strike Cigarettes will bring modern figures or cause the reduction of flesh. We do declare that when tempted to do yourself too well, if you will "Reach for a Lucky instead," you will thus avoid over-indulgence in things that cause excess weight and, by avoiding over-indulgence, maintain a modern, graceful form.

NIGHT SESSION HELD BY COURT

Night court was held at the Juvenile Detention Home in Oakland, by Judge D. Paulson Foster, last night. The night session, to be held semi-monthly, was started by Judge Foster to make it possible for parents of wayward boys and girls to attend court without losing time from their work.

Three months ago Judge Foster began checking the amount of time each parent reported losing from work in attending Juvenile Court sessions with children. This checkup showed that from 40 to 50 persons lost a day's work each in attending court.

Judge Foster intends to hold semi-monthly nightly sessions hereafter to prevent this loss of time to working people. If he finds it necessary, he will hold night sessions more frequently, he said.

DOCTOR FACES $10,000 SUIT

Mrs. Dorothy Humphreys and her husband, Fred D. Humphreys, of Beechview, have filed a $10,000 damage suit against Dr. Charles Russell Cox for alleged use of a sharp pointed instrument on Mrs. Humphreys in treatments for indigestion.

The plaintiffs contend Dr. Cox promised to cure her for $50. They declare the doctor used the instrument on Mrs. Humphreys' abdomen and back, causing sores and great pain after each treatment.

The suit alleges Dr. Cox practiced a form of medical treatment not recognized by the profession. The plaintiffs' counsel are Marshall & Marshall.

OBITUARY

Glendenning Funeral.

Funeral services for Andrew J. Glendenning, 80, former McKeesport contractor, who died Tuesday, in Toronto, Can., will be held tomorrow from the H. Samson funeral home. Burial will be in the South Side Cemetery. Mr. Glendenning moved from McKeesport six months ago and at the time of his death was making his home with a son, Harry Glendenning. Mr. Glendenning lived in McKeesport about 10 years and prior to that had resided in Pittsburgh. He was a member of the Central Presbyterian Church of McKeesport. Before ill health forced him to retire, he served as an elder in the church and as a Sabbath school teacher. Besides his son, he leaves his widow, Mrs. Alice Frick Glendenning.

Mrs. Barbara Mills.

Mrs. Barbara McCleary Mills, 74, widow of Stephen D. Mills, died yesterday at her home, 152 Race street, Edgewood. Mrs. Mills was born in Braddock, and had lived for 20 years in Edgewood. She leaves three daughters, Mrs. Bess Baldridge, of Braddock; Mrs. Mabel James, of Silver Springs, N. Y., and Mrs. Laird Flude, of Edgewood; two sons, Lieut. Com. S. THERE'S ONE SURE WAY TO PROVE THIS Between you and really sound teeth lies simply your request at your druggist's: "Give me a tube of PEBECO Tooth Paste." This is a fact. Pebeco has proven to countless intelligent men and women that it does more than an ordinary tooth paste. That it means longer life for your teeth because it increases the flow of saliva, Nature's own protective agent. That it means mouth cleanliness and freshness such as you never before experienced. The only way to prove this is to buy a tube and try it.

What a Different World when Appetite is Keener!
YOUR whole attitude toward food changes when appetite is keen. Your own doctor will tell you it is just as important to enjoy your food as to eat it.
Some folks just eat because it's meal-time. To them, eating is mechanical—a problem, not a pleasure. But what a treat awaits these men and women when once they realize how sharpened appetite lends magic flavor to every blessed morsel.
To dull and drowsy appetites Flaxolyn cries "awake!" It is a sluggish, stubborn appetite indeed, that will not respond to the effective stimulation to the appetite, which Flaxolyn can bring.

CONVICT TWO IN WILKINSBURG ROW

TAKE WOMAN AS CLIMAX TO FEUD

Verdict Follows Attack Oo Chief Wallace Bishop In Published Statements

C. A. Boddie and Burt M. Musick, of Wilkinsburg, were found guilty by a jury today of criminal libel against Wallace Bishop, chief, and A. F. Fornoff, lieutenant, of the Wilkinsburg police.

Sentence was suspended as Attorney E. G. Coll, for the defense, announced that a motion would be filed for a new trial.

No testimony was given in behalf of the defense.

WOMAN ARRESTED

Soon after the verdict was read, Florence McCausland, of Wilkinsburg, was arrested in the corridor of the Courthouse on a charge of criminal libel preferred by Fornoff before Alderman George R. Cray, of Edgewood. She was released in $1,500 bail posted in the district attorney's office.

APPEARED IN PRINT

The commonwealth, represented by Assistant District Attorney Roy Clunk and former United States Attorney Ralph H. Smith, presented evidence that papers containing an attack on Bishop and Fornoff had been printed and circulated at the direction of the defendants last October 31.

SIDE WALKS of PITTSBURGH

William Pfarr,
On Vacation.
Dear Bill:

Saturday was tag day for Roselia Foundling and the next morning in came another tot to eat up all the tags that were left over—and there was plenty. If Pittsburgh knew what a real charity that Cliff street place was, it would chip in heavily. Boy, how those kids drink up the milk.

On my way into town this morning there was a traffic tie-up—not for long, but just a tie-up. About 20 autos behind one that stalled, then

His worst—well, he covered the Austin flood in Potter County years ago when a couple of hundred were casualties.

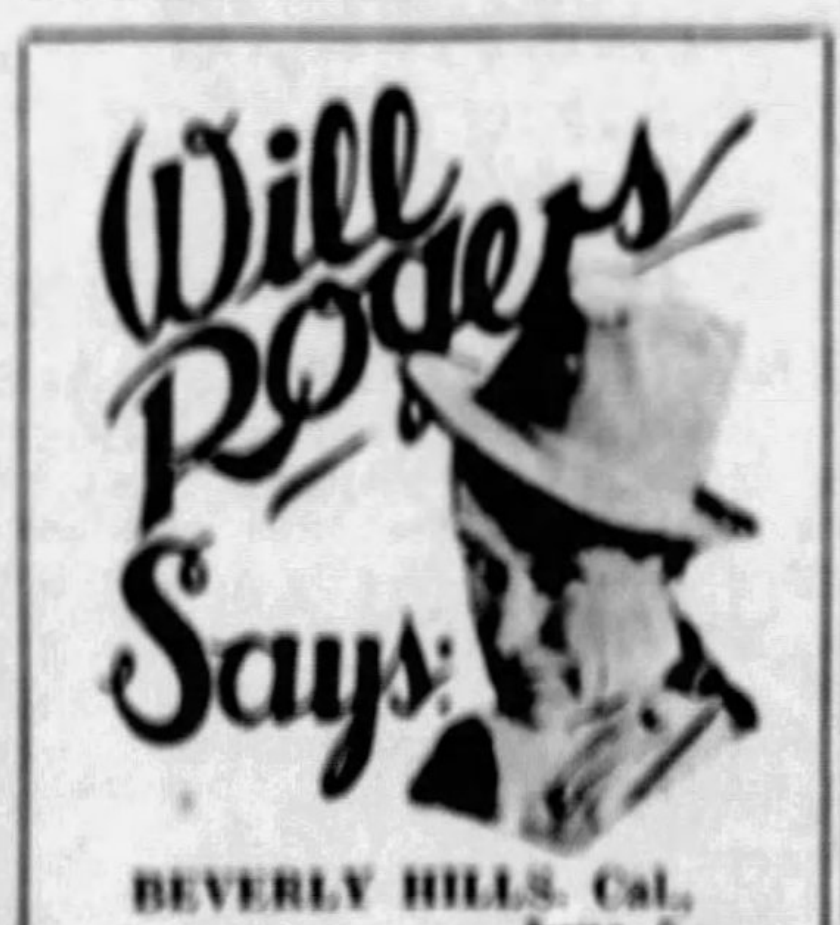
Dramatic Season To End at Tech

With the production of Shakespeare's "Tempest" tomorrow and Saturday evening, the dramatic season of the department of drama, Carnegie Institute of Technology, will close. The play, to be directed by Chester M. Wallace, head of the department, will be given in the open-air theater on the campus. The cast will be composed entirely of members of the freshmen class.



BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., June 5.—

Hurrah for Ruth Bryan Owen; she is going back into Congress from one of our insular possessions. Politically bred, she is a thoroughbred. She was born at a national convention, weaned on unfermented grape juice, and raised to womanhood on campaign speeches. She should have run for the Senate. With two real pure bred political Ruths in there, they might have revived that old body to some of its past glory. She defeated an anti-dry in Florida. They just won't let me count these Literary Digest votes at these regular elections. Yours,

Business Head Puzzled by Secretary's Actions

CHAPTER I.

Nine stories above Park avenue the Eaton Advertising Agency had its headquarters. Through the many open windows the roar of traffic drifted up, subdued to the pulse-beat of a Gargantuan heart and weaving a minor obligato to the sharp, incisive tapping of typewriter keys. Now and then the sound of a police whistle pierced through, thinned to an elfin note of warning.

The doors of the three elevators gave directly upon the reception room of the agency. They clanged open or shut almost without cessation, receiving or discharging their burdens. People came and went continuously—men, for the most part, the majority of them space-salesmen from the publications, calling to see Landers, the space-buyer of the agency, or one of his assistants.

One man, with a square, rather florid face and an outthrusting chin, entered the reception room and approached the girl at the desk. He had an ingratiating smile and a charming manner.

"Mr. Jameson," he informed her. "My appointment with Mr. Eaton is for 3 o'clock."

The girl smiled back, and picking up the receiver, spoke into the transmitter of her telephone. "Miss Andrews? Mr. Jameson to see Mr. Eaton." She replaced the receiver and looked up. "If you'd wait just a moment, Mr. Jameson?"

The man nodded and sat down.

Chief Executive
Relaxed Position Suggestive of Power

In the private office of the chief executive of the agency, Lawrence Eaton, president of the concern and nephew of its late founder, looked across his desk at his secretary who, returning from her telephone in the adjoining office, reported in a quiet, colorless voice:

"Mr. Jameson is waiting."

She tried to smile, mechanically, but her thin face twitched nervously as she stood beside him, notebook in hand.

"Five minutes," Eaton told her, adding, "We'll just finish this letter. I want it off by special delivery."

He leaned back in his chair, waiting until she should deliver his message to the reception-room clerk. In his relaxed, passive position there was a suggestion of force in leash, of power under control. His gray eyes were dark with concentration, but lighted to an impersonal smile as Miss Andrews returned and, sitting down, held notebook and pencil poised.

Eaton continued his effortless dictation. The tall woman in her blue serge frock followed the sound of his voice with the pencil and save for that sound the private office was still.

Miss Andrews
Has Worked With Eaton Five Years

Writing, she jerked herself back to the sense of the words he was speaking, having lost herself momentarily in the cadence of the voice. What an amazing voice, she thought, keenly conscious of her aching head and the difficulty she had in writing—a voice that could infuse warmth, charm, magnetism into dry business phrases.

The room in which they sat was beautiful. It had recently been decorated, under Eaton's supervision, in the modern manner. But there was nothing restless about it, nothing sharp.

The chairs were low to the thick-carpeted floor, solid embracing, cushioned in soft-toned leather. The long couch under the windows was of no particular period. The desk at which Eaton sat was square and massive, of beautifully grained, polished wood. A silver bowl, brimming with roses, stood upon it near one lovely bronze, a sexless winged figure, vibrant with dark, gleaming life. The paneled walls were broken by tall, built-in bookcases, filled with volumes.

Miss Andrews lifted her eyes from the page of notions. She lifted them as if in answer to an inner compulsion, as if they were dragged from the page, upward, to the familiar face of the man with whom she had worked for five years. She saw the gray eyes set under heavy brows, the rather blunt nose, the mouth that, though firm, was so beautifully modeled, the square cleft chin; saw, too, the thick brown hair with its rusty glint, and the long, fine hand, idle on the polished surface of the desk. And these things she viewed with that heavy pressure at her breast, that troubling of the blood which had grown, this last year, into such proportions that she could no longer ignore it—no longer endure it.

Boss Puzzled
His Secretary Becomes Inattentive

Her lips, repressed by habit into a straight thin line, quivered, softened. She dropped her eyes again and stared unseeingly at the sheet upon which she had set no mark for a full moment. Eaton, withdrawing his gaze from the windows, spoke to her pleasantly.

"Will you read back what you have there, please?"

She read a paragraph or two, then faltered, stumbling to a full stop, to silence. Then she asked, not looking at him, her voice lowered to a shred of sound:

"I'm afraid I haven't .... inattentive....if you would please repeat the last, Mr. Eaton."

Eaton moved his broad shoulders in the suggestion of a shrug but with no hint of impatience. He saw that her hands were shaking. His brows drew together. What on earth was wrong? Quiet, self-effacing, efficient, she was the best secretary he had ever had.

Of her personal life he knew little. He rarely exchanged a word with her beyond the daily routine. Did he even know her name? Of course he did, that was absurd—Janet, it was—Janet Andrews. If now and then she absented herself owing to some minor illness he got along as well as possible, scratch secretaries temporarily filling her place. He inquired concerning her daily, with genuine if abstracted interest, and sighed with relief when she returned, quiet and colorless as usual.

Excused
Miss Andrews, Ill, Is Sent Home

He knew that she lived alone; that she went to Cape Cod on her summer vacations; that she must be—how old? Forty, at a venture.

He was dictating as the swift thoughts flashed through his consciousness. Finishing, he looked at her. She had not written a word. She sat there watching his mouth, her hands in her lap. And as he stared at her, incredulous, she flung her notebook on the floor and surrendered herself, to her own horror no less than to his, to passion of tears.

Eaton rose quickly and approached her. He touched her shoulder and she quivered uncontrollably. Eaton drew back his hand and spoke, exceedingly uncomfortable and terribly sorry for her.

"Miss Andrews, are you ill? Is anything wrong? May I help?"

She stumbled to her feet, her handkerchief crushed to her eyes. Her inadequate explanation reached him, muffled, broken and frantic with shamed embarrassment.

"I—yes—please forgive me. My head is splitting. I'll be better presently."

He said quickly "I'm sorry. It's quite all right. Take the remainder of the day and go home and rest and do something for your headache."

The thin blanketed voice answered: "You're—so—good!"

More than gratitude there. A smothered heat, stifled, oppressive. Eaton, usually the most poised of men, felt absurdly ill at ease. He said something—

PUPILS IN FRICK ELEMENTARY SCHOOL BUSILY WORKING OUT THEIR LESSONS ON TYPEWRITERS IN SCHOOLROOM

Children at work in the experiment that Principal Herbert L. Spencer originated and is conducting to see whether typewriters are an aid to younger pupils. Results as the year closes indicates the typing children are superior spellers and readers.

TYPING AS AID TO EDUCATION

One of the most interesting and scientific experiments in education is nearing completion today in the Frick elementary school of Frick Teachers' Training School.

The experiment, originated and conducted by Herbert L. Spencer, principal, is being made to determine whether the use of typewriters by younger pupils is an aid in mastering the tools of education—reading, writing and spelling.

The results noted thus far, according to Mr. Spencer, show that children who use the typewriters are much superior in spelling and reading ability as compared to children of their own age and school status who do not use the typewriters. Mr. Spencer has also noted that the use of the machine has not affected their handwriting to any degree. A detailed report, showing the advancement made by the pupils, will be completed in September and the result published.

This is believed to be the first time such an experiment has ever been made.

Two Women Hurt In Street Car Crash

Mrs. Mary E. Stumps, of South Tenth street, and Margaret Malley, of 234 East Meyers street, Carrick, were taken to Mercy Hospital suffering from lacerations sustained last night, when a Mt. Lebanon street car collided with another in West Liberty avenue, near Ray street. Mrs. Stump was kept at the hospital while Miss Malley was permitted to go home.

Acquit Vacchio in Charge of Arson

Nicholas Vacchio, 28, of 816 Reedsdale street, was acquitted of a charge of arson today in Criminal Court. Police accused Vacchio of setting fire to his property, by setting off a fuse which ignited cans of gasoline, but failed to present direct evidence.

BREAKS PAROLE, WANTED HERE

Federal Probation Officer George G. O'Brien yesterday charged Kenneth Beach, 20, of Washington, Pa., on two-year parole, with violating his probation by leaving the district without having obtained permission.

The action resulted after Preston County, W. Va., officials informed O'Brien that Beach is now serving a six months' sentence in the Kingwood, W. Va., jail, following conviction on a charge of carrying concealed weapons.

Beach, according to the Federal authorities, will be returned here at the completion of his term to face sentence on a plea of guilty to violation of the national motor theft act. The youth was sentenced on the second charge last week.

Stealing an automobile in Cadiz, O., according to police, Beach, along with Roy Stearns, 23, also of Washington, drove to Kingwood, where both were arrested. At the time of Beach's parole Stearns drew a three-months' sentence when arraigned before Federal Judge Nelson McVicar.

School for Blind Graduation Tuesday

Graduation exercises at the Western Pennsylvania School for the Blind, Bellefield avenue and Bayard street, will be held Tuesday evening at 8:15 o'clock. The baccalaureate sermon will be given Sunday by the Rev. Dr. Albert E. Day, pastor of Christ Methodist Episcopal Church.

Commencement at St. Francis College

The graduating class of St. Francis College, Loretto, Pa., will hold its commencement exercises tomorrow morning in Doyle Hall. Bishop J. J. McCort, of Altoona, will preside. The alumni association will be represented by its president, Charles M. Schwab.

Shoe Man Wants $250 Monthly Alimony Cut

George W. Stewart, of 5516 Wilkins avenue, who has been paying his wife, Marion Stewart, $250 a month alimony for a number of years, has asked Judge James B. Drew, of Common Pleas Court, to reduce the amount. He says he is no longer able to pay it.

Mrs. Stewart obtained a divorce about six years ago. Stewart, a member of the wholesale shoe firm of Stewart Bros. & Co., says he left the firm April 19, he and his brother, W. L. Stewart, having disagreed regarding salary.

Judge Drew made the original order in the case. The first amount the court directed to be paid was $300 a month. This was modified by the Superior Court. Judge Drew did not intimate his attitude on the latest application, but questioned Stewart closely regarding his financial condition.

Mrs. Stewart, who has spent considerable time abroad since she obtained a limited divorce, is fighting any reduction in the amount she now receives. Stewart is living with two daughters at the Wilkins avenue address.

Number Operators Makes Phone Kicks Easy

If you must report a telephone operator the William Penn Hotel today provides the means of knowing just which girl to blame.

It's "Operator No. so-and-so" that greets hotel guests as they use the house telephones. Even the hotel staff knows upon whom to cast their wrath when service is poor. The user gets the girl's number every time any of the 35 operators answer their boards that demands more service in one city block than is needed in the average small town telephone office.

2 POLICEMEN EXONERATED

Patrolmen William Kessler and Daniel Owens were exonerated yesterday by the Police Trial Board on charges of breaking into the O'Hara School Building following the primary election and arresting the custodian.

Charges made by Attorney J. Rodgers McCreery, Board of Education solicitor, were heard at a closed hearing. The pair was accused of holding Bernard Duffy, the custodian, in the Penn Avenue Police Station and refusing to permit communication with his superiors. The officers had been suspended by Police Supt. Peter P. Walsh, but will be reinstated.

Avalon Planning Big July Fourth

The dedication of Avalon's new swimming pool will feature the Fourth of July community celebration being arranged. There will be athletic events and a fireworks display. O. P. Springer is general chairman of the celebration and he has appointed the various committees to arrange the many features of the program. Burgess Grant Ritchie, councilmen, members of the school board and the police and firemen will participate in the dedication program.

RAIL SURGEONS HOLD CLINIC

Presentation of cases was the subject today of a clinic at the Mercy Hospital, being held as part of the convention program of the Baltimore and Ohio Association of Railway Surgeons.

The convention, which closes tomorrow morning at the William Penn Hotel, scheduled this one feature today for the 300 members in attendance. The clinic will be conducted by Drs. Paul R. Sieber, George J. Wright and W. W. G. MacLachlan, of Pittsburgh.

The annual dinner-dance will be held tonight. Women visitors were spending the day on shopping tours and sightseeing trips.

Discussion of modern medical methods will occupy the session tomorrow preceding the single business session of the three-day convention. Former Gov. John J. Cornwell, of West Virginia, and general counsel and director of the company, will speak on public relations.

Whitaker Man Hurt In Fall From Roof

Injured in a fall from the roof of his home when a scaffold broke, Carl Mitchell, 55, of 148 Dora street, Whitaker, was in a serious condition today at the Homestead Hospital.

Girl Guest in Auto Sues for $10,000

Miss Ruth Marvel, of Howe street, rendered unconscious when the car in which she was riding as a guest, met in collision at the Bloomfield bridge, October 28, 1929, has brought suit against E. J. Price and Alexander Gordon for $10,000 damages. She claims that her back, right shoulder, head and arms were hurt. Miss Marvel was riding in the Gordon car. The plaintiff is represented by Attorney Harry Ravick.

Drive on Crossings Gets Indorsement

Endorsement of the plan of Senator Frank J. Harris for a state wide organization for the abolishment of grade crossings is given by the highway safety committee of the Pittsburgh Motor Club. Robert L. Wickline, chairman of the committee conferred with Senator Harris yesterday. Preliminary plans for the establishment of the state organization was made Tuesday afternoon at a meeting of prominent men and women in the William Penn Hotel.

Carnegie Names 5 Judges, 3 Win Fame Recently

By PENELOPE REDD.

The announcement from Carnegie Institute of the American Committee of Selection for the twenty-ninth Carnegie International exhibition, contains three names that it would have been impossible, a decade ago, to have imagined in so official a post. The three artists, Ross Moffett, Bernard Karfiol and Charles Burchfield, are now nationally honored, and the Institute's choice gives them a faintly international tint.

Penelope Redd

The other two committee members, Horatio Walker and Emil Carlsen, are veteran Carnegie Institute exhibitors and jurors. They are both able painters and just judges.

The American Committee will meet in New York September 11 and will conclude their selections for the American section at Pittsburgh, September 22.

Emil Carlsen, Bernard Karfiol and Ross Moffett, out of the five, will also serve on the international jury of award of which Matisse, the famous Frenchman, is the pictorial hero.

Horatio Walker has always painted in the religious-pastoral mood of Millet; Emil Carlson has had mystical tendencies in his marine paintings. Ross Moffet and Bernard Karfiol have also been far removed from painting realistic descriptions.

Charles Burchfield, on the contrary, has, like Sherwood Anderson, given us the stark realism of the small town. The buildings are studies of the characters inhabiting them. He was given the signal honor of inclusion as one of the 19 American painters at the new Museum of Modern Art, which has excited New York. Moreover, a painting was purchased for that museum's permanent collection.

Edward Duff Balken, acting director of the fine arts at Carnegie Institute, in announcing the American committee, stated that Homer Saint-Gaudens, who has been in Europe assembling paintings for the coming international, will return to the United States about June 14.

The International Jury of Award will meet in Pittsburgh September 23 to decide the Carnegie honors and the Albert C. Lehman Prize and Purchase Fund.

DRY MEN FIND STILL IN CAVE

Federal prohibition agents today were seeking Patsy Melaragno, on whose farm, near Allison Park, they said, an underground moonshine plant, constructed of steel and concrete, was uncovered last night.

The entrance to the cave was concealed by a dog kennel. In the underground room, 100 feet long, 25 feet wide and 12 feet high, the raiders seized a 75-gallon still, 1,660 gallons of mash and 60 gallons of moonshine, it was reported.

The cave was first discovered by dry agents four years ago. Passing the farm on a snow covered day, the raiders noted a stretch of ground was bare. An examination disclosed that heat below caused the snow to melt. Several large stills were found at that time.

William Long, Negro, was lodged in jail, according to the agents, following a raid on a dwelling at 6640 Mariette street, where 80 barrels of mash were found.

Engineers to Visit Steel Exposition

Delegates from Pittsburgh will take part in the annual convention and steel exposition of the Association of Iron and Steel Electrical Engineers in Buffalo, June 16 to 20. Among those taking part in the sessions will be R. F. Sanner, of the Duquesne plant of the Carnegie Steel Company; Frank Smith, of the Otis Elevator Company; R. W. Accident Victim Sues for $20,000

Nick Stanich, South Side, demands $20,000 for a fractured arm and other hurts as a result of a truck of Charles M. Hawkins, trading as the United Home Service Company, colliding with his automobile. The accident occurred November 14 in West Carson street, when it is alleged the defendant's car was traveling at a rapid rate of speed on the wrong side of the street.

GAS BLAST FIRE ROUTS FOUR

Four persons were forced to flee to places of safety and a fireman was injured in a fire, caused, police believe, by an explosion of gas in the home of Earl C. Hall, of 1206 Center avenue, Turtle Creek, early today. The damage was estimated at $3,500 by Fire Chief E. D. Kenyon.

Assistant Fire Chief E. M. Allen sustained lacerations of both legs when he fell through the second floor while combatting the flames. Hall, his wife and a child were absent from home when the blast occurred, but four other occupants were aroused by the detonation and fled.

The interior of the residence, a two-story frame structure, was destroyed. Investigation by Kenyon led firemen to believe the blast and fire were caused by leaking gas near the meter.

$250,000 MINE JOB STARTED

A contract for approximately $250,000 has been let to the Dravo Contracting Company of Pittsburgh, by the Louisiana Development Company, for the sinking of a shaft at Winfield, La., to open a salt mine in the territory. The shaft, concrete lined, will have an inside diameter of 14 feet and will be 740 feet deep.

CARRY MOTHER TO SON'S TRIAL

Bedridden with paralysis as a result of gun shot wounds inflicted by her son, Mrs. Mathilda Woods, 64, of 1208 Ocala street, North Side, may have to be carried into Criminal Court on a stretcher when the trial of the son, George, 24, is started tomorrow. The mother is the principal witness against the son, who is held in the county jail on charges of attempting to kill.

The mother has been paralyzed since April 9 when she was shot in the back while at work in the kitchen of her home. She was confined to the Allegheny General Hospital until three weeks ago when she was removed to her home and placed under the care of social workers. Woods was held for court several days ago by Alderman Ray Schneider, of the North Side, and, according to police, he is said to have confessed the shooting.

PITT STUDENTS TAKE TO AIR

The biggest "air party" ever staged in Pittsburgh got under way from Bettis Field this afternoon as a feature of senior week at the University of Pittsburgh. More than 175 students and faculty members among the 300 who made up the party signed for flights over the downtown district and the university campus.

The students were permitted to select their own planes, and each ride was for about half an hour. The members of the party also were taken on an inspection tour of the airport hangars. The planes and pilots were furnished by the Curtis-Wright flying service, and officials of the concern conducted the inspection tour.

Water Front Park Plans Approved

Approval of the plans for a water front park and all year recreation center in the vicinity of Squaw Run Valley has been given by the City Planning Commission. The Chamber of Commerce's proposal for such a park was presented to the commission by James F. Malone, a member of the planning body.

Such a park would be located close to the filtration plant on the Allegheny river bank, near Aspinwall. It would afford facilities for aquatic activities, at present impossible.

Life-Saving Medal For First Aid Man

Ralph L. Jones, night first aid man at the James H. Reed power station of the Byllesby Engineering and Management Corporation, will be presented the National Safety Council president's medal for saving a workman's life, at a meeting of foremen in the Alcoma Country Club tonight. He saved the life of Guiseppe Giovengo, who was overcome by gas on Brunot Island January 1.

Death of Infant Being Investigated

County detectives and deputy coroners today were conducting an investigation into the finding of the body of a baby boy near an embankment off Bluff street, Scott Township, last night. Frank Kasovitz, 14, of 18 Division street, Scott Township, playing in the vicinity, discovered the body. The infant was believed to have died from natural causes.

Pittsburgher Dead In Massachusetts

Edward J. McKibben, 33, an engineer of 4108 Seaford street, was drowned yesterday at Fall River, Mass., according to word received here this morning. He was an engineer on the barge Hallowell and fell into the harbor while painting the sides of the barge.

LEAP FROM CAR AFTER ARREST

Jumping from an automobile while being taken to the Carnegie Police Station, Edward Barry, 25, of Pittsburgh, was being hunted by borough and city police today. Barry was one of six men arrested in connection with the alleged slugging of Henry Weinstein, of Kirwin Heights, after the car in which the six were riding crashed into Weinstein's automobile.

Barry resisted arrest, police said, but was placed in the rumble seat of a police car after having been subdued. While patrolmen drove to Carnegie, Barry jumped and escaped, according to a police report.

The other five men were to be given hearings today before Justice of the Peace A. W. McMillen, of Carnegie.

Weinstein, police said, was knocked through a window of his home when he went out to obtain the license number of the car that struck his automobile, which had been parked in front of his home. Lieut. Harry W. Keisling and a squad of Carnegie police were summoned and arrested the quintet.

Those arrested said they were Ronald E. McDonald, 32, of 1108 Liverpool street, alleged driver of the car; William M. Boyle, 30, of 1344 Montezuma street; A. Scholle, 27, of 712 Lomond street; Otto Graff, 30, and Eugene Graff, 34, both of Perry highway.

ANNUAL HORSE SHOW ATTRACTS SOCIETY TO SEWICKLEY

The Camera Question Box

The Sun-Telegraph's "Camera Question Box" each day will ask a question of public interest to Pittsburghers and will photograph those interested.

Today's Question: A Cleveland jury has decreed that a surgeon must pay six cents for a kiss he is alleged to have stolen from a woman patient. Do you think that is a fair price?

Miss Riley

MISS JEAN RILEY, East Liberty: Why shouldn't she be paid for her kisses? Why give them away when you can get paid for them? Kisses are a commercial proposition nowadays and that woman should have gotten plenty.

J. W. HICKS, Squirrel Hill, druggist: They don't rate very high, do they? She oughtn't to get a cent. Kisses aren't worth anything these days.

J. W. Hicks

Miss Emminger

LAVERNE EMMINGER, East Liberty, clerk: Sure, that's fair. If I knew the man, of course, I could tell more about it. Maybe she was lucky.

ELIZABETH PATTERSON, Squirrel Hill, florist: I wonder if that was the first time she's ever been kissed. Sounds like a gold-digging proposition to me. I'll bet the "doc" got a thrill out of it.

Miss Patterson

E. Markowski

EDMUND MARKOWSKI, Lawrenceville, clerk: She shouldn't charge anything. She ought to be glad she's good looking enough to have a kiss stolen from her. That's one doctor that stayed kissed.

MISS L. HILE, East Liberty, teacher: I do not. It just depends—maybe the doctor was cheated. It depends on who the kisser is, too. But that's what she has kisses for,—to be stolen.

WOODRUFF AVE. EXTENSION ASSURED

City Will Make Improvement If County Commissioners Refuse to Undertake Job

Council will improve Woodruff avenue—the extension of Saw Mill Run boulevard into the city—provided the County Commissioners fail to do so, according to a promise made yesterday to a group of business men.

Pleading lack of immediately available funds, President of Council John S. Herron suggested that the delegation try to persuade the County Commissioners to improve Woodruff street, which is reported in terrible condition.

COST $258,000

Chief Engineer Charles M. Reppert was instructed to accompany the delegation. He told the meeting that the cost is estimated at $258,000 and that the improvement is absolutely needed to keep the Saw Mill Run project from coming to a dead end.

"Pittsburgh pays 63 cents of every dollar collected in county taxes," Herron said. "Perhaps the commissioners will be willing to co-operate with us in this work. If not, when the speakers step on a temporary stand and the bands play to dedicate the boulevard, they will have spent a lot of money on an improvement that ends nowhere."

ACTION ASSURED

On behalf of Council, Herron promised that if the commissioners would not take action the city would start the ball rolling by next Tuesday.

"We will have to do it if they don't," said Herron.

The delegation included Henry Meuschke, Edward Snodgrass, A. H. Burchfield, Walter Rosenbaum, W. H. Newmeyer, Edward Young, Henry Tranter, John Rice, J. L. Thompson, Harry Barr, James T. Fox, John Phillips, W. D. Cotterell and Wallace E. Randolph.

SPROUL GIVEN TENT PERMIT

The Rev. John W. Sproul, who earlier in the week was refused a permit to erect a Glory Barn in Munhall, was prepared to open a series of services in Homestead tonight. Burgess John Cavanaugh granted a permit to the evangelist yesterday.

Sproul's tent was erected last night in a section of the playgrounds owned by the Homestead School Board in Seventeenth avenue and Mifflin street. The school directors concurred to the permit being granted when it was agreed the Glory Barn tent should be available to children in event of rain during play hours.

The evangelist will broadcast over his radio station WMBJ from the tent, it was said today.

STORES OFFER SCHOLARSHIP

Several scholarships valued at $400 each will be awarded to Pittsburgh high schooy students attaining high scholastic standing by the Kroger Grocery and Baking Company.

DESERTED BABY CHEATS DEATH

A five-pound, new-born baby boy found in a courthouse washroom and rushed to the Magee Hospital in the hope of saving its life, rewarded its protectors today with a smile. Physicians said it was thriving and would live.

The little boy was blue when it arrived at the hospital yesterday, but responded to restoratives and in a few hours the child was pronounced as strong as the average new baby. Miss Agnes Cadzow, the foundling's nurse, brought it forth and the baby opened one eye shyly and made a face when its photograph was taken.

The mother of the child has not been identified. Attaches of the courthouse yesterday noticed a well-dressed young woman loitering for an hour or more in a washroom on the fifth floor.

After she departed the newborn babe was found in a wash bowl. Detectives began a search for the mother.

STATE'S COAL OUTPUT LEADS

With a tonnage of 42,303,000, Pennsylvania, during the first four months of 1930, led six other states in the mining of bituminous coal, according to a bulletin issued by Frank Shaffer, manager of the natural resources division of the Chamber of Commerce.

This was more than 2,000,000 tons over the production of West Virginia, the closest rival.

The tonnage of Pennsylvania this year, however, according to the report, was 4,600,000 tons less than the same period last year, 671,000 tons less than the first four months in 1928 and nearly 14,000,000 tons less than the same period in 1923.

The tonnage for the five other bituminous states for January, February, March and April this year, other than Pennsylvania and West Virginia, follows: Illinois, 19,685,000 tons; Kentucky, 17,950,000 tons; Ohio, 7,247,000; Indiana, 5,779,000; Alabama, 5,590,000.

Local River Men To Hear Ashburn

Gen. T. Q. Ashburn, chairman of the board of the Inland Waterways Corporation and an executive of the Federal Barge Line, Washington, will be the principal speaker at the first get-to-gether and entertainment of the Propellor Club of the United States Port of Pittsburgh. The gathering will be held in the Fort Pitt Hotel tonight.

The club, organized several months ago to promote and support an American Merchant Marine, has a membership of 60. Many of the members are executives of local concerns who ship their products by river. Gen. Ashburn, an authority on river transportation, will talk on the success of the barge line on the Mississippi and Warrior Rivers.

EQUINE BLOODS STEAL SPORT SPOTLIGHT

Sharp Competition Expected To Mark Exhibition of Thoroughbred Animals

The blue bloods of society used blue-blooded equines to steal the local sports' spotlight today, when the Allegheny Country Club's horse show, the annual blue ribbon event of its kind in this state, got under way on the club's Sewickley Heights grounds.

From 9:30 this morning, when 3-year-old hunters inaugurated the competition, until 5:20 Saturday afternoon, when the show will be concluded, more than 200 thoroughbreds will be put through their paces by exhibitors seeking to share in the rich prizes offered.

Major interest is centered in the competition in the Corinthian class, in which the John C. Oliver Challenge Cup, the most highly prized trophy of the show, is at stake. Dr. Ralph Lynch's Westmoreland Lad, 1928 victor, and Richard K. Mellon's Windsor, winner last year, again are entered in this class and will be out to recapture the show's highest honor.

$27,500 HORSE ENTERED

Roxie Highland, for which Miss Mary Piers, of Oklahoma City, Okla., gave $27,500, the highest price ever paid for a saddle horse, heads the long list of out-of-town entries.

W. C. Stevenson and Arthur White, Middleburg, Va., and C. L. Cook, Shelbyville, Ky., are other prominent visiting exhibitors.

Judging will be conducted in 70 divisions during the six sessions of the show. The imposing prize list totals $7,550 in cash and $1,350 in trophy costs.

JUDGES AT SHOW

Lewis E. Waring, New York, and Claude L. Pemberton, Elizabethtown, Ky., are to judge saddle horses and ponies; Dr. A. C. Randolph, Bluemont, W. Va., and George B. Elliott, Toronto, are to judge hunters and jumpers, while harness horses and ponies will be judged by Mrs. John Gerkin, Brooklyn. Thomas W. Clark, Edgemont, will judge the farm horse class.

The executive committee comprises the following group of prominent horsemen of the district: Henry Clay Bughman, Jr., chairman; Richard K. Mellon, William B. Schiller, Harvey Norton Van Voorhis, William Penn Snyder, Jr., W. C. Robinson and T. McGee Graham.

Van Voorhis heads the ring committee and has as aides Mellon, Snyder, John O. Burgwin, J. H. Childs, Harry Darlington, Jr., Malcolm McGiffin, W. W. Willock and B. F. Jones III.

Street Car Accident Victim Asks $20,000

Carl McGuire, of 25 Prescott street, one of the 19 victims injured May 29, when a car of the Pittsburgh Railways Company jumped the track at Brookline Junction, has brought suit against the company for $20,000 damages.

In his statement of claim filed in Common Pleas Court, McGuire says he boarded the car in Dormont and that the motorman was running at a high rate of speed and not taking proper precautions in its operation. As a result of the accident, McGuire was injured on the left leg, back and received internal and other hurts. He is represented by Attorney John Wirtzman.

Mt. Oliver Blaze Destroys Garage

Two double frame garages in Burk way, Mt. Oliver, were destroyed and two dwellings were damaged by fire which broke out in the garages last night. The flames from the garages, occupied by Peter Bronder and Peter Egler, spread to the homes of Peter Larson, at 215 St. Joseph street, and John Quiring, at 217 St. Joseph street, damaging them slightly. The loss was estimated at $1,500.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Society Folks Acclaim Spirited Horses at Sewickley Ring

Very gay and animated, indeed, was the scene in the Allegheny Country Club show ring today at the horse show, which will continue tomorrow and Saturday. Green and white pennants and gayly colored bunting added to the festive air of the occasion and everyone knows that spirited horses like those displayed in the show ring are always a cause for admiring exclamations.

Although there were not so many folks there this morning the attendance was much larger during the afternoon. And this morning I saw Mrs J O Burgwin wearing a green crepe dress with stripes of darker green and with the popular short sleeves and sun-tan back. Mrs Eugene S Kipp was there too wearing a knitted ensemble of lavender with a sleeveless white blouse and a white felt sport hat. With her was her young son William Kipp.

Mrs. Frances Burke Rodgers was there too wearing white crepe, with brief sleeves very tailored, with a white hat of coarse baku. Little Jane Stevenson of Middlesburg Va was there and Mrs. Lewis A Park and Mrs Simon T. Patterson too and they were wearing riding habits. Mrs H. E. Bughman Jr was with them, wearing a rose crepe ensemble and a hat of eggshell straw.

Seen In Boxes

Sitting in her box viewing the horses was Mrs H Norton Van Voorhis, wearing a dress of black and white dotted crepe and a black baku hat.

Mrs James McKay wearing pale green linen with a cape collar trimmed with mother-of-pearl buttons and an eggshell picture hat was sitting in a box with Jane Allderdice who wore yellow linen embroidered in several contrasting shades. And the dress was sleeveless. With them was Dean Marsden.

And I noticed Mrs David I McCahill in her box with her two daughters, Marguerite and Marie and they were all wearing riding habits. I saw Eleanor Kerr too. And I caught a glimpse of Mary Eleanor Steitz in a box wearing a dress of yellow crepe and a white flannel coat.

The James Francis Burkes will be hosts at a dinner for out-of-town guests attending the horse show tomorrow evening.

And Mrs Frances Burke Rodgers and Mrs James Scott Burke will entertain the same evening at a dinner in the Country Club in honor of the out-of-town guests.

To Wed June 11

Every day during this glorious month of June will be chuck full of weddings and plans for weddings-to-be. For a long time we've known of many of the weddings to take place this month, and added to this lengthy list are new dates just made known.

Another bride of June will be Elizabeth Corey Ziegler of Penn avenue, who has chosen Wednesday, June 11 as the date for her marriage to Frederic Ballard Westervelt, son of Dr and Mrs Henry Clarkson Westervelt, of Westminster place.

The ceremony will take place in the chapel of the Calvary Episcopal Church with only the families present. Harriet Westervelt, sister of the bridegroom-elect, will be maid of honor and Peter Westervelt will be his brother's best man.

The morning of the wedding Mr. Westervelt will be graduated from the University of Pittsburgh Medical School. He and the bride-elect will make their home in Washington.

Miss Lena Westervelt and Miss Marian Westervelt, of Heberton avenue, will entertain with a dinner in their home Saturday night in honor of their nephew and his fiancee.

June Bride

St. Paul's Cathedral was decorated with white peonies, ferns and palms for the wedding at 11 o'clock this morning of Ursula S Reilly, daughter of the Eugene S Reillys, of Wightman street, and Joseph Harding Gillespie, son of Mrs Ann Gillespie. The Rev. Vincent Burke was the officiant.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of cream satin fashioned with a bolero, long tight-fitting sleeves and a full skirt reaching the floor. Her veil was of old lace, an heirloom in the bride's family, and her bouquet was of calla lilies.

Her only attendant, her sister, Mrs. B. Meredith Reid, wore coral printemps crepe chalon fashioned with tight-fitting long sleeves and a skirt reaching the floor, and a hat of straw in a deeper shade of coral and carried yellow and pink roses.

The mother of the bride wore green crepe Elizabeth and a beige straw hat and a shoulder corsage of orchids; the mother of the bridegroom wore blue flowered chiffon and a blue straw hat with a corsage of orchids.

James Gillespie was his brother's best man and Leo Gillespie and David A Reilly, brother of the bride, were ushers.

Debut Plans

And more and more plans are being made for debuts to take place during the "little season" and for the fall season and even for those to take place in the winter. There are five Sewickley girls planning to make their bows to society during the "little season." They are Madelaine Alexander, Nancy Scott Craig, Virginia Willock, Elizabeth Pontefract Childs and Barbara Perry Irwin. The date for the debut of Elizabeth Booth Miller, who's the daughter of the William Booth Millers of Pine road, Sewickley, although still indefinite, probably will be an event of the Thanksgiving season.

The last of June will bring another bride that I already know of. She is Ruth Martin, daughter of Mrs James Stephen Martin, of Walnut street, and she will marry Richard Kheun III of Sewickley, on June 24. Their engagement was announced only last month. The ceremony is to take place at 8 o'clock in the evening in the Martin home, with the Rev Dr Edwin J. Van Etten, rector of the Calvary Protestant Episcopal Church officiating. And there will be a small reception afterwards.

* * *

Bridal Party

Ruth will be given in marriage by her brother, Lieut Com Carl K Martin, of California. Her matron of honor will be her sister, Mrs R G Rhoton, of Norfolk, Va, and her six bridesmaids will be Mrs. J Scott Thornton, of Sewickley, Mrs John Vance Booth, Mrs. William Charles Albertson and Mrs Bernard K Shaner, of Pittsburgh, Mrs. Wiley M Caldwell, of Beverley Hills, Cal., and Mrs Dudley W. Rice, of Cleveland.

And the best man is to be Richard Kheun, father of the bridegroom-elect. The ushers will be Douglas D Loree and Charles E Irvin, of Ann Arbor, Mich, J Scott Thornton of Sewickley and John W. Logan of Philadelphia.

After a wedding trip in the North Mr Kheun and his bride will live in Orchard lane, Glen Osborne.

* * *

Several parties have been given in honor of Miss Helen Andrews, daughter of Mr and Mrs Joseph C Andrews, of South Braddock avenue, whose marriage to Grosvenor Cramp, son of Mr and Mrs S G Cramp of Crafton, will take place on June 16 in the Highland Presbyterian Church. Saturday Miss Alice McConahey gave a luncheon in her home in North St Clair street, and on that same evening Mrs F L Handy gave a dinner for the bridal party in her home in Pennfield place.

Miss Mary L. Hampton will give the rehearsal dinner tomorrow.

* * *

June Wedding

Last evening Miss Maude Altha Cook, daughter of Mr and Mrs Royal Ellsworth Cook, of Wilkinsburg, became the bride of John Gordon Inglis, son of Mr. and Mrs Walter Inglis, of Atwood, Ontario, in the ballroom of the Penn-Lincoln Hotel. Officiating was the Rev. Joseph L Fisher, of the Central Christian Church, Pittsburgh, assisted by the Rev Parke B Kurtz of the Callender Memorial Church of Wilkinsburg.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a princess gown of ivory satin and a tulle veil caught with orange blossoms. She carried calla lilies. Miss Helen Cook, who was her sister's maid of honor, wore nile green crepe and the matron of honor, Mrs. Donald F. Alexander, another sister, wore peach crepe. They both carried talisman roses. Miss Lois Miles and Miss Elizabeth Calvin, the two bridesmaids, wore similar gowns of orchid and blue crepe and carried Joan Hill roses.

Malcolm D Ross, of Pittsburgh was the best man, and the ushers were Henry E. Dralle, John H. Ashbaugh and Donald F Alexander, of Pittsburgh. Cass Ward Whitney sang and Homer C. Wickline Jr., played the wedding music.

After the ceremony there was a reception and dinner.

Mr and Mrs Inglis will spend their honeymoon in Canada and after August 1 will live in Savannah avenue, Wilkinsburg.

On Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock Miss Mary W. Craig, daughter of Mrs Amy S Craig, of South Graham street, became the bride of Ferris Parker Smart, of Bayside, L. I. The ceremony took place in the home of the bride's brother, Robert S. Craig, of Lanview street, Squirrel Hill, with the Rev David Lang officiating.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, wore a yellow organdy frock with a hat of nile green. Her bouquet was of pernet roses and blue delphinium. Mrs. Robert S. Craig was her sister-in-law's matron of honor and only attendant, and wore a gown of blue flowered chiffon.

After a motor trip Mr and Mrs. Smart will live in Bayside.

Church Wedding

Miss Kathryn Packard, daughter of Mr and Mrs W. D Packard, of Dravosburg, yesterday morning became the bride of Thomas A. Donaldson, of Washington, at 8:45 o'clock in the Dravosburg Methodist Episcopal Church, with the Rev. Roy Erheart officiating. E T Burdette, of Washington, was the best man and Miss Katherine Pabord, of Pittsburgh, was the maid of honor. The bride wore a simple blue tailored traveling suit with matching hat, and a corsage of gardenias. Her maid of honor wore a blue crepe suit with a hat of beige straw and a corsage of yellow roses and lilies of the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Donaldson left for New York and will sail Saturday for Bermuda. They will make their home in Washington later. Mrs. E. T Burdette, of Washington, was among the out-of-town guests.

Librarians To Attend Conclave

Several members of the local chapter of the National Special Libraries Association will attend the annual convention in San Francisco June 18 to 21. Miss Adeline Macrum, librarian of the Tuberculosis League, is president of the local chapter, and Miss Esther Fawcett, of the fine arts library, Carnegie Institute of Technology, is secretary.

The convention, which is the first ever held by the association on the Pacific Coast, will bring together librarians and research workers from chambers of commerce, museums, newspapers, factories, public utility concerns, investment houses and state and government bureaus from many cities.

The Special Libraries Association, which had its origin in 1909 in the meeting of research workers, bibliographers and librarians, has grown hand in hand with the growth of specialization and investigation in industry until it now numbers more than 1,100 members. In the larger cities there are local groups, with membership ranging from 50 to 200 and the association has members in 11 foreign countries as well.

William Alcott, librarian of the Boston Globe, is president of the association and Thomas Cowles, librarian, Academy of Science, San Francisco, is convention chairman.

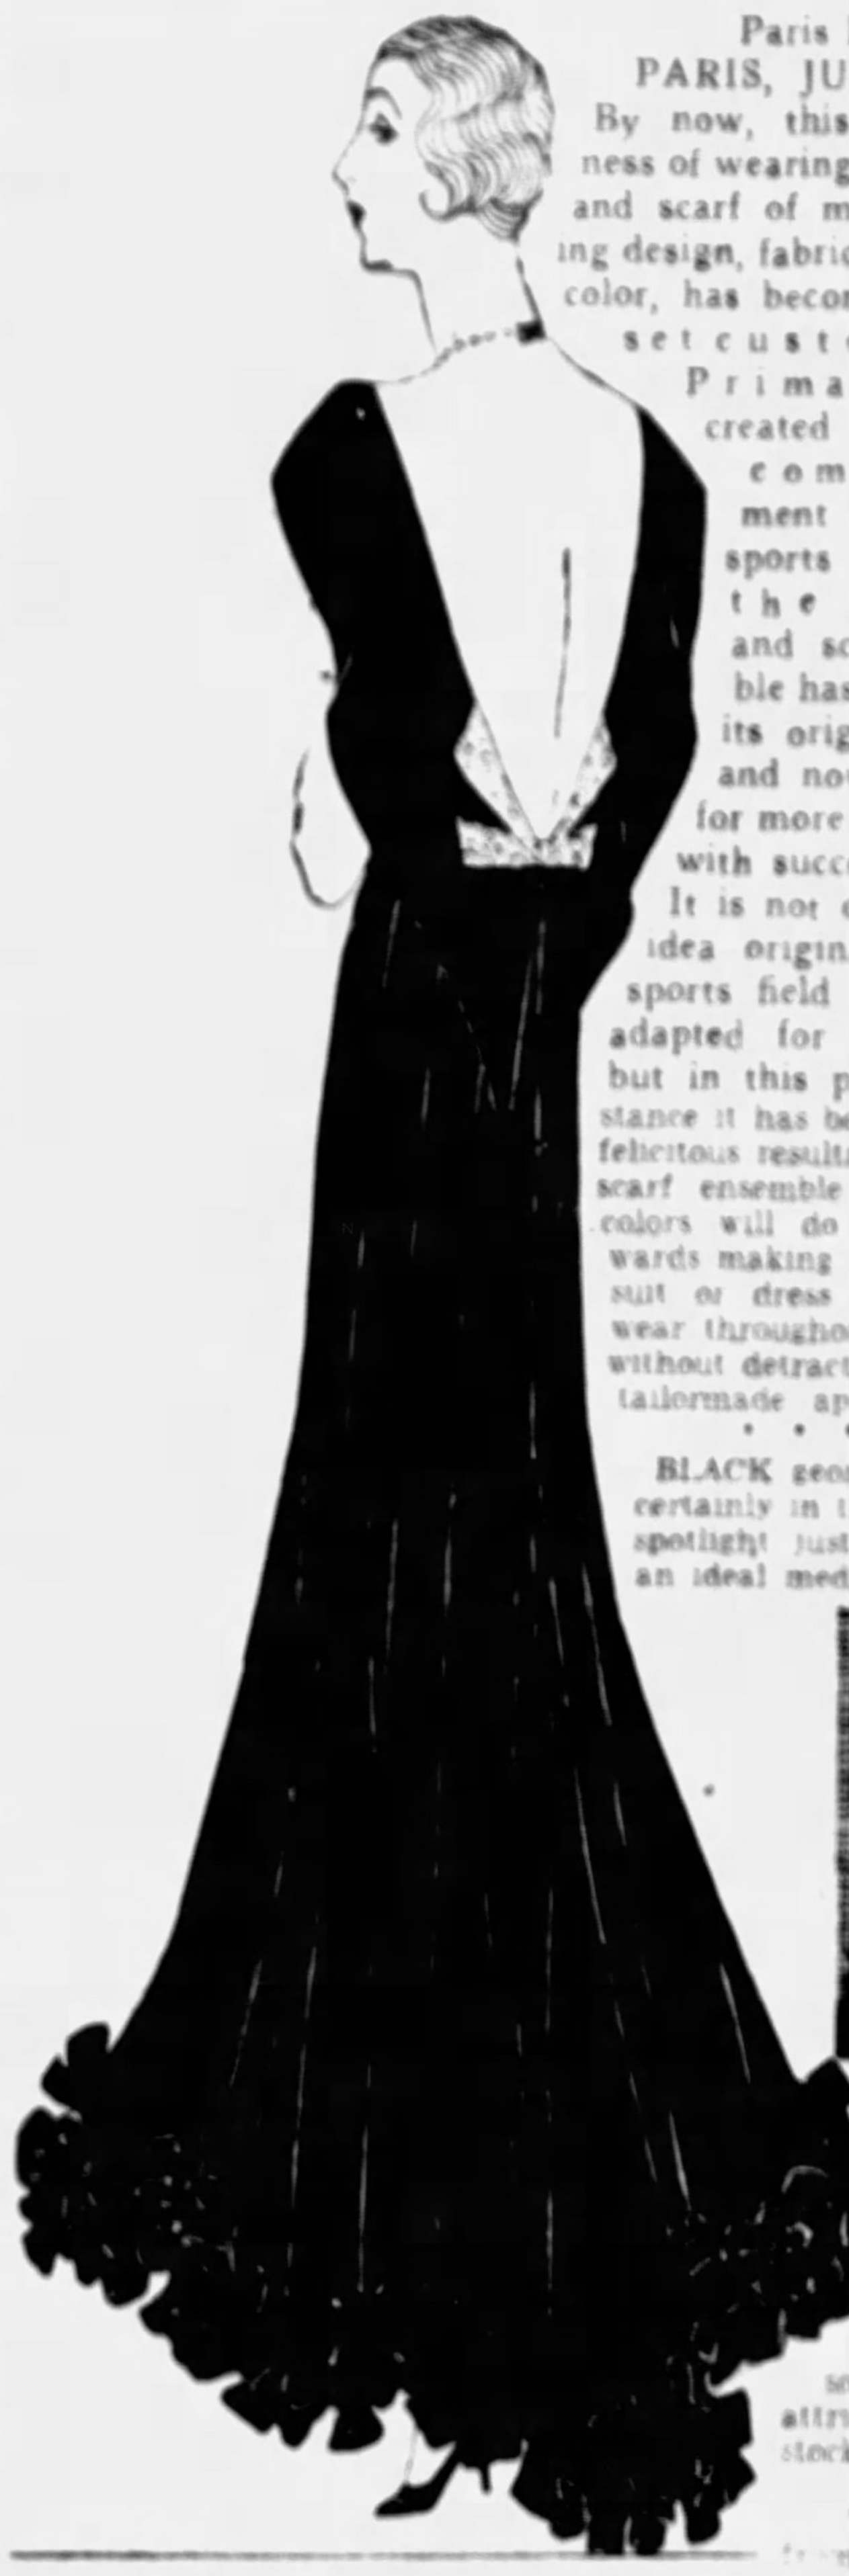
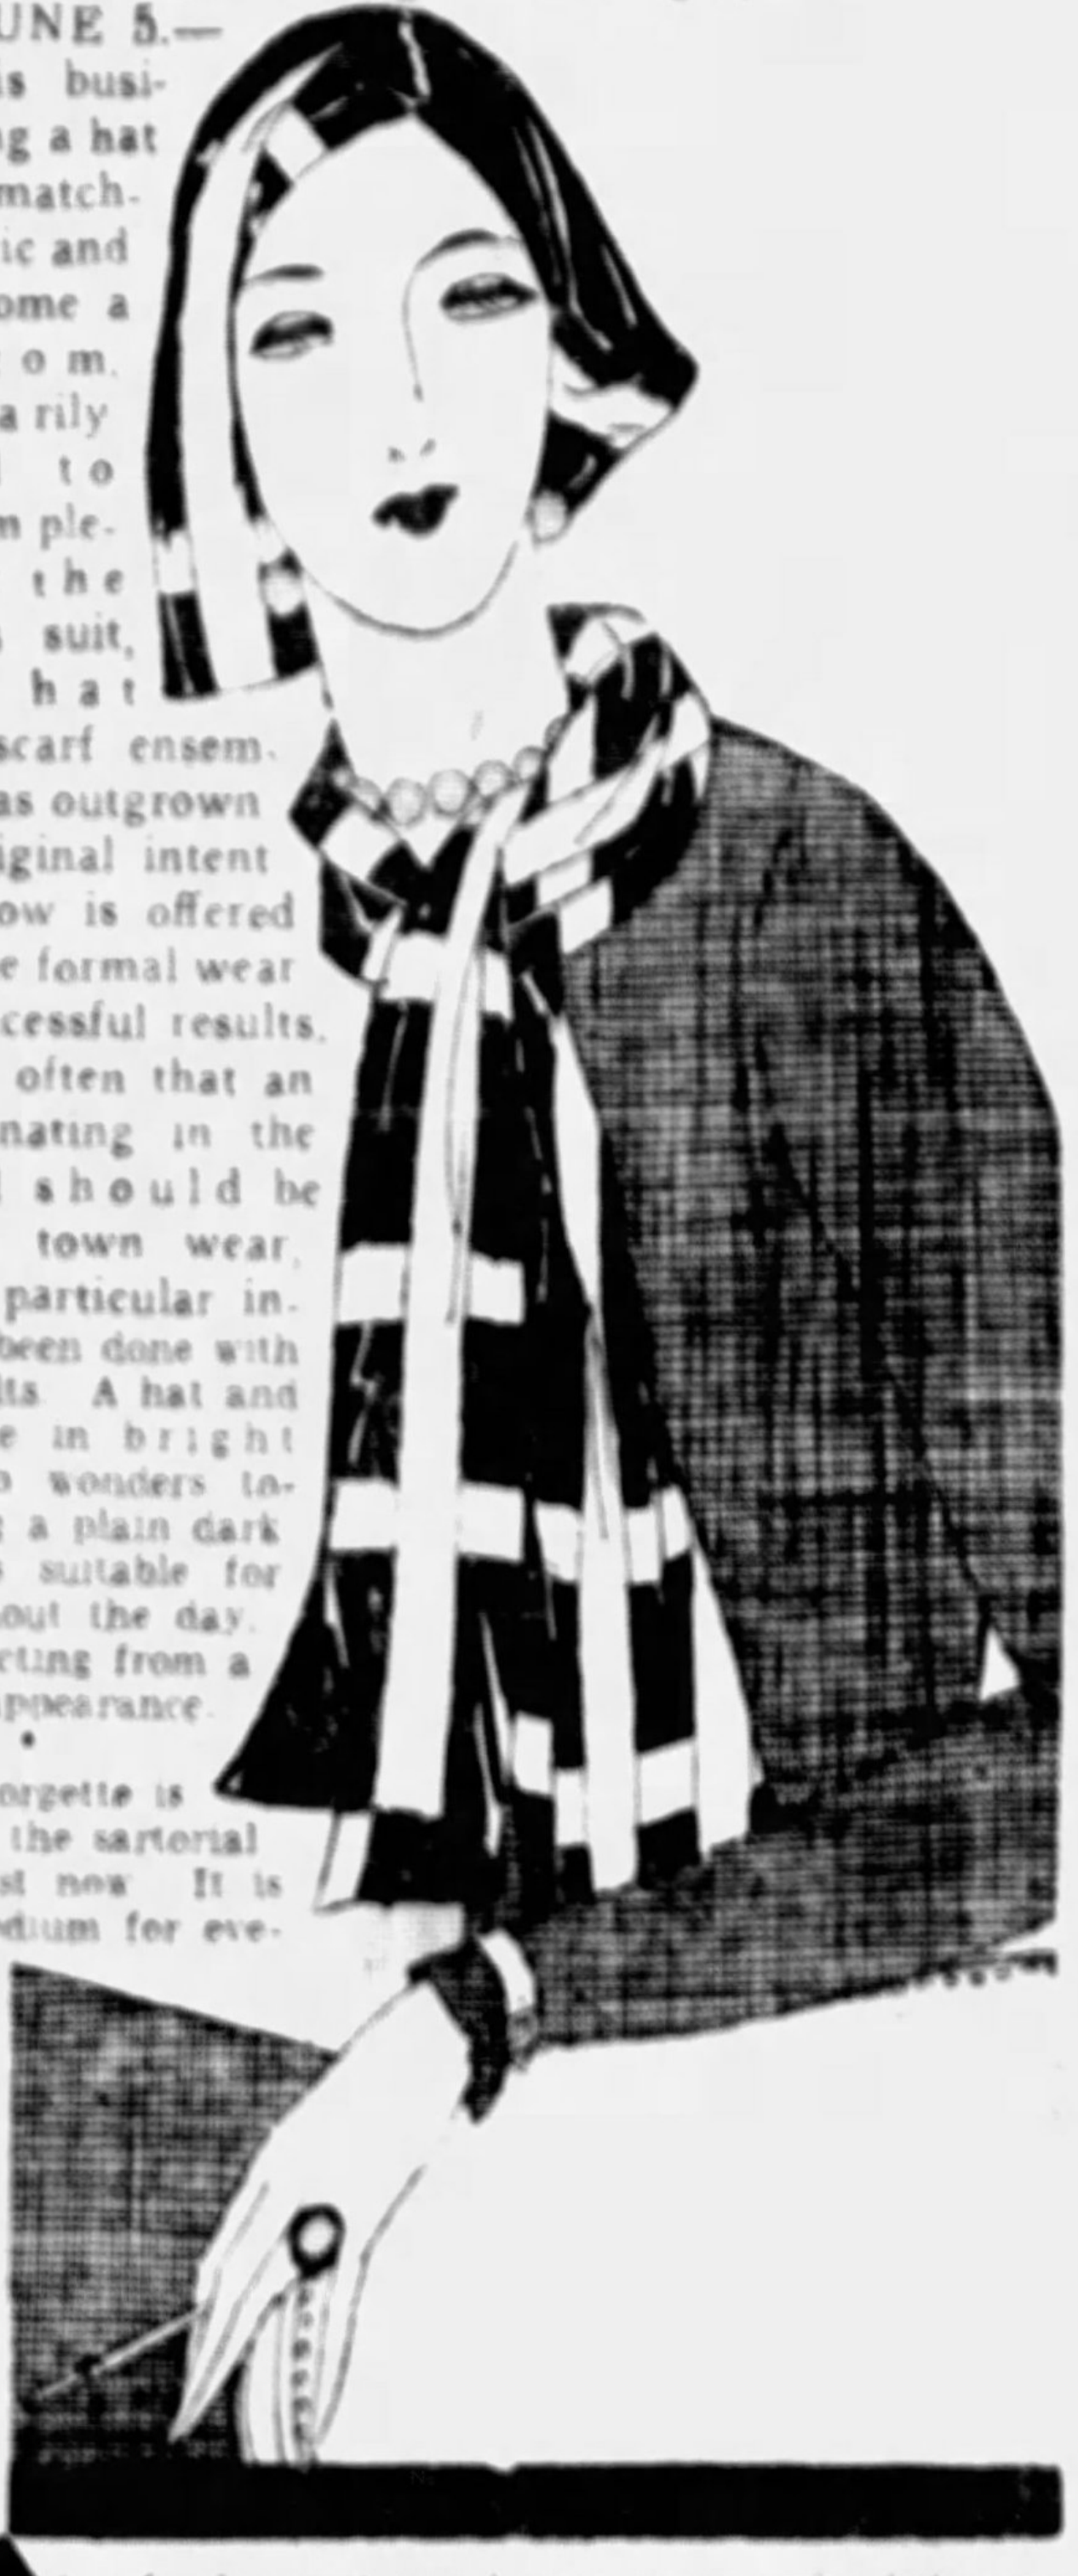
There will be special music and a pageant, "The Cathedral of Memory." Mrs Arthur L. Schieber, the president, will be toastmistress.

HAT AND SCARF ENSEMBLE ADAPTED FOR TOWN WEAR

—Sketched in Paris—





Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, JUNE 5.—By now, this business of wearing a hat and scarf of matching design, fabric and color, has become a set custom. Primarily created to complement the sports suit, the hat and scarf ensemble has outgrown its original intent and now is offered for more formal wear with successful results. It is not often that an idea originating in the sports field should be adapted for town wear, but in this particular instance it has been done with felicitous results. A hat and scarf ensemble in bright colors will do wonders towards making a plain dark suit or dress suitable for wear throughout the day, without detracting from a tailormade appearance.

* * *

BLACK georgette is certainly in the sartorial spotlight just now. It is an ideal medium for evening frocks as it is a happy compromise between the quite sheer and the heavy, close woven fabrics. The ideal black georgette frock is cut on long, graceful lines and is devoid of ornamentation save for a touch of strass or a jeweled belt buckle, relying on originality of cut and design to create the frock. Such a dress will do satisfactory duty throughout a season and always look the part, an extremely useful attribute, by the way, even in these days of well-stocked wardrobes.

* * *

THE SKETCH of the hat and scarf ensemble is from an Agnes model. It shows a draped toque and scarf of heavy black satin barred and plaited in shades of light blue. Turned back from the face the striped brim of the turban is drawn and cut at the sides and lays flat at the nape of the neck.

* * *

THE CHARMING Worth evening frock was worn by a beautiful American woman at the recent concert given by the New York Philharmonic Orchestra at the Opera House here, where music and the mode mingled to the vast satisfaction of a huge and distinguished audience.

The frock is of black georgette with a bertha that passes over the shoulders and edges the deep V shaped and very wide decollete. The skirt is fitted closely over the hips but widens gradually to form flaring godets of irregular length edged with a taffeta ruching. An embroidered ornament in strass is placed at the deep point of the decolletage in back.

Whale Leads Very Sad Life In His Pullman Car, But Worth $3,000

By GEORGE SEIBEL.

George Seibel

AS YOU WALK along Penn avenue near the Fort Pitt Hotel, you smell something. It is the Whale. There on a railroad siding he lies, embalmed like an ancient Pharaoh. Once he roamed the wide Pacific, laughing at the swordfish who were trying to puncture his hide—now he is being carted from town to town in the hottest sort of weather and exhibited to the gaze of the disrespectful multitude, who ask whether his name is Jonah and whether he was in the movies of "Moby Dick."

What good does it do him to live in a Pullman and hear the lecturer tell 60 times a day that he is worth $3,000? He can't spend it. What does the lecturer mean by telling everybody that a whale's throat is so narrow that an orange would choke him? Nobody tries to feed him.

And to hear how valuable Ambergris is, extracted from the intestine of the whale—and used in making the most delicate perfumes—is but slight solace to this Whale, who knows he is in bad odor and needs the perfume himself.

To be an embalmed Whale in hot weather is not an enviable state. It was bad enough to live on tiny shrimps around the Komandorski Islands but at any rate you could turn over on the other side once in awhile and spout.

DENIED THAT DIVERSION

But the Whale is being denied even that diversion by the lecturers who lay bare all the secrets of his family life 60 times a day.

The Whale doesn't spout water we are told.

It is only hot air.

After the Whale has been under the water for some time he comes up to breathe. He expels the warm air in his lungs. This condenses just like your breath in January. That looks at a distance like a spout of water and everybody calls out: "There she blows!"

That lecturer is a dreadful iconoclast. He shatters all our illusions. Even whalebone is not bone at all, but a horny growth like our fingernails.

And how must the poor Whale feel to hear that he makes good chickenfeed and fertilizer?

FUNDAMENTALISTS SHOCKED

The lecturer doesn't care either how much he shocks the Fundamentalist who inquires whether the Whale could swallow Jonah. He insists that it could not swallow even an orange without choking.

"But," says the Fundamentalist, "the Bible says the Whale swallowed Jonah."

"The Bible says it was a fish, and the whale is not a fish," insists the lecturer, who is up on both theology and ichthyology.

"But the New Testament plainly says it was a whale," declares the Fundamentalist, "so a whale must be a fish and must be able to swallow a man."

Whereupon the lecturer announces that the baby whales are born alive, one every four years, and so the Whale is a mammal, like the Elephant and Man.

Then he shows how the Whale is harpooned with a barb that has several bombs in it, and he shows the "killer whale," also embalmed, which likes to lunch on whale tongue, and he tells us the Whale is nearly blind and must have little pilot fish to guide it.

It's a sad life the Whale leads even in his briny lair. No wonder he turns mostly to blubber.

WALTER WINCHELL On Broadway

Discard

It seemed so strange to see you once again
  And talk of silly things and take my leave,
Indifference was not so hard to feign,
  For once, my heart was not upon my sleeve.

You dropped a hint about the newest lad,
  You let me know that I was quite passe;
To tell the truth, my dear, I felt real glad
  When you allowed me to pursue my way.

I drank my fill of you as you talked on,
  It struck me that your dress was rather drab;
That little simper you rely upon
  I fear would shortly turn me to a crab.

Oh, well, our whole affair was just a waste—
Thank God that time develops better taste!
—Ex Sap.

Love Is a Terrible Thing

There probably isn't a more interesting cynic than Dorothy Parker, whose poems you've enjoyed. And she is the victim of most anecdotes dealing with skeptics. This one best describes her point of view. And her bitterness.

The so-called modern parents of a 3-year-old girl decided to throw a cocktail party in the child's honor. The local literati, including Miss Parker, were invited. When the poet entered the apartment she played with the cute baby and helped the darling erect a tall building of blocks.

An hour or so later when the cocktails aroused Miss Parker's cynicism, she went over to the child and with one kick shattered the tot's neatly fashioned tower.

"There, now, you happy little thing!" said Dot bitterly before she wept furiously, "that gives you a rough idea how the world goes!"

Heheheh

J. C. Flippen, of the vaudeville bills, was among those at the racetrack Saturday. He was groaning about his luck.

"Yes, indeedy," he yes-indeeded, "I bet on a horse!"

"How did it finish?" he was asked.

"I don't know," he replied. "There's a reward for it."

Gag

Take it from Al Jolson. A 16-year-old flapper was held for murdering her lover. When the police notified her mother (who had been tilting with her husband for months), the mother nonchalantly ankled into his bedroom and sarcastically said:

"Well, I have some good news for you about your precious daughter. She's murdered a man!"

"That's fine," was the old boy's retort between yawns. "The next thing you know—she'll be smoking cigarets."

Pardon Her Lorgnette

She was once a Ziegfeld girl and she married and divorced a musician in a well-known orchestra twice. Her name appeared among other news items here recently and she was irked, no end. In a Broadway night club the other sunup she was buried under a mess of orchids and resembled a well-kept grave, but she complained about her name appearing here anyway.

"Why do you write about me?" she cooed. "I've given up the stage and am no longer a part of Broadway. I'm on Park Ave. now and such things annoy me."

Reporters, she was told, never break the news until people make the news.

"Well," she replied, stiffly, "please don't mention me any more. The sort of people I mix with now might misunderstand."

The following night she was saturated with laughing soup at the Central Park Casino and she unfolded a mess of profanuage.

"Please," called out the same reporter from a nearby table, "try and remember that there are gentlemen present!"

Her escort apologized to his other guests for her and revived a favorite paraphrase, to-wit: "You can take the girl out of the Follies but you can't take the follies out of the girl."

Things That Tickle Me Pink

George Washington University has gone to great length to crow over its Glee Club's winning of the intercollegiate Glee Club Sing, which was held here last month.

But what the collitch will dislike very much is seeing this fact recorded in printer's ink. The university would not finance the glee boys for their trip to New York to compete. The club members, it appears, managed to scrape enough coin and contributed it, with the lads stinting themselves to make each coin count.

Then, to the joy of the student body, and the mortification of the administration, they won!

It's little things like that that make long paragraphs like these.

Show Business

It is a strange profession, show business. Take the case of the two girls who came from the Coast 10 years ago and crashed the Broadway heavens with their song and dance act. The singer, however, wasn't as lucky as her dancing partner, who was deluged with show offers. She quit the partner to be a feature in a revue. Her success continued for a long while, but temperament and clashes with producers finally blew her down.

The singer-partner recently got a break and became a vaudeville headliner. The singer sent out a call to the casting agencies, asking for a dancer to fill in while she made wardrobe changes.

Her former partner was among those offered—salary no object!

One Must Live

Rudy Vallee's power over women is not to be questioned. But the countless girls and grown-up women who are breathless whenever his name is mentioned will now probably envy Madelyn Killeen, a Broadway colleen to whom Rudy is most grateful these days.

The papers just recorded the fact that Rudy has discovered he can sing without a megaphone, but more amazing is that he now can dance!

Well, it was Madelyn Killeen who taught him how to hoof—in two days, and she was rewarded with a small job in his unit.

Madelyn Killeen now in a movie house unit! Two years ago she was featured in big hits.

LEADS IN SALES

BECAUSE IT LEADS IN QUALITY

You don't buy gasoline on sentiment . . . you buy it on sheer performance merit and maximum money's worth. . . . That's the rule with practically every motorist. So it must be the principal reason why, year after year, Atlantic Gasoline leads all other brands of motor fuel sold in Pennsylvania.

Melville Brown to Direct Talk Film Featuring Amos and Andy

HOLLYWOOD, June 5.

Hollywood's directorial plum has fallen into the capable hands of Melville Brown. He will direct "Amos 'n' Andy," twin sensations of the broadcast world, in Radio Pictures' sentimental musical show "Check and Double Check."

The leading feminine role opposite Charles Buddy Rogers in "Heads Up," the musical comedy which will go into production soon at the Paramount New York studio, has been assigned to Margaret Breen. While this will be Miss Breen's first appearance in talking motion pictures she has had considerable experience and success on the stage. Her first important roles were in "The Duchess of Chicago" and "Peggy Ann." Last season while under contract to Schwab & Mandel the titian-haired mezzo-soprano scored as the ingenue in "Good News." Other Paramount featured players who have been assigned to the cast of "Heads Up" include Helen Kane and Victor Moore.

Helen Kane

Joan Marie Lawes, 8-year-old daughter of Warden Lewis E. Lawes of Sing Sing prison, has been engaged to act in pictures under a long term contract by the Fox Film Corporation. Her first appearance on the screen will be in "Up the River," a comedy of prison life written directly for the screen by Maurine Watkins and to be produced under the direction of John Ford.

SIGNS NEW CONTRACT

George Hill, whose newest directorial vehicle "The Big House" has aroused considerable enthusiasm on the West coast, has signed a new contract with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Hill's productions include "Tell It to the Marines" and "The Flying Fleet." He has spent several months in work on "The Big House," a prison story with a cast headed by Wallace Beery, Chester Morris and Robert Montgomery.

HERE'S THE ANSWER!

Discovered—why directors carry megaphones!

Lowell Sherman is directing as well as playing an important role in Radio Pictures' all-talking society drama "Lawful Larceny," starring Bebe Daniels.

Lowell Sherman

Sherman carries a small megaphone when directing. But he never uses it.

Asked why he carries it Sherman explains that as an actor he has become so used to loafing between scenes that he has to carry the megaphone as a reminder of his directorial responsibilities.

STRAIGHT DOWN!

Lon Chaney boasts a hunting cabin in the Sierras that was almost as much work as the pyramids. The building material was hauled by ropes to a high peak, workmen camping in tents erected the structure and a special road had to be built to reach it. It has its own electric light and gas plant. The nearest habitation is two miles away—mostly straight down.

PENN THEATER PLANS ALL-PITTSBURGH STAGE SHOW

A booster show composed entirely of Pittsburgh talent will be presented in the Penn the week of June 20. The show will be known as "Greater Pittsburgh Follies" and it is to be offered under the auspices of the Loew organization.

The production will afford local boys and girls opportunity to appear in a professional performance.

Louis K. Sidney, formerly manager of the Aldine and now at the head of Loew's production departement at the Capitol Theater, New York, will supervise the Pittsburgh show. He will be assisted by Arthur Knorr, another Pittsburgher and a graduate of Carnegie Tech, who now is director of the Capitol Theater stage shows.

Persons interested in appearing in the production may secure application blanks at the Penn, it is announced.

Metrotone News Shows Race Smashup

One of the most spectacular motion pictures ever made is contained in the current issue of Hearst Metrotone News now being shown at leading theaters throughout the country. It shows the smash-up of six racing cars which happened during the running of the 500 mile classic at Indianapolis and which was won by Billy Arnold, who attained the speed of 100.4 miles per hour. While the cars were whirling around the track at almost unbelievable velocity the six unfortunate autos came together. Several of them are shown in the air before they settled down in a tangled heap.

Also in the current issue of Hearst Metrotone News is featured the flight of the Zeppelin which arrived in New York after its 13,400 mile voyage from Germany via South America. There are talks by Dr. Hugo Eckener, famous skipper of the equally famous dirigible, and by Lady Drummond Hay, celebrated writer for the Hearst newspapers and a veteran of many Zeppelin trips, including the one around the world.

There is also in this issue a thrilling picture of "Red" Hill, who rode the Niagara rapids in a barrel and lived to tell the story; pictures of Helen Wills triumphing in a tennis match at the Stadium in Paris, the Southern California University winning over the East in athletic contests at Cambridge, Mass., and others.

Night Rifle Range Shooting Success

FRANKLIN, Pa., June 5.—Rifle shooting at night is working successfully on the Reno range. Six 100-watt lamps illuminate the targets.

THE OFFICE WIFE

—By FAITH BALDWIN—

anything anxious only to help her pull herself—and the situation—back to normal.

"Run along now. Don't give me another thought."

"No, no," she said hastily, a little recovered. "I'll stay. I'll be all right. The letter must go."

"I'll see to that. Mr. Sanders' secretary can take it for me. I can get along for the rest of the day," he assured her.

"Thank you, Mr. Eaton."

She went into her own office and he heard the pitiful, unlovely sound of her quiet but obvious sniffling as she took down her well-cut coat from the rack and jammed an expensive unbecoming hat over her reddened eyes. A moment later he heard the outer door close, that door which she guarded, behind which she sat, alert, to keep him from any intrusion.

Eaton returned to his desk and relaxed in his chair, his legs stretched straight before him, his hands deep in his pockets. He frowned, whistled once or twice softly to himself, found his mind framing profanities.

What the devil ailed her?

It was not the first time during the last year that hysteria had flown a warning signal. Latterly, she had been close to tears much of the time. If he spoke to her somewhat brusquely; if, as occasionally happened, appointments became confused or messages forgotten she would cringe as if he had struck her when he merely called minor mistakes to her attention—and her pale, anxious eyes would fill with tears.

A Quick Decision

Decides to Get a New Secretary

And she fussed over him so of late. Was he tired? Must he work so late? Couldn't she stay on? Should she send out for crackers and milk? Was he coming down with a cold? She'd been far worse than a wife—than his wife, at any rate, for Linda, superbly healthy herself, thought such discussions better left to doctors and nurses.

Confound it, he couldn't have Andrews around any more—if he and she were going to get on each other's nerves at this rate!

He came to one of his characteristic quick decisions. He would give her a long leave of absence and, at the end of it, dismiss her. Meantime he would have to break in another secretary, no small task or pleasing thought. And he would find a place for Janet Andrews in another office.

But he hated to let her out. She had served him well and loyally. It was difficult to understand the recent change in her. Yet, was it so difficult?

Eaton shrugged as if to shake off an irritating burden. There was, to any thinking man, a natural, even simple, answer to Janet Andrews' present state of mind and emotions. But Eaton was too decently masculine, too removed from personal vanity, to wish to admit that answer even to himself.

A Close Friend

Eaton Glad to See Jameson

Then, with relief and compunction, he remembered Jameson, cooling his heels in the reception room. He picked up his telephone, was connected with the black-haired girl, and a moment later Jameson came in.

Eaton liked Jameson, an aimable bachelor of his own age whom he knew well socially. And the call was not upon a business matter, Jameson's only business was finding new ways in which to spend his enormous unearned income. And Eaton was glad to see him today, if only to dismiss the problem of Miss Andrews from his mind for 10 minutes.

He greeted his friend, indicated a chair, offered a cigaret case. "Sit down, Dick. Sorry to have kept you waiting."

"'Sall right," answered Jameson easily. "My time's my own, thank the Lord!"

"And a father in Standard Oil!"

"Quite so. Too bad to barge in on you like this, but you're never at home, rarely at the club, and I haven't seen you since Hardy's bachelor dinner."

"That," remarked Eaton, with feeling, "was some dinner. A complete K. O. for most of us. But at that, Dick, you and I kept our feet, if not our heads, better than the majority."

"What have you been doing? The last plan I heard—at Hardy's dinner—was your solemn assurance that you would be charmed to fly to the South Sea Islands with that imported Viennese blonde who came in as part of the entertainment."

"Don't I remember it! Linda heard it, too, afterward. Tommy Norton heard—and told his wife. Hence Linda's information. She didn't take it seriously. No, I've not been to the South Seas. But I have been away a lot. Strictly business. No Strauss waltzes."

Jameson's Plan

Wants to Buy Property In Virginia

"So Linda told me. I mean, that you'd been away. She's much less uncomplaining than the average wife of the T. B. M. Very sporting, really. Now what I wanted to see you about is this. A baker's dozen of us are kicking in to buy some property in Virginia. There's a small disused inn on it which could easily be turned into a hunting club. We propose to put caretakers in, clean it up, hire guides to be on call and use it week-ends or longer.

"It won't cost much to get it started and to keep it going. I've the approximate figures here. You business men are mad on figures—any kind." He laid a slip of paper on the desk. "Think it over. Come in with us if you care to. Linda says it will do you good."

Eaton was smiling. "She does, does she?"

"I spoke to her about it at Hot Springs last week. Sorry you couldn't join her."

"I was sorry, too. I've been infernally busy. As to your proposal, I can't promise, Dick."

"Take your time; don't turn it down right off the bat," Jameson answered. "By the way, I ran into Harry Marsten at the Springs," he went on. "He told me you were handling his account."

"Working on the campaign now."

Speak About Janet

Eaton Is Puzzled by Jameson

"I see." Jameson looked keenly at his friend. "Larry, you look tired," he commented.

"I am tired. Tired of—"

Eaton broke off and laughed suddenly. If people ever wondered why the employes of this particular agency were so fiercely loyal to their chief, they would have been answered had they heard him laugh like that.

"What's the joke?" asked Jameson, grinning in sympathy. Occasionally women told him that Larry Eaton was the most attractive man of their acquaintance. And Jameson didn't doubt it, despite the usual difference of opinion between the sexes on the subject of masculine attraction. No, he didn't doubt it, though for personal reasons he would have preferred to believe that the ladies exaggerated.

"Joke? Oh, it's on me. It's the dickens the way a man gets to depend on his secretary, isn't it? Oh, I forgot—you don't work. You merely cut the coupons and get scissors cramps. But it happens that I've sent Miss Andrews home for the rest of the day and contemplate keeping her there indefinitely. She's been—splendid—but it looks as if she had outlived her usefulness here."

"I remember her. Wasn't she at your place in Southampton one week-end last summer? Tall, thin woman, not bad-looking really, if she'd only get wise to herself and take pains to put other people wise, too. What's wrong with her?"

"Nerves," said Eaton.

"Why don't you get a man?"

"I'd rather not. They're all right for traveling, but the work is just a stepping-stone to them—means to an end. They don't take the personal interest in it that a woman does."

Jameson smiled. "The trouble with your secretary," he diagnosed, "is, I should say, too much personal interest."

"Now what do you mean by that?" asked Eaton. His tone was quiet, even mildly indifferent, but his jaw hardened and his eyes were alert.

Powder Won't Hide Disgusting Pores

Now don't worry over large pores, unsightly blackheads, wrinkles and perspiration that makes the skin shiny and oily. Out in Hollywood they have the recipe for an amazing lotion that quickly corrects these flaws and makes the skin beautiful. It succeeds even when the finest special soaps and creams have failed.

The very minute you pat it on the face and neck it gets down deep into the skin and cleans out the dirt that solidifies in the pores and causes blackheads. Gently it tightens up the skin, erases wrinkles and closes the pores.

Soon, very soon this lotion makes the skin smooth, good-looking and thereafter keeps it youthfully fresh. You'll notice, too, that oiliness has disappeared and perspiration doesn't bother you any more.

Get 3 ounces of Orchard White from any druggist, mix it with the juice of 2 lemons. This gives you a full quarter-pint of the finest preparation you have ever used. Try it.

Note: In the summer this lotion keeps the skin soft, free from freckles and guards against that leathery look caused by wind and sun.

ONLY A DOCTOR KNOWS WHAT A LAXATIVE SHOULD BE

Danger lies in careless selection of laxatives! By taking the first thing that comes to mind when bad breath, headaches, dizziness, nausea, biliousness, gas on stomach and bowels, lack of appetite or energy warns of constipation, you risk forming the laxative habit.

Depend on a doctor's judgment in choosing your laxative. Here's one made from the prescription of a specialist in bowel and stomach disorders. Its originator tried it in thousands of cases; found it safe for women, children and old folks; thoroughly effective for the most robust man. Today, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, as it is called, is the world's most popular laxative. It is composed of fresh herbs and other pure ingredients. You can get it in generous bottles and ready for use, at any drugstore.

REDEEMED FROM MISERY AND HER HEALTH BUILT UP

Another Lady Finds Relief From Pain and Gains Health.

"I caught a severe cold last winter that seemed to settle in my kidneys. They grew very tender and caused my back to ache most of the time," said Mrs. S. Margien, of 171 W. Wylie Ave., Washington, Pa., when the World's Tonic interviewer asked her to tell her story for the benefit of suffering people. "When I got up in the morning my back hurt so I could hardly get around. During the night I often had to get up, and my back hurt so much I could not sleep. Secretions from my kidneys were often very scant and sometimes quite offensive in odor. There were times when my bowels would not move for two or three days. Little pimples broke out all over my back and face, and my tongue became furred and yellow. I noticed that often my breath was bad. My stomach troubled me from time to time, until finally I realized I was being slowly poisoned by the failure of my kidneys to carry off the impurities in my blood.

"Nothing I had taken for my kidneys relieved me much. One day my father said that there was no use in treating my kidneys alone, as the trouble had gone too far for that, and that what I needed was a general constitutional treatment that would build up my whole system. I did not know what to get, but just at that time I read an advertisement of World's Tonic. It told of a man who had been relieved of severe kidney trouble, and I determined to give this tonic a trial.

"I had taken the greater part of a big bottle before I realized that my bowels were much more regular. Then I noticed that the secretions from my kidneys were greater in quantity than they had been. The rash on my face and back healed up, and while the pain in my back held on for a little longer, that soon disappeared too. My breath was corrected, and my stomach digested my meals comfortably.

"After about four weeks treatment I realized what World's Tonic had done for me—how it had redeemed me from misery and built up my health. The more I think of it the more astonished I am to think that troubles of such long standing and severe nature can be overcome so quickly, and I tell my friends that World's Tonic is the most wonderful medicine made."

World's Tonic can be had of Dow's, May's & Laggett's, Mayflower, or of any other first class drug store. (A-22)

"THE MOST SERVICE AND THE BEST AT THE LEAST COST TO THE PUBLIC"
—BELL SYSTEM POLICY

"At the Least Cost"

In the telephone industry "the least cost" means:

Telephone rates low enough to make telephone service available to the largest number of people.

High enough so that workers and owners may be fairly compensated, and "to assure the continued financial integrity of the business."

Low enough so that the telephone service may continue to grow and thereby increase in value and usefulness to the user.

High enough so that today's service may be better than yesterday's, and tomorrow's service may be better than today's.

"The most service and the best at the least cost" is a fundamental in Bell System Policy.

This policy is evidenced by the maintenance of local service rates at a level which has permitted the most rapid growth in the history of the industry—in the face of increasing complexities which are inherent in a growing intercommunication service.

This policy is further evidenced by the very material reductions in out of town rates during the last four years.

SUN-TELEGRAPH TO SPONSOR GOLF AND TENNIS TOURNAMENTS

Here's good news for lovers of amateur athletics! The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph is going to sponsor two big tournaments.

There will be no entrance fees or other charges and the winners will be handsomely rewarded.

One of the events is the third annual William Randolph Hearst junior golf tournament, open to all players who are not older than the prep school age.

The other is a tennis tournament to crown the Pittsburgh Public Parks men and women champions and will get under way July 14.

The golf tournament needs no introduction. First staged in 1928, it was a howling success, and the large entry list of the first year was greatly exceeded last year. It will be staged this year on July 7, as before over the Schenley Park public links, City Council having passed a resolution giving over the course for the day to the junior stars.

No municipal parks tennis tournament has been held here for several years. In re-establishing the feature, the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph fills a long-felt need.

The tennis tournament will be played on the city parks courts, with the sectional winners meeting in finals and the singles winners being sent to the National Public Parks tournament at Washington, D. C.

With Carl Kauffmann, Pittsburgh has won the National Public Links title for the last three years. Will the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph's tournament be responsible for the development of a National Public Parks tennis champion?

See tomorrow's Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph for further details of these two interesting events, which promise to be among the big features of the summer sports campaign.

ONLY THIRD LEFTY TO BEAT DODGERS

PERHAPS IT WASN'T the greatest game of the year that Larry French pitched for the Pirates in checking the drive of Brooklyn's league leaders yesterday, but the fact that he defeated the Dodgers at all, even by so unimpressive a score as 12 to 6, is something that is worthy of more than passing mention in view of what the Robin crew has been doing to left-hand pitchers in general this season. For Larry is only the third southpaw to win a decision over the Flatbush crowd since the clubs pushed off in the 1930 pennant race.

Larry French

Before the season opened, the managers of rival clubs sized up the Brooklyn outfit as one that would be soft picking for fork-hand flingers by reason of the fact that four of the strongest hitters on the Robin roster—Babe Herman, Del Bissonette, Johnny Frederick and Harvey Hendrick—swing from the south side of the plate. This opinion became a conviction when Lester Sweetland, Philly southpaw, shut out the Dodgers in the first game of the campaign, and since that time opposing generals have been shooting left-handers at Robbie's army at every opportunity.

THEY HAVE LEARNED to their sorrow, however, that their dope was all warped. Prior to French's success yesterday, only two left-handers were able to beat the present first-placers. Sweetland did it twice, only to be trimmed twice in return by the Robins, and Bill Walker, of the Giants, did it once. In a total of 18 meetings with enemy southpaws, the Robins have been victorious 14 times against only four defeats.

And the Dodgers have not only defeated left-handers 14 times in 18 games, but in 12 of the 14 instances the opposing southpaws were batted off the rubber and failed to go the distance. The only lefties to last the limit against Brooklyn were Sweetland twice, and French, Walker and Bill Hallahan once each. The Robins have beaten Sweetland, Carl Hubbell and Eddie Brandt twice each, and French, Walker, Hallahan, Jess Petty, Eppa Rixey, Clarence Mitchell, Harry Smythe and Al Grabowski once each.

YOU CAN'T OVERLOOK George Grantham when you're naming off the year's big hitters. The Pirate second sacker is having the best batting season of his life and is right up among the National League leaders, his two hits yesterday having boosted his average to .388.

Up to today, Grantham had batted safely in 15 consecutive games, and had not been held hitless since Benny Frey stopped him on May 17 at Cincinnati.

George Grantham

THAT'S THE LONGEST streak of sequential hitting placed to the credit of any Pittsburgh player this year. The previous record was nine straight games, held by Paul Waner and Ralston Hemsley. Charley Engle was credited with eight up to today. Adam Comorosky's best was seven, Fred Brickell's was six, while Gus Suhr and Dick Bartell each had a run of five. In the last 15 games Grantham has hit exactly .500, with 29 safe blows in 58 times at bat. In the same period he has scored 19 runs. He leads the club in hits, runs, homers and walks and is pressing Comorosky closely for first place in driving runs across the plate.

THOUGH THE BUCS rallied and won a game in time to keep up their record of not having been pushed below the .500 mark this season, their fielding slumped again. After an errorless game on Tuesday, only their eighth of the year, the Rovers skidded anew to the extent of five misplays, four of them being charged to Engle at shortstop. That makes 13 errors by the Pirates in the last four games, and 23 in the last eight games.

At that, the Ensmen were not nearly so sloppy in their fielding as the league leaders, the Robins committing no fewer than eight foozles, the season's record. Such off days appear to be accepted by the fans according to the way a club is going. If a team while crippled or in an unfortunate slump makes four or five errors it is razzed to a frazzle, as were the Bucs at Forbes Field last Saturday, yet the Dodgers, because they are leading the league, got away with eight boots yesterday without getting a riding from the home crowd.

THIRTEEN ERRORS IN one game would appear to be just about the limit in major league atrocities, but the Robins and Bucs did not break any records. The White Sox and Tigers made 18 in a game in 1903, and the Pirates and Cards committed 15 in 1902, as did the Boston and Chicago Nationals in 1904. The record for errors by one club in a game is 12, set by the Tigers in 1901 and duplicated by the White Sox in 1903. The National League record is 11, made twice by the Cardinals.

Charley Engle

Nor did Charley Engle crack any standing figures in making four slips at shortstop. John Hallinan, of the New York Nationals, made seven errors at short in 1876, and the mark was tied by George Smith, with Brooklyn in the American Association in 1885, and by Judson Smith, with Buffalo in the American League in 1900. The record since 1900 is five, made twice by Charley Babb and once by Phil Lewis.

TOO BAD ABOUT those crippled and helpless Cubs. Some assistance should be rushed to them without delay. Since they were reduced to such a sorry state that the critics of the country were practically a unit in counting them out of the pennant chase, they haven't been able to do a thing more than win seven games in a row and threaten a lot of batting and scoring records. In winning those last seven games up to today they scored 72 runs and made 91 hits for a total of 157 bases and a club batting average of .358, at the same time holding their opponents to 34 runs and a batting mark of .272. In their last three games the Bruins have scored 49 runs and made 51 hits for a club batting average of .418.

A query comes from "Pirate Fan" as to how many players ever made more than three home runs in one major league game, a feat that has been accomplished three times each by Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig, twice by Lester Bell and once each by 20 others.

Two players have made more than three homers in a game. They were Bob Lowe and Ed Delehanty, each of whom made four home runs and a single in a nine-inning game. Lowe did it for the Boston Nationals against Pitcher Elton Chamberlain, of Cincinnati, on the afternoon game of Memorial Day, 1894, and Delehanty, while with the Phillies, equaled the performance against Pitcher Bill Terry, of Chicago, on July 18, 1896.

JORDAN BOXES M'TIERNAN TONIGHT

By HARRY KECK,
Sports Editor.

Two boxing shows are on tap for the fans of Western Pennsylvania tonight—at Hickey Park, Millvale, and in the armory at Little Washington.

Buck McTiernan, of Swissvale, tops the Hickey Park show, the third of the outdoor season there, with Irish Tommy Jordan, of Brooklyn, serving as his opponent over the 10-round route. Jordan is a veteran who has met most of the famous men in the welterweight division and a few of the good middleweights as well. His opponents include Sergt. Sammy Baker, Tony Vacarelli, Andy DiVodi, Clyde Hull, Sailor Friedman and many others. He is tall and rangy and a good hitter.

Buck McTiernan Tommy Jordan

In the feature event at Little Washington, Harry (Kid) Brown, clever Philadelphia veteran, begins a campaign through Western Pennsylvania centers by meeting Sammy Harris, Negro, of Akron, O., in the main bout. Next Monday night, Brown boxes Johnny Smackey in one of the 10-round bouts at the Meyers Bowl, North Braddock, and the following Saturday he meets Joey Goodman, of Cleveland, at Conneaut Lake Park.

PEACHES IN SEMI-FINAL

The Hickey Park management looks for its best turnout, with warm weather favoring it for the first time. An eight-round bout between Peaches Gallagher, of Swissvale, stablemate of McTiernan, and Al Farone, of the West End, who knocked out Don Frazier last week, tops the preliminary program. In the two six-rounders, Georgie Bretsch, of the North Side, meets Ralph Monroe, Negro, of the Hill, and Billy Brent, Negro middleweight, of Chicago, boxes Hugh Fetzer, of the North Side. The first bout is scheduled for 8:45, daylight saving time.

Paul Oger boxes Freddie Edwards, Young Joe Walcott meets Jack Murphy and Joe Kerns tangles with George Bates in the six-round preliminaries at Washington.

EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF YESTERDAY: SWORD SWALLOWERS CAN SWALLOW A RED-HOT SWORD—The feat of swallowing a red-hot sword is accomplished by swallowing the scabbard first, and then inserting the red-hot blade into it. The sword must be removed before its heat is imparted to the scabbard. THE AXOLOTL—The most extraordinary thing about the Axolotl is that in its native Mexican lakes it never develops into an adult amblystoma, yet it becomes sexually mature in its larval state, and is able to reproduce when about six months old. When they are made to breathe air more frequently, or when placed in shallow lakes with wave-washed shores, they make the transformation into an adult salamander, and are capable of reproduction in their adult state.

BROOKLYN, June 5. — The Pirates are still in the first division today. While the Robins, their present foemen, do not feel very snug with their first-place honors on top of a diamond spectacle that made the Flatbush flaghunters appear as if they were kidding their loyal Brooklyn constituents.

The minions of Uncle Robbie rolled up a total of eight errors and the Pirates were charged with five yesterday as the Ensmen took the second game of the series, 12 to 6. The third and rubber game of the series will be staged this afternoon with Jess Petty and Big Jim Elliott on the slab.

LIVELY BALL AGAIN

Perhaps it was the lively ball that contributed to the comedy of errors. (Everybody will be using this Shakespearean appellation for the travesty on the national sport, so I might as well get in on it, too.) In any event, the Pirates won, so why worry about the four misplays charged to Shortstop Charlie Engle?

Some Boy Scout scoring gave Charlie an error on a Babe Herman grounder that should have been scored as a hit.

But to get back to the lively ball contention, you may be interested in a bulletin issued by Babe Ruth & Co., after the Yanks had performed against the Reds in Cincinnati.

"Take it from Babe Ruth & Co., the ball used by the National League this season is much more lively than the American League ball. And the boys aren't guessing, either. They're positive in the state-

FREEPORT SIGNS JOHN LAWTHER

By JESS CARVER.

The Westminster-Lawther-Wallace controversy came to an end yesterday with the announcement by the former Titan varsity basketball and assistant football and track coach that he had signed to coach all branches of athletics at Freeport, L. I., High School.

In tabloid, here is the history of the affair:

1927, 28, 29—Lawther turned out champion or near champion Tri-State Conference basketball teams at Westminster.

1929—Lawther, bedecked with the title of director of athletics, was not given a correspondingly increase in salary, comparable with the added duties of the post. Not so good.

1930—Lawther and President W. C. Wallace fell out and Lawther turned down a new contract and raise. Result—The resignation.

Lawther, one of the most popular coaches in the tri-state district, developed such stars as Ken Delahunty, Glenn (Babe) O'Donovan, Tudor Lewis, Red Crowell and Chuck Rice, and made the Titans so popular that they became the best drawing card in the conference.

O'Donovan, probably his outstanding pupil; Tudor Lewis, also a star of the first magnitude, and Marshall (Little Sleepy) Glenn, West Virginia ace, are mentioned as possible successors, with O'Donovan leading the field.

Coach Lawther mentored at New Wilmington High School prior to joining the staff at Westminster. He is a keen student of psychology and will study for a Ph. D. degree at Columbus University.

Glenn hardly will take the job because he's going to remain at dear old West Virginia and work for a degree. He's slated to become assistant varsity football coach and freshman basketball mentor.

Gus Suhr Proud Father of Baby Girl

BROOKLYN, June 5.—Gus Suhr, Pirate firstsacker, has more responsibilities today than he has had in his young life. Yet he is a happy athlete. The reason lies in the arrival of a six-pound baby girl at the Suhr home in San Francisco. Gus, a San Francisco boy, married a home town girl last summer.

Canzoneri, Nebo, Allie Wolff Win

NEW YORK, June 5.—(AP.)—Tony Canzoneri, battling his way back to the top of the lightweights, won the 10-round decision over Joe Glick, New York puncher, in the feature bout at Ebbets Field last night. Canzoneri weighed 132 pounds and Glick 137.

After being hit low in the fifth round and refusing to stop for an examination by the referee, Canzoneri came back to score two knockdowns and win the fight easily. Tony dropped his heavier opponent twice.

Allie Wolff, middleweight, scored a one-round knockout over Eric Lawson, of New York, in a scheduled six-round fray.

THE LOWDOWN ON THE BUCS

By THE BENCHWARMER.

BROOKLYN, June 5. — Well, folks, what would you say about the Pirates if they came through with eight kicks in one game at Forbes Field? That's what a big crowd of Brooklyn fans had to look at yesterday, but I guess there'll be 10,000 or more back today. We've still won more games than we've lost after all the trouble the team has had, and we're still hustling for victories even if Paul and Lloyd are both out. The fans around these parts seem to miss that family pair. I guess they must be popular birds in the East. Everybody seems to want to know when they will be back.

The fans around Brooklyn are just as hot as that ball was yesterday when the Robins were in the field. We have a lot of fun kiddin' with the spectators who think they're headed for a pennant. Well, Robbie is a great scout, but he'll have to show a lot of class to win the pennant this year. Them Giants are beginning to look like a ball club again and I guess the Cubs are out to show the world they can cope without the Rajah.

Ben Sankey, Bernard Walter and I are three of the gang that was never in New York before. And the days are not long enough, especially for Bernie. I wouldn't be surprised if he turns up missin' tonight when we leave for Boston. He's startin' to wander around in them awful subway stations.

That town Bernie comes from in Tennessee must be a knockout, and Ben Sankey's Alabama home town doesn't have to worry about traffic rules I guess. I've been around a little and I can steer them better than they could go if they were steerin' themselves.

We went down to Coney Island last night and had quite a time. A fella can step around in this town for a dollar and have a circus.

Local Polo Season To End Saturday

Pittsburgh's indoor polo season, the most successful ever to be held here, will be brought to a close Saturday night with a game between the One Hundred and Seventh Field Artillery trio and the Three Hundred and Eighth Cavalry team.

The Artillerymen, Cavalry, Pittsburgh Polo Club and Shady Side Academy have been staging polo battles every Saturday night at Hunt Armory, where Saturday's finale will be staged. The Cavalry outfit, undefeated, claims the city title.

Nick Altrock Says:

DETROIT, June 5. — The American League ought to have a third division for the Red Sox. If they go any lower they will strike oil. This Detroit team looks a lot better playing on the home grounds. Your Uncle Nick even feels much improved when he is only across the river from Windsor. I see old Grover Alexander is through with the big leagues at last. And when the Phillies release you you are certainly being let out the back door. It proves no matter how good you are you can't last forever. I suppose the day will come when your Uncle Nick will get released from literature and sent back to sign painting.

Commercial and Industrial League games feature the local sandlot card this evening. Two games between teams chasing the leading Reliance Life nine will be staged.

At Homewood playgrounds the B. & O. nine, with only one defeat, will tangle with the Mine Safety nine. The other battle finds the Reick-McJunkin aggregation trying to make up for that Monday night defeat by stopping Joseph Horne. Horne have been going at a steady pace and have lost some close battles. This game will be played at Sullivan Field.

In the West Penn League Dormont clashes with Verona, Whitaker meets Wilmerding and Universal meets Homewood.

CENTRAL RACE CLOSE

In the Central League, which outclasses all of the other leagues in the district in the matter of a tight race, finds Soho Board of Trade hooking up with Beckman Motors. Lutton has primed his club for this game, which means much to both clubs. Fintes clashes with the league-leading Lincoln Civics at Hartman Park and the third game finds Allegheny Collegiate tangling with Y. M. H. A. at Magee Field.

These three battles brings all of the leaders together and the standings will change after tonight's games.

In the Steel City League the East End Cardinals meet the Hale Club. Two games will be played in the City circuit which shows a rearranged schedule. W. O. W. will clash with Stowe at Stowe Field, and the J. L. Thomas nine travels to the North Side Civics to meet Art Rooney's club.

In the Minor League Melrose will tangle with the Jednota club.

W. O. W. VICTOR

Stowe failed to stop W. O. W. in the City League last evening, losing to the Cholko-led sluggers, 7 to 5. J. L. Thomas won over St. Johns, 5 to 3.

In the Greater Pittsburgh League, Verona defeated Whitaker, 5 to 4, and Homestead Aces defeated Edgewood by the same count.

Observatory Civics won over the Demore club 5 to 2 in the Steel City circuit. Iroquois defeated St. George, 11 to 2, in the Major League and in the North Side Twilight circuit Immaculate Heart defeated Blawnox, 4 to 1.

The Homestead Grays topped the independent card by marking up their forty-ninth triumph, defeating Etna, 14 to 2.

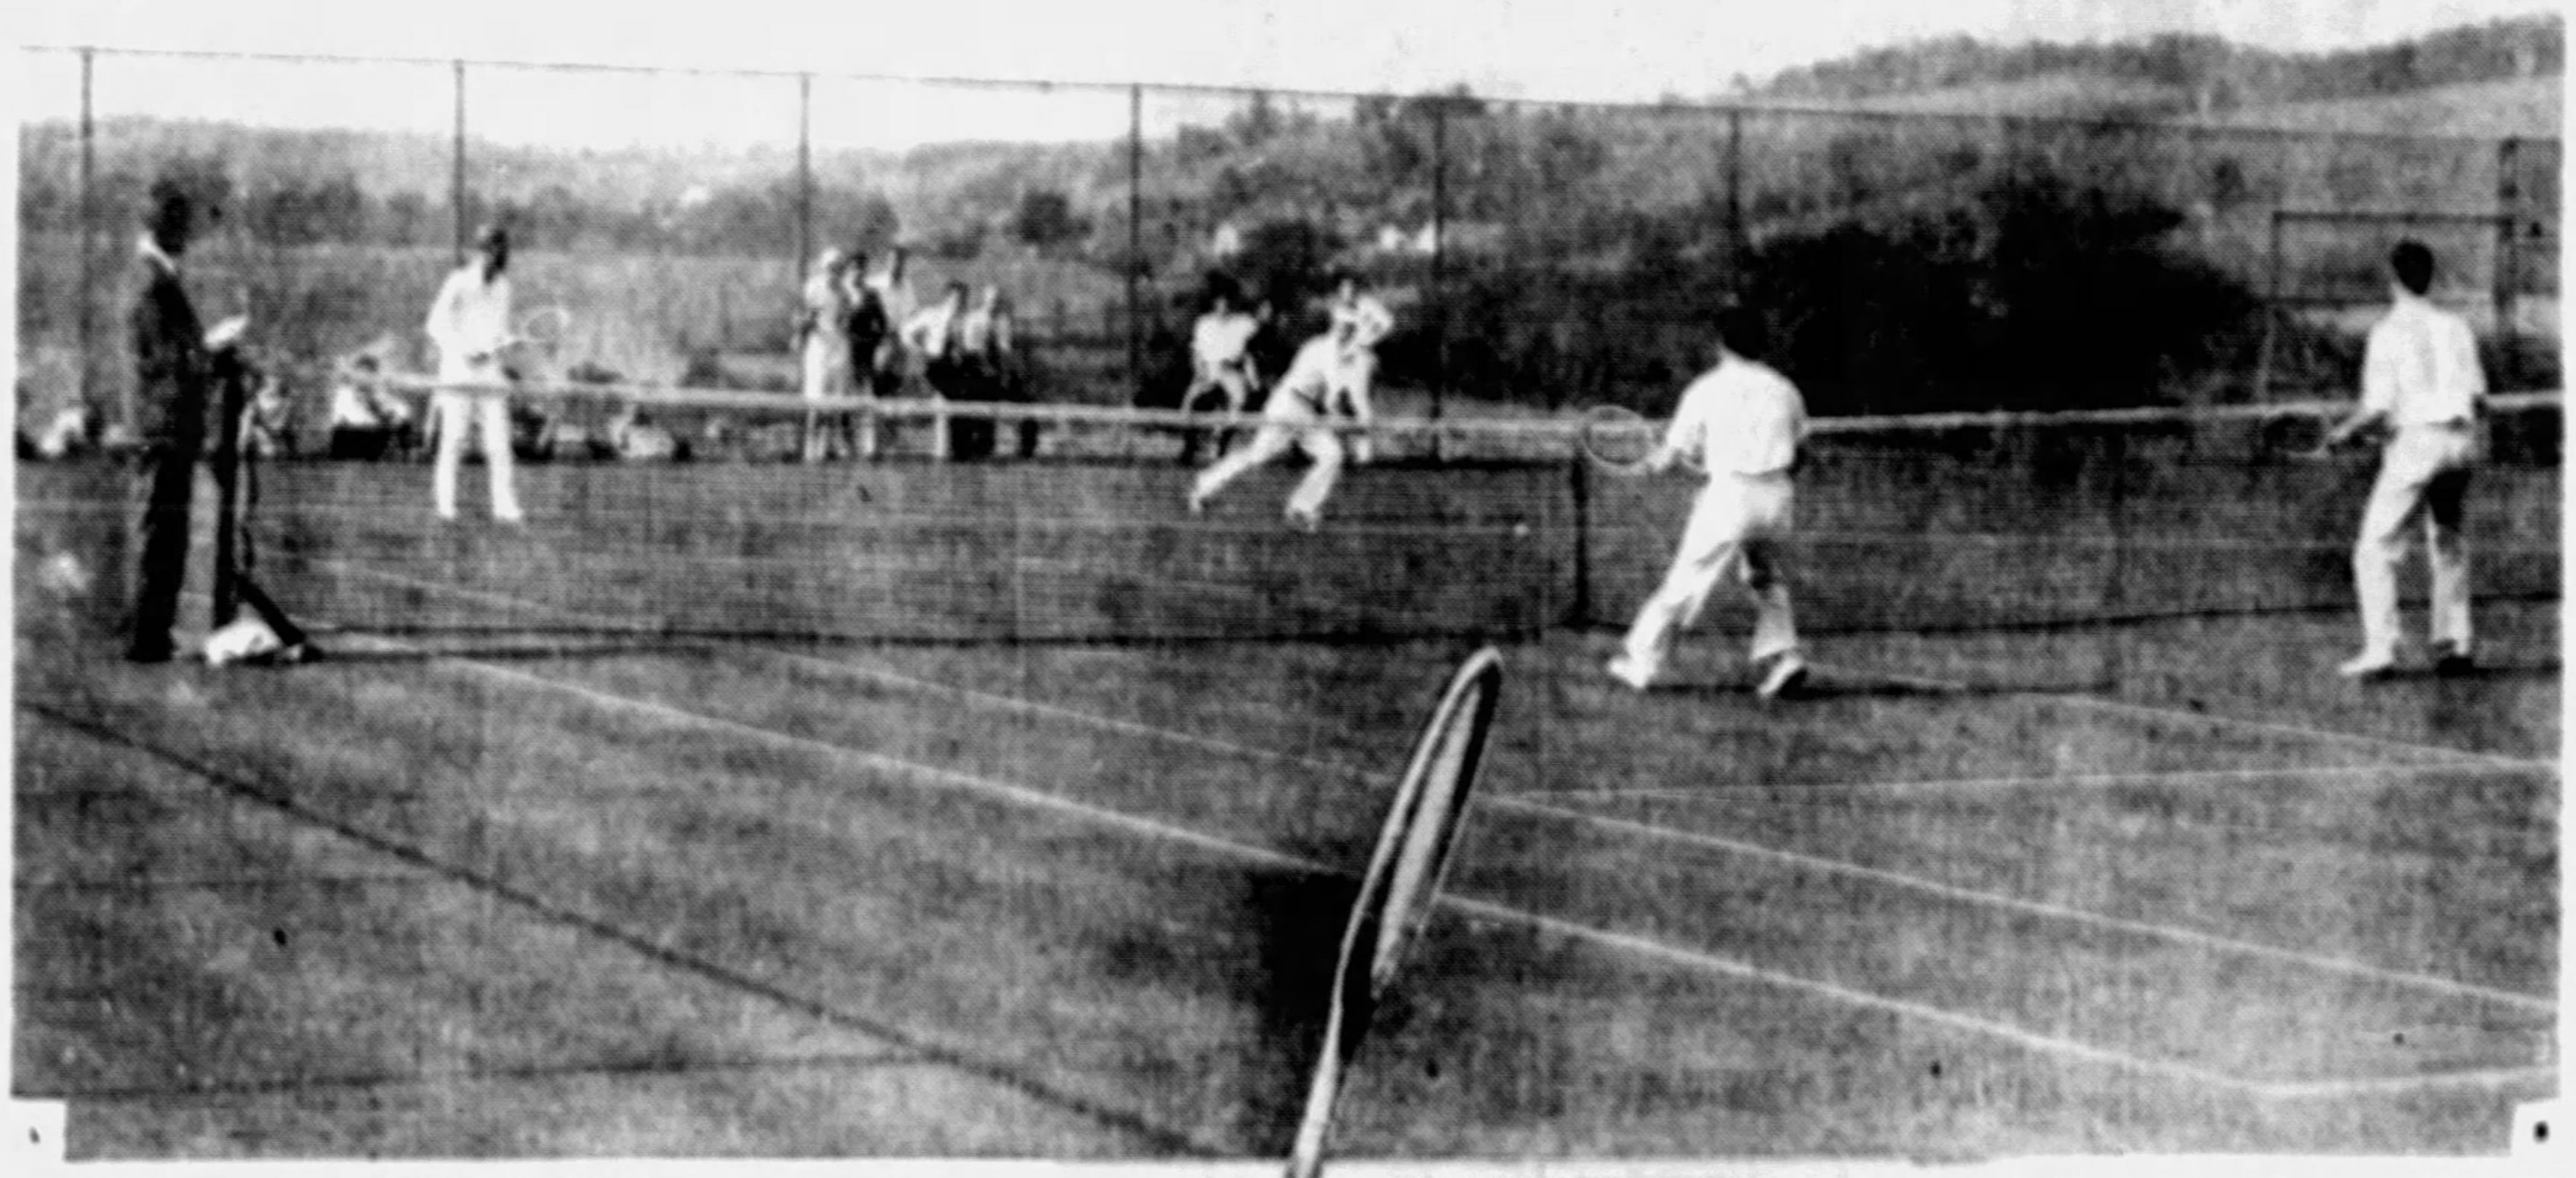
Stars in Court Duel Between Pitt and California



DOUBLES CONTEST

SCHOOL MEET UNDER WAY

As a result of its athletes winning all three of the senior preliminary events run off yesterday, South Hills High ruled a strong favorite to annex first honors in the annual Pittsburgh senior and junior high track and field championships and girls' field day at the Stadium this afternoon.

Haney won the discus throw and twelfth grade shot put, and Reichle annexed the senior 125-pound shot put to give South Hills 15 points. Other schools scored as follows: Peabody, 5; Westinghouse, 5; Langley, 3; Schenley, 2; Carrick, 2; Oliver, 1. The junior high scoring was: Langley, 6; Herron Hill, 3; Ralston, 1.

MANY STARS ENTERED

Milligan, Peabody sprint star; Powell, versatile performer from Schenley; Spencer, Fifth Avenue's high jumper; Lawrence, South Hills' miler, and Fleming, 440-yard dash star from Westinghouse, are outstanding athletes who attracted much interest this afternoon.

The summary of yesterday's events disposed of on the Schenley High field follows:

Discus throw, senior high open—Won by Haney, South Hills; second, Hamilton, Peabody; third, Rutenbeck, Carrick; fourth, McKee, Schenley. Distance, 100 feet 2½ inches.

Shot put, senior high, twelfth grade—Won by Haney, South Hills; second, Ware, Westinghouse; third, Milligan, Peabody; fourth, Milton, Schenley. Distance, 43 feet 10½ inches.

Shot put, senior high, 125-pound class—Won by Reichle, South Hills; second, Carr, Langley; third, Cipolla, Westinghouse; fourth, [illegible], Oliver. Distance, 38 feet 6 inches.

Shot put, junior high, ninth grade—Won by Trussinger, Langley; second, Rosenthal, Herron Hill; third, Parsons, Ralston; fourth, Walk, Langley. Distance, 43 feet 3 inches.

CONROY VICTOR

Conroy School, of the North Side, piled up 28 points to win the annual public school track and field meet at the Schenley High field yesterday afternoon. Beechwood School, of the South Side, was second with 26 points; Rogers, of the East End, was third with 21½ points, and Beltzhoover, of the South Hills, was fourth with 21 points.

Twenty-three of Beechwood's 26 points were scored by its girls' team.

Approximately 1,800 athletes participated in the meet.

GOLDEN BEARS DOWN PITT

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN

The Panther of Pitt made reluctant obeisance to California's Golden Bear before a large and colorful gallery of racquet devotees on the sward of Fox Chapel Country Club yesterday afternoon as Dr. Billy McEllroy's powerful Blue and Gold net array, undefeated since 1928, fell in bitter 4-2 combat with the rangy Berkeley stars of Coach Ray Grismer. 'Twas the second time within six months that an untarnished University of Pittsburgh sport record was blemished by a Coast combine in post-season combat—we all recall the Pasadena gridiron defeat of New Year's Day.

Eddie Jacobs

Had it not been for a most ill-tempered track of fortune, it is entirely probable that yesterday's California verdict would have been reversed and Pitt adherents would have left the scene of battle with smiles on their faces. Capt. Eddie Jacobs, stocky southpaw flash of the home host, was dealt a hard blow, a blow as powerful as it was disastrous to the hope of his followers.

JACOBS INJURED

Leading at 7-5, 2-1, Dolf Muehlheisen, Western star in the first joust, and with his own service coming up, Jacobs appeared in a fair way to breeze across the mark in something of a canter. Meulheisen's hard service, pace-laden drives, and severe net work had been pretty to watch, but the speed of foot, variegated slices, flawless backhand, dazzling barrier play, and bewildering change of pace and length exhibited by the Pittite had gradually gained ascendency. More than two weeks ago Jacobs had strained his back in a doubles match at West Point. He nursed the injury along and thought that he would be able to carry on through the California encounter.

But the fates were against him. Eddie might have stood off an ordinary opponent. But Muehleisen isn't that sort. The Californian's class was such as to push the Pittsburgher to the limit and, as the fracas wore on, the pain and distress of Jacobs became so great that there arose for him the question whether to stop or drop or risk an aggravation that might mean the shelf for the rest of the year. Eddie elected to stop. Had he gone on to win, the squad result would have been at least a 3-3 tie, with strong possibility that he and Dave O'Laughlin would have copped their number one doubles to assure Pitt victory.

Despite Jacobs' default, Pitt, thanks to O'Laughlin and Milt Cohen, garnered an even break in the single. O'Laughlin provided the feature of the occasion by carving out 13-11, 6-3 triumph over Martin McKee, veteran captain and forkhand luminary of the Golden Gaters.

COHEN PLAYS WELL

Cohen offered gritty display in fighting up from the rear to overcome Ted Ludlow, sophomore number four satellite of the Bears, 3-6, 7-5, 8-6. Neither belligerent boasted truly dangerous ground strokes, but each invaded the net zone behind strong service and brought off neat volleys and scintillant smashes. Cohen dropped set one, 6-3, but hung on to grab stanza two at 7-5. The decisive session saw Cohen triumphant at 8-6.

Bob Muench, blond number three slasher, was the California hero. His splendid flat drives, forehand and back, completely befuddled Mort Baker, sturdy Panther third performer, who passed out 6-2, 6-0. Then, in number one doubles, Muench paired with Muehleisen to swamp the makeshift O'Loughlin-Cohen coalition, 6-0, 6-2.

Baker teamed with Irving Goodman, former Peabody mainstay, in the second dual event. Their showing against McKee and Ludlow was genuinely amazing. Baker was steady and Goodman was a revelation in all departments of the game. They snared the first set in short order, but barely fell short of deucing the second, which California copped, 6-3.

BEAR FROSH WINS

In a special freshman singles tussle, Russel Gallaway, crack yearling entry of the visitors, nosed out Billy O'Loughlin, driving local youngster, 6-4, 6-4. Superior physical endowments aided the tall Westerner to out-serve, out-steady, and out-run the 103-pound Panther cub, though O'Loughlin's forehand was without doubt the most effective single stroke on show.

Yesterday's affair was most successful in every respect. For one thing, it marked the initial Steel City appearance of a California varsity outfit, and for another, it demonstrated that strong attractions and grass court competition will go over in a big way with Pittsburgh galleries. Mentor Grismer, of the Bears, declared Pitt to be the finest college aggregation that his men have met in their remarkable eastward swing.

The summary:

Singles—Muehleisen, California, won from Jacobs, Pitt, 5-7, 1-2, and default; D. O'Loughlin, Pitt, defeated McKee, California, 13-11, 6-3; Muench, California, defeated Baker, Pitt, 6-2, 6-0; Cohen, Pitt, defeated Ludlow, California, 3-6, 7-5, 8-6.

Doubles—Muehleisen and Muench, California, defeated D. O'Loughlin and Cohen, Pitt, 6-0, 6-2; McKee and Ludlow, California, defeated Baker and Goodman, Pitt, 3-6, 6-3, 8-6.

Special Freshman singles—Gallaway, California, defeated W. O'Loughlin, Pitt, 6-4, 6-4.

MARRINER QUITS RING

CHICAGO, June 5.—(AP.)—Les Marriner, University of Illinois football star, is going to quit boxing for the high and wide open spaces. He is to become an aviator. Marriner received orders today to report at March Field, Riverside, Cal., June 16, to begin an eight months' training in the Army Aviation School.

Sport Vignettes

Curly Wolk, former local star athlete, who was stationed at the Wissahicken Barracks with the late Harry Greb and Johnny Ray, then crack local boxers during the World War, never attends boxing shows any more, and he formerly was a regular fan . . . . But his brother is a first row addict at every show . . . . That's keeping up the family tradition . . . . Max Zeugschmidt, the boxing timekeeper, recently got out of a hospital after a serious attack of illness during which he lost considerable weight and strength . . . . As soon as he regains both he will be back on the job tooting his famous whistle and banging a gong . . . . Ray Eberle, the announcer and matchmaker, touts Joe Fox, of his home town, Aliquippa, as one of the best boxing judges in these parts and would like to see him get a chance in Pittsburgh . . . . So far, Fox's activities have been confined to the Jolly Bowl at New Castle and Eberle's Junction Park arena . . . . Elsewhere in the sports section today you will read of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph's plan to stage two big amateur sports events this summer, one its third annual William Randolph Hearst junior golf tournament and the other a Public Parks tennis championship tournament for men and women players, a tournament that was permitted to lapse several years ago for no good reason at all . . . . They'll be ably conducted, as were the first two junior golf championships, with Vern Swartsfager, golf editor, in charge of the former and Paul G. Sullivan, tennis expert of this newspaper and secretary of the Pittsburgh Tennis Association, and himself a player, in charge of the latter . . . . For the first time this year there will be a women's division of the National Public Parks tennis tournament, to be held in Washington, D. C., in August, and the singles winners of the local events not only will be crowned champions of Pittsburgh but also will be sent to the national tournament with their expenses defrayed by the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph . . . . Nothing has stimulated interest among the younger golf players of the district, the caddies, the sons of club members and the high and prep school players, so much as the junior tourney and the public parks tournament should prove a stimulus to tennis . . . . The city maintains tennis courts in six of its parks and there is no reason why they should not boast champions . . . . Always aware of its duty to help promote good clean sports as well as to report them, the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph is blazing the way with these two tournaments, which will crowd the July calendar . . . . Fine co-operation from city authorities helps to make the tournaments possible and we take this means of thanking these public officials for their splendid assistance in laying the preliminary plans . . . . Nathaniel Hogan, Negro heavyweight boxer, confesses that he can set Jewish type, having worked as a compositor for a Jewish newspaper in California . . . . Next time you see [illegible] Owens, Homestead Grays' pitcher, ask him how he thinks the Grays would fare in [illegible] with the big league clubs. [illegible]

Long's Sport Comment

sport crowd of half a million by Blenheim, an 18-to-1 outsider, owned by the Aga Khan, Indian potentate, when the race had been thought to be at the mercy of the favorite, Diolite, shows the uncertainty of the turf and suggests the possibility of a similar upset in the Belmont Stakes on Saturday, an event in which only Gallant Fox and Whichone are considered as having a chance.

The odds are tremendously against such a happening, however. The two horses named outclass the rest of the eligibles by such a margin that it is almost a foregone conclusion one or the other will be in front at the finish.

Charley Harvey

ANOTHER FISTIC VETERAN who can see nothing to next week's big fight but a victory for Jack Sharkey is Charley Harvey. "It looks all Sharkey to me," he says. "I think he ought to win without trouble and it wouldn't surprise me to see him come across with a knockout. He has the class and has been through the mill, even though he has made a few mistakes. Schmeling has done nothing impressive. He's not a two-handed fighter and Sharkey is. I like fighters who can punch with the right, of course, but you can't get away from the importance of a good left. Sharkey has one and Schmeling has not, and that's going to count for a lot, I think. I'd like Schmeling's chances much better if his wallop were in his left mitt, as Dempsey's used to be. In my opinion Max is not going to land many good right-handers on Sharkey. Jack can box too well for that."

OAKMONT LEADS SECTION I

By VERN SWARTSFAGER

With Oakmont taking the lead in Section I yesterday, today the six teams in Section II of the Women's Golf Association of Western Pennsylvania are playing at the Longue Vue Club, the home club of the group captain, Mrs. Hugh C. Anderson.

At 10:30 this morning, Longue Vue started play against the Country Club of Pittsburgh; South Hills and Westmoreland teed off at 11 o'clock and Alcoma opened its guns at St. Clair at 11:30.

At Stanton Heights yesterday, Oakmont managed to overcome Allegheny's two-point advantage to take the lead in Anjeanette Hunter's league. The lead was not decided until the last pair came in. Oakmont handily defeated Shannopin, now in the cellar position, 8 points to 1; Fox Chapel nosed out Allegheny, 5 to 3; Pittsburgh Field Club nosed out Edgewood, 5 to 4, and Stanton Heights defeated Chartiers Heights, 5 to 4.

With Allegheny runner-up only four points behind Oakmont, a merry battle may be expected at Shannopin next Thursday. The Pittsburgh Field Club is third, and Edgewood, Fox Chapel, Stanton Heights, Chartiers Heights and Shannopin follow in that order in the standings.

JORDAN BOXES M'TIERNAN

Jolly Bowl in New Castle next Monday night. Both are Pittsburghers, they were rivals in their amateur days and they recently boxed against each other as pros at the Moose Temple with Andrucci upsetting the dope by winning, and now they are going to another town to continue the feud. Jackie Ward and Bobby Dempsey are in the semi-final.

Battling Gizzy and Steve O'Malley will furnish the windup action at Hickey Park Thursday night of next week. Jackie Wilson and Mickey Schemm have been rematched for the semi-final, and Jimmy Thomas will be one of the principals in the opening bout.

Kenny Davis, of East Liverpool, and Harry Morris, of Weirton, W. Va., have been matched for one of the preliminaries to the Willie Davies-Jackie Coogan bout opening the Foutts Brothers' bowl at East Liverpool, O., next Tuesday night. Freddie Edwards and Johnny Drake are in the semi-final, and there will be two other bouts. Jim McLaughlin, of Braddock, will referee.

Farmer Joe Cooper, who meets Joe Trippe in the main bout of the all-star card of three 10-rounders and a six-round tilt at the Meyers Bowl, North Braddock, next Monday night, is signed to meet Young Jack Thompson, new world welterweight champion, in a non-title bout in Los Angeles, July 4, according to his manager, Broadway Johnny Cox, and will leave for the Coast immediately after the battle here.

An amateur boxing show under the auspices of the Irwin Community Club will be staged on the Norwin High School field tomorrow evening.

The Meyers Bowl ring is being (or should be) reinforced today for the onslaught of the rasslers, who crash through tomorrow night with a three-bout program that will be closely watched as a barometer of the possibility of a comeback for the mat sport hereabouts.

Gob to Be 200-Pounder For Schmeling Bout

By JACK SHARKEY,
American Heavyweight Champion.

ORANGEBURG, N. Y., June 5.—The day following my knockout of Jim Maloney in New York, the late Tex Rickard told me I would develop into a 200-pounder. At the time I considered 192 pounds my best fighting notch and didn't believe Tex was right. If Rickard were alive today he probably would take a peek at me and remark that I now was a 200-pounder.

Jack Sharkey.

I have been around 200 pounds since I started to train for my 15-round world heavyweight championship bout with Max Schmeling, which will be staged at the Yankee Stadium, New York, one week from tonight. I believe I shall be close to that weight when I enter the ring.

I scaled 196 pounds for my tussle with Loughran, while, if it had not been for the heat of Florida, I probably would have weighed 200 pounds for Scott. As it was, I weighed in at 197 pounds.

The extra weight is development around the shoulders and chest. I do not carry an ounce of soft flesh on my body. This is due to the fact that I live in the open air between bouts and am careful of my diet.

When I scored the right hand punch to the side of the face that knocked out Loughran, every ounce of weight in my body was behind the sock. I had carried through with the punch and, as a result, 196 pounds were behind the wallop.

If I clip Schmeling, he will have the experience of getting hit with a punch backed by 200 pounds. I do not believe Max will be any more successful in standing up under such a wallop than Loughran was. I always have considered Tommy one of the greatest boxers in the game. Until he met me, he never had been knocked out.

During my training sessions here I have devoted much time to drilling my left hand attack. After all, the greatness of any boxer depends upon how well he is able to use his left hand. Its jabs and hooks win more bouts than right hand socks. They also make the openings for the right hand.

Jim Corbett, former world heavyweight champion, once told me that my success as a boxer was due to my ability to use a left hand. When I look back at my important matches, I realize that hand was a mighty factor in my victories.

I also feel that at the age of 27 I have my full strength. Heavyweights don't mature as quickly as lighter men. As a result, one usually finds a big fellow at his best between the ages of 27 to 30, provided he has not been battered around a great deal in his drive toward the heights.

BEARS DOWN IN WORK

With the time for the title bout rapidly approaching, I shall bear down in my training. I intend to be in the best possible condition so that I shall be able to maintain the prestige of American boxers in the international clash with the leader of the foreign champions.

HOMERS WIN FOR JOHNNIES

A brace of timely home runs in the third inning paved the way for Johnstown's 2-to-1 victory over Clarksburg in the Mid-Atlantic League yesterday and made the grasp of the Johnnies on first place more firm. Kimbrel and Costa drove out the four-ply wallops.

At Fairmont, Charleroi nosed out a 6-to-5 win over the Diamonds. Jeannette lost to Scottdale at Jeannette, 7 to 6, Kelly, Chapman and Roscoe hitting homers. Wheeling dropped its eleventh game in a row, losing to Cumberland, 8 to 6.

STEVE HAMAS WINS

NEWARK, N. J., June 5.—Steve Hamas, former Penn State football star, hammered out a 10-round decision over Mario Camps, of Italy, who substituted for Paul Swiderski, of Syracuse, N. Y., here last night.

HURLS NO-HITTER

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., June 5.—(AP.)—John Clark, hurling for Connors in an American Legion junior league contest here yesterday, pitched a no-hit game against a local nine yesterday. Errors enabled the losers to score one run but the Connors won, 5 to 1.

Swissvale Hurler Fans 18 in Seven Innings

Chuck Johnson, 16-year-old righthander of the Swissvale American Legion Post No. 63 baseball team, struck out 18 members of the Chalfant Tigers in a seven-inning game at Swissvale High School field yesterday, his team winning an 8-to-3 decision over the visitors. Johnson held the losers to six hits.

CUBS WIN SEVENTH IN ROW, WALLOP BRAVES

SUN-TELEGRAPH SPORTS

GIANTS DEFEAT REDS; NATS, A'S WIN

Associated Press.

Dan Howley, manager of the Cincinnati Reds, has become one of the leading experimenters of the National League as well as one of its leading traders, and he has prospects of good results if he can mold the material he now has into a co-ordinated baseball team.

The Reds, as they are now, seem to have everything but the ability to make their hits count.

Howley shook up his lineup again yesterday, putting Pat Crawford in the lineup and making Bob Meusel lead off. The result was good enough to produce 14 solid hits, but not a victory. Their opponents, the Giants, got but 12 blows, but six of them came in succession from the first six batsmen in the opening inning and started the Giants off to a 6-1 lead and an 8-to-5 victory.

CUBS LACE BRAVES

The hit totals made by the Reds and Giants, big as they were, appeared small when the Chicago Cubs got into action and they trounced the Boston Braves, 18 to 20, for their seventh win in a row. The Cubs hit 20 times for 34 bases.

The Cubs finished only two games behind Brooklyn as the Robins literally threw away a game to the Pittsburgh Pirates by a 12 to 6 score. The Robins made eight errors, most of them on bad throws, and nearly every bobble meant a Pittsburgh run.

The St. Louis Cards lost the day's only mound duel in the National League to Philadelphia, 2 to 1. Ray Benge gave the Cards only four hits, Chick Hafey's homer bringing the one run.

The American League reversed the procedure of its older rivals completely and produced four tight battles, three of them going 10 innings apiece, and left the positions of the leaders unaltered. The leading Philadelphia Athletics beat out the St. Louis Browns, 4 to 3, in the only nine inning contest as Sam Gray, formerly the star of the Brownie mound staff, lost his ninth straight game.

NATS VICTORS

Washington, in second place, scored three runs in the tenth to beat out the Detroit Tigers, 11 to 8.

The Cleveland Indians and New York Yankees remained in third and fourth places respectively, the victims of upsets. The Yankees dropped an 8 to 7 decision to the Chicago White Sox as Johnny Kerr followed the example set for him a few innings earlier by Babe Ruth and won the game with a home run after two were out in the tenth inning. The Babe tied the count in the seventh with his eighteenth homer of the year.

Ed Morris, of the Boston Red Sox, proved better in the long run than Willis Hudlin, of Cleveland, and gave Boston a 5 to 4 victory in another 10-inning duel.

Gophers, Maroons Split Twin Bill

MINNEAPOLIS, June 5.—(AP.)—Minnesota and Chicago closed the Big Ten baseball season yesterday by dividing a double-header, the Gophers winning the first game, 13 to 7, and the Maroons the second, 5 to 4.

A heavy attack in the seventh inning of the first game brought Minnesota eight runs and the victory after Chicago had taken the lead with five counters in its half of the frame. The second game was better played, and Tim Knowles, Chicago pitcher, held Minnesota to seven hits.

BARRETT SOLD

MINNEAPOLIS, June 5.—(AP.)—Purchase of William J. Barrett, outfielder and infielder, from the Washington American League club was announced here yesterday by the Minneapolis Association baseball club.

POSTAGE DUE, TOMPAY LOSE

Lightning Flash, the fleet-footed brindle hound of M. O. Flickinger, showed some of his Southern winter racing form in winning the eighth and feature event on Bridgeville Kennel Club's program last evening. Postage Due, winner of both the Inaugural and the Memorial Day Special, had the lead at the eighth pole, but could not withstand Flash's burst of speed. Tin Top was a fast-closing third. Tompay finished fourth.

Another upset was recorded in the fourth race when Midnight Meadows displayed brilliant form in outdistancing the field.

At New Kensington, Branded poked his nose out in front in the feature race of the evening, a quarter-mile dash. The victor came from far in the ruck to score his triumph with a driving finish. The time was 26 3-5 seconds. Spare Ribs was second and Diabolo third.

Cantlon to Race In Altoona Grind

ALTOONA, Pa., June 5.—Shorty Cantlon, second place winner at Indianapolis Memorial Day, and holder of the world speed record for four-cylinder racing cars, has entered the 200-mile auto classic at the local Speedway Saturday, June 14.

BLENHEIM, M BEARY UP

Blenheim was the winner of the English Derby, run yesterday at Epsom Downs, England. The horse, owned by Agha Khan, was an 18-to-1 shot, but won handily.

HORSE SHOW AWARDS MADE

First awards were announced this morning in the annual Allegheny Country Club horse show, which got under way today at the Allegheny Country Club grounds in Sewickley Heights. A small crowd attended the opening ceremonies.

The first class judged was Class 2, specified as breeding class, 3 years and under, suitable to become hunters. Fancy Free, owned by Miss Elizabeth M. Bovard, was adjudged the winner. Prdita, entered by the Hartwood Farms, was second; Rolaway, owned by Miss Janet McKinney, was third, and No Doubt, A. Douglas Ness, was fourth.

In Class 4, breeding class, 3 years and under, suitable to become saddle horses, Silver Promise, J. U. Kuhns, was the winner. Wild Wind, John T. Harrington, won second honors.

Thundercrash, Mrs. Simon Patterson, was the winner in the lightweight model hunters class. Long Prince, R. S. McLaughlin, was second; Strikeaway, Mrs. Margaret McC. McCague, was third, and Miss Lepper, Miss Katherine Walker, was fourth.

Kern C., entered by W. C. Stevenson, was the winner in the middleweight model hunters class. Sharavogue, owned by R. S. McLaughlin, was second; Sky Don, owned by Howard C. Patton, was third, and Sligo, owned by R. S. McLaughlin, was fourth.

PETTY TO FACE ROBINS TODAY

ment—and they got the dope when they played the exhibition game against the Reds.

"Bob Meusel, former Yankee, warned his ex-teammates before the game, and by way of proof, the Reds and Yankees traded a dozen balls. In their hitting practice, the Yankees used the National League balls and the Reds used the American League balls.

"That the National League ball was the more lively of the two was the concensus of opinion of players of both clubs."

ROBINS BOOT EIGHT

The Brooklyn infielders probably feel the same way as Ruth about the lively ball after their exhibition of yesterday. Charlie Engle didn't have any alibi to offer. Instead of worrying about his misplays, Charlie smacked out three hits, scored three runs and in a general way helped to win the old ball game.

But there was gnashing of teeth in the Flatbush last night.

Larry French pitched the entire game for the Pirates, he holding the enemy to seven hits. Jake Flowers came through with a three-run homer that made the going a bit rough for Larry.

Clise Dudley was hammered off the mound in the second by the Pirates. Johnny Morrison relieved him and was a tough puzzle over a long stretch.

Simmons to Join Macks Saturday

PHILADELPHIA, June 5.—(AP.)—Al Simmons, hard-hitting leftfielder of the Philadelphia Athletics, who has been in a hospital for several days with an injured knee, will soon join the team in Chicago Saturday. After removing the bandages from his knee last night, physicians said Simmons was in fine shape and could leave the hospital Friday. Simmons announced he would board the first train for Chicago.

Jimmy Dykes, star third baseman, who also was left behind when the Athletics left on their western trip, probably will be out of the game for two weeks. He is suffering from a stomach ailment. Physicians said he would have to remain in the hospital at least 10 days.

VON ELM WINS IN FRANCE

LABOULIE, France, June 5.—(AP.)—George von Elm, of Detroit, reached the final round of the French amateur golf championship today, defeating Andre Gobert, former French tennis and golf titleholder, 1 up, in 19 holes.

The only American contender staged a sensational comeback to beat the French veteran after being 3 down at the fourteenth. Von Elm squared the match at the eighteenth, and won on the nineteenth with a 3 to a 4.

Gobert was 1 up at the turn after going out in 37 to Von Elm's 38.

This was Von Elm's second victory of the day. He eliminated Raleigh Allen, of Ash[illegible], N. C., 4 and 3, in the quarter final round.

Modern Method, Lift Them Out

CORNS

Callouses Go, Too

The safest and real modern way to remove corns, root and all—out to stay is soak them every night for 3 or 4 nights in an invigorating, stimulating Radox Footbath.

Then put on modish shoes again, walk and dance with greatest comfort because there's nothing left to ache. No pain, no trouble.

Radox liberates oxygen, which softens hard outer layer of corn, each night penetrating further and further thru the pores, carrying the salts to actual root of corn, so loosening it that it comes right out. Nothing like healthy, free from corn feet to assure happy days! Get a package of Radox at Mayflower Drug Stores, or any drug store.

HAD RHEUMATISM TEN YEARS: NEW KONJOLA ENDS IT

Pittsburgh Lady Also Freed of Stomach Trouble—Praises Modern Medicine.

Daily Konjola, the new and different medicine, is winning new fame and friends in Pittsburgh and wherever introduced. There is but one reason for such astounding success and that is—Konjola Makes Good.

MRS. ELIZABETH HAMILTON

And Konjola makes good in those stubborn cases that have defied and resisted all other medicines tried. Learn how this remarkable medicine goes to the root and source of the ills of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels and of rheumatism, neuritis and nervousness. Call on the Konjola Man at the Dow Drug Store, Penn avenue and Sixth street, Pittsburgh, and get all the facts about this super-remedy.

Daily many men and women call on the Konjola Man to tell of the benefits derived through the use of Konjola. Many state that one bottle of Konjola brought relief, but it is recommended that six or eight bottles be taken to obtain the best results. Life teaches us no finer lesson than that it is wise to profit from the experiences of others. Take, as a typical example of Konjola at work, the case of Mrs. Elizabeth Hamilton, 8 Hanway avenue, Bellevue Station, Pittsburgh. Now read what Mrs. Hamilton said to the Konjola Man a few days ago:

"For ten years I suffered from a dreadful case of rheumatism. The aches and pains were almost unbearable and as time passed my left hand became more and more numb. Then my stomach became disordered and soon I lost all desire for food. My tongue was heavily coated and the combination of all these miseries prevented me from sleeping soundly.

"Then I heard about Konjola and decided to give it a trial. That was a wise decision, for Konjola went right to work and soon made a wonderful improvement in my condition. By the time I finished eight bottles I felt like a different person. The rheumatism was completely driven from my body. Then my digestion was restored and now I eat what I please without the least distress. I sleep soundly and the coating on my tongue has disappeared. In fact, I feel better than for many years."

Konjola contains no alcohol, no nerve-deadening drugs, no heart-depressing chemicals. It needs no such hazardous ingredients—its seeming wonders to work.

The Konjola Man is at the Dow Drug Store, Penn Avenue and Sixth Street, Pittsburgh, where he is meeting the public daily, introducing and explaining the merits of this new and different medicine. FREE SAMPLES GIVEN by the Konjola Man. Konjola is sold also at all Dow stores in Pittsburgh and vicinity.

RADIO EDITORS ASK STATIONS TO ANNOUNCE LATE CHANGES IN PROGRAMS

FRAUDS SCORED IN WRITERS' MEETING

Use of Names of Notables For 'Bait' Denounced by Pittsburgher's Resolution

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 5.—Radio stations were asked to make announcements over the air of changes in programs made too late for publication in newspapers, in a resolution passed by the National Radio Editors' Association, in convention here at the sixth annual trade show.

The resolution, introduced by Darrell V. Martin, of Pittsburgh, and seconded by Evan Plummer, of Chicago, was passed unanimously. It reads:

> "Whereas we, the members of the National Radio Editors Association, have often been embarrassed by publishing programs which failed to go on the air, either through neglect or error on the part of the station or networks; and whereas readers frequently believe these changes due to inaccuracies appearing in the newspapers; and whereas some program sponsors frequently take advantage of newspapers by scheduling prominent personalities who never appear on programs; and whereas we appreciate that the art of radio broadcasting is past the stage where allowances might be made for such discrepancies; therefore be it resolved that the National Radio Editors Association ask all stations to assume the responsibility of notifying the public of any changes in programs after these programs have gone to press, and stations refrain from using the names of prominent artists and personalities as 'bait' to get listeners."

The committee on rules ordered that a copy of the resolution be sent to every newspaper and broadcasting station in the United States as well as the National Broadcasting Company and the Columbia Broadcasting System.

New Cinderella Surprises by Unsympathetic Role, Says Fay King

MOST CINDERELLA'S DO NOT FORGET AND HAVE GOOD HEARTS
I WOULD LIKE TO ASK YOU—PLEASE—IF—PREHAPS—THAT IS—MADAME HIGHSEE WILL ASK HER FOR US!
FAY KING

By FAY KING

MOST CINDERELLAS who marry their rich princes retain their good hearts. They do not forget their former struggles. They help other Cinderellas.

That is why a certain Cinderella seems to be unusual. She not only, instantly, forgot her own past, but lost all sympathy for other Cinderellas.

For diversion she studies singing. A number of other young women also study with the same teacher and, to earn extra money for their studies, they accept engagements to sing.

The teacher knowing how rich, and how many beautiful dresses this ex-Cinderella has, asked her if she would sell some of her old evening gowns to these other Cinderellas.

But Cinderella's heart was much changed.

Her idea of bargain prices now was beyond their wildest dreams.

CHICKIE

CHAPTER CIII.

Flowers for Chickie, who felt her life all finished and the beauty of it gone. Radiance about her, but a hush and numbness in her heart. Oh, this was kind in Jake—fine, kingly thing to do. Like him.

This was the note: "Little White Darling—Don't let this sadness rob or cheat you. Take it as a richening of your life. You can. Helena dear—you are going to do this. We must see that you do. In a little while, when you are rested, let me come."

Oh, no; she wouldn't see him—see no one. Never hear a word of love again. All that was ended. Leave her alone, then she could keep her lips all quiet; then she could even smile.

She could look at Jonathan and smile. She said to him: "You are better than a god—you are." It made her cry because he chuckled then.

For there was awe and gentleness about the house as when one who is beloved and beautiful has passed, and those to whom she was so dear sit about and tell of all her lovely grace and read the words of comfort friends have sent. Chickie knew that in their secret thought they mourned and mourned. She knew that, lying in the dark now, they held each other's hands and wept.

Her thoughts conquered her; they held her down. Jennie noticed this: "Chickie, dear, we can't go on like this. We must go out. You can't stay in the house always. No"—

"Mother, let me stay. I won't go out. Oh, everyone is watching at the windows. They stare even when our door is opened."

It was true. Jonathan might say forever: "Brave, proud now, Chickie girl." But it was too much to ask that she should walk along this block where all her happy girlhood was; walk now into a flame of hot and curious eyes; walk into that and keep her head erect.

Out for Walk

Oh, she was not Janina. She couldn't ride the open sea and laugh when the shore was nowhere to be seen.

Martha Blake came to her gently. She sat at her side. Martha said: "Chickie, you are too young to be vanquished."

"But I am, Mrs. Blake—oh, you see that I am."

"You have to live, Chickie. You have to meet bravely the new life that will come to you. You can not be like all the poor, unhappy women of the world accepting the old traditional brand; taking the scarlet letter from their dress and burning it on their souls. Isn't that very old fashioned, Chickie? Didn't you tell me there were free, braver things today?"

"Oh—it was easy to talk then. I didn't know that life could be so hard......I didn't know things could burn and burn so—"

"You punish those who love you, Chickie—you keep them sad—"

"I've done that already—it's too late to think of that—"

"No—it isn't—"

That night Jonathan stood beside her chair. He squared his shoulders, saying valorously: "Suppose my girl and me and our dog go out for a walk? Well—?"

Because of Martha Blake and what she said, Chickie went. She held to Jonathan's arm. She tried to keep her head high. But Sarah Dillon passed, halted with an abrupt startled "Oh!" Then swiftly: "Good evening, Chickie! Good evening, Mr. Bryce!" and hurried on, red with embarrassment. Chickie only caught the astonishment on Sarah's face as though it were a shocking thing that she should walk in the sweet evening time; walk quietly and laugh with Jonathan.

Wants to Die

Oh—the past was her shadow—she couldn't put it from her......It walked at her side; it crowded her to the wall. She said to Jonathan: "Oh—you see—now you see. Jonathan, let me go—let me go away—"

He ran his hand down his cheek, back and forth— "Ah—ah—you want to go away?"

"I want to die—if you could only know how much—"

"Now—now—what did you do? Why you had a little child, and your old father would have taken it—didn't you know that—"

A little wild laugh—"And Jennie—oh, that would have killed her—"

"Hush—hush now—"

"Will you let me go, Jonathan? I have to work again. Oh—I would never start in here—I could never face them all—I want to be alone maybe not so long—"

"You're all I have, Chickie—"

"Oh, you kill me, saying this. Just for a while—just for a while—"

"Then let us go, too."

But she wouldn't have this—it was too much the way Jennie touched her hands—the way Jennie's lips so often twisted and her eyes were wet on Chickie's face—

Jennie said to her: "So you want to leave—you want to go away?"

"Oh—only for a while—for a little while, mother—can't you see—"

So they took their hearts and crushed them in their hands. They said, "If you must, Chickie—if you must—then go—not for long—not for very long—"

She stood in the room they had made so bright for her. She took quietly the things from her bureau. Then she knelt before her open trunk. It was twilight in the room.

She knelt there. Tears were in her eyes. She wondered what it was that made her cry. Oh—it was leaving them, perhaps—oh—it was everything.

And as she knelt, there came a step—Jonathan, of course—There came a sound and some one knelt beside her. It was Jimmy.

She tried to run—tried to get away, feeling suddenly her life all broken and his with it.

Jimmy Cries

But he lifted her. He said, "Chickie, do you want me, now?"

Then she felt that Jimmy cried. He was crying, too. He said: "I love you, Chickie—don't you want me now—let me take you away—"

"Jimmy, let me go. Oh, if I could only die. Oh, Jimmy, there isn't any place in the world, nor anyone, nor anything. And if anyone really loved me do you know what they would do? They would come in here tonight when I am sleeping; they would come and kill me. I would do that thing myself except for Jonathan. He asked me not to—"

Jimmy only said: "No — not that, Chickie—do you want me—why don't you take me now?"

She said: "I've done you too much wrong—I've hurt you so—it could never be—never—oh, I would always see it in your eyes. Every time I looked at you, it would be there—"

"I don't think of you that way, Chickie. Can't you see? I've loved you always. You need me, perhaps. Don't go away alone."

He held her hands in both of his. She stooped and pressed her lips to Jimmy's hands. "You're good, Jimmy, darling. You're good. No—don't. I couldn't—oh, not now—not now—not after this. You don't know, Jimmy, but there's nothing left of me—nothing at all."

Ardent Lover

Jimmy drew her to him. But he didn't speak. She could tell that his lips were shaking, and his hands, too. He said, quietly: "It's because you couldn't love me, Chickie. Is that it? But if you change—if you want me at any time—I love you now, Chickie. It's hard to let you go alone."

"But I must, Jimmy—Yes." She raised her face then; she met Jimmy's dark, fine eyes. She said, softly: "What you say will help. Oh, it will help so much, Jimmy, you're good to say these things to me. Oh, you have a noble way to love."

Jimmy turned his head away. There was sadness in it. Yet Chickie felt a strengthening; felt a certain pride awake within her thought.

She closed her door when Jimmy left. She clasped her hands against her lips. A thing that was gentle, that was even sweet, went stirring through her. Oh, people loved her—even yet. Oh, Jonathan had gone to death for her; Jake had come, and Jimmy, man now, Jimmy, who had loved her since he was a boy because she was so pure—because she was an angel—Jimmy loved her yet.

Tears, but not all bitter now, were on her face. Worthy—oh, they would ask that of her, only that. Brave — go bravely. Let the deep, rich flowers Martha spoke of grow. Plant them in her sorrow—plant them deep. And there might come about her spirit, even as in her face—beauty that is of stars and lilies.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Friday, June 6

Business and employment are under a very encouraging vibration for success and advancement, but purely personal matters may develop some sudden discord or unpleasant visitation. There may be an abrupt and unwelcome change of environment, or personal affairs may take a somewhat sensational turn. Social, domestic or romantic affiliations should be safeguarded from such peril.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of an adventurous year, with change or travel of a sudden or abrupt visitation.

A child born on this day should be talented and efficient for making a brilliant success of its career, but its personal, domestic or affectional connections may be inharmonious.

Love's Reawakening

Continuation of Love's Awakening

By ADELE GARRISON

Noel Is Almost Hysterical With Fear for Mary's Safety

The worried query as to what had happened to Noel during my five days' absence from the hotel remained with me during the interval between Lillian's telephoned message and the hour scheduled for Katherine's arrival with her distraught patient and Mary. Had Jack Leslie been able to disturb Noel again by any chance? I remembered the grim look upon Harry Underwood's face as he declared his intention of dealing with the "capering cockroach," and I decided that I had no need for worry in that direction. But what else could have happened to distress the boy?

It was not until I was almost ready to go to meet the travelers that I was able to put the troublesome little query aside with the determination to keep it in abeyance until Katherine or Lillian herself should enlighten me as to its meaning. But one revelation of Lillian's concerning the almost hysterical fear for Mary's safety which was Noel's made me take Jim with me on the trip to the station under the pretext that Katherine might need assistance with her sick charge. I guessed that Noel would not be displeased to see Jim's strong frame in the car on the trip home.

I was rewarded as I saw Noel's anxious eyes lighten when Jim took the bags from the porter directly after the little party alighted from the train. The boy patently was holding himself with a taut rein that he might not betray his weakness to the people at the station.

"I'm glad you're here, Jim," he said, and as the man, a bit flustered with his greeting, turned away with the luggage, Noel put out a thin hand to me.

"It's — it's — like coming home," he faltered. "I can rest here and Mary——"

My husband's lovely young niece, standing just behind him, patently thought he had called her, and, stepping forward, put a reassuring hand upon his arm.

"I'm right here," she said.

"Mary will be safe," he said, and spoke no other word during the ride home.

Jim drew the car up at the side veranda and helped me down, then he opened the tonneau door to perform the same service for the rest of the party. But Katherine was already upon the ground and close to me, speaking softly with her face averted from Mary and Noel.

"Can we go directly to his room?" she asked. "And will you send up a glass of hot milk right away?"

I nodded and took a step toward Jim, who was giving a hand to Noel, although the youth had motioned to Mary to precede him.

"Jim," I directed, "will you take Mr. Noel directly to his room—you know which one?" I looked meaningly at him, for I did not wish Noel to realize until he was settled that I had given up my room to him.

Jim nodded. He never speaks when a nod or a shake of his head will answer for him.

"You can attend to the luggage later," I said. "Katherine, you and Mary have your old rooms, of course, and you do not need me. I have an urgent errand in the kitchen."

"Step on it," Katherine advised with a grin, but with an urgent note in her voice, and I hurried into the kitchen, and helped Katie prepare a tray bearing not only the glass of hot milk, for which she had asked, but a pot of tea, some delicately browned pieces of toast and a dish of strawberry jam. Katie carried the tray to the upper floor for me, but I took it to the door of my room, now Noel's, for I knew that Katherine wished her charge to see as few people as possible.

The Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND.

Trousers and Skirts

When a woman wants to do anything foolish or impractical she has to invent a "reason"; but a man's alibis, like the dishes of a cafeteria, are always "ready-to-serve."

Love is the mental cocktail that makes the world go 'round; but, too many loves, like too many cocktails, are apt to leave you with that nauseating "never again!" feeling.

* * *

The trouble with the man who put off marrying until too late in life, is that the women of his own age have ceased to thrill him, and the women who are young enough to thrill him can see him only as a meal-ticket or a fur-buying animal.

* * *

Real love is the kind which comes gently down from the clouds of romance to the solid ground of tender affection and perfect understanding, and settles into that "good-old-scout" feeling, which needs no explanations, reassurances or gallantry to keep it alive.

Why is it that, when a man marries a girl half his age, he is envied for his luck and admired for his courage; but when a woman annexes a boy half her age, she is only laughed at for her foolhardiness?

* * *

Getting a husband, these days, seems to be a matter of vamping a man to a point of irresponsibility—and then holding him responsible.

* * *

A man usually begins by determining to win a woman's heart—and ends by wondering where he can park it, when he goes out to look for the "next woman."

* * *

The man who permits fashion to force him into a hard-boiled derby hat, should have nothing to say about the folly of women's styles, even if the latter chose to go back to hoop-skirts and pantelettes.

* * *

Jealously is the ptomaine-poisoning of love.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Is Chance the Dictator of Your Diet?

It has been said that the normal person, when free to choose, will select the food best suited to his needs. It is true enough that most persons will eat enough food. But whether that food is of the right kind is entirely another question. On the other hand, there are too many persons who eat too little for the body needs.

DR. COPELAND

Diet is a very important thing, and you can't leave to chance, to the dictates of your appetite, or to taste just what is good for you. It is not so simple as that.

Everyone should learn how to avoid nutritional failure. There are plenty of sources from which to draw information on the subject. The libraries, the schools and the lecture room afford plenty of knowledge in nutrition.

There are four factors that should always be considered. They are the fuel requirements of the body, for which there must be fuel to produce energy; the protein intake; the mineral substances, and the need of vitamins.

A normal six-year-old boy requires a total daily average of about 1,600 calories. Calories are units indicating the energy-producing value of food. We must have energy to run this machine—the body. Girls require a slightly lesser amount, 1,500 calories.

At 10 years of age the average boy needs about 2,300 calories daily to furnish him with enough energy for his so active life. A girl at this age requires about 2,200 calories. During the next few years the girl's needs slightly exceed the boy's. At 15 the boy's needs are again greater—3,800 calories daily, while a girl's needs are about 3,200.

The protein of milk, cereals, legumes such as peas and beans, and other vegetables are all readily utilized and are important in the diet of every growing child. A child needs at least one quart of whole milk every day.

It is difficult to set a guide for everybody in selecting the amount of proper food elements needed. In general it has been estimated that the average adult needs proteins 118 grams, carbohydrates 500 grams and fat 56 grams.

A vigorous, active boy puts forth an enormous amount of energy in a day. He burns up a great deal of fuel through his incessant play and muscular activity. This is true to a lesser extent of the girl.

It is necessary to include in the diet the vegetables and fruits that contain iron, lime, phosphorus and other minerals, so necessary to bone structure. These minerals also take part in the formation of many organic compounds to form the cell structure.

If you are to protect yourself and your children from those diseases which we call deficiency diseases, if you want health, strength and a vigorous constitution to withstand the rigors of living, you will need to regulate the diet in such a way as to furnish all the food elements needed by the body in the work it must do.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Inviting Severe Criticism

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. Will you please settle an argument between two girls? A. says that the groom-to-be should buy the bride's clothes, while B. says the girl's parents should. Who is right?

2. I would also like to know if it is all right for the bride to wear a purple transparent coat from the house to the church when she's wearing a veil?

A. C.

1. Very few things in the world of etiquette can be in worse form than for the groom-to-be to buy the bride's trousseau! This can be severely criticized, and rightly so—and the girl who permits her fiance to do this deserves to be criticized. No matter how poor the bride-to-be or how rich the groom-to-be, the groom-to-be never can be given the right to buy any of the bridal finery.

2. A white coat is in the correct form.

Informing the Society Editor

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. Surely I can in no better way express my appreciation of your column than by writing you for advice. The announcement of my engagement is to be made at a bridge on a Saturday, and I would like to have the announcement appear in the daily paper on the same day. How many days in advance should the information be in the hands of the society editor?

2. Is it true that such parties are becoming taboo?

M.

1. If you send the announcement to the society editor the day before you wish it to appear and state definitely on it just when you wish it to appear, the editor will see that your wishes are carried out.

2. Such engagement parties are not at all taboo. It is not necessary to give a party to make the announcement.

GIRL UNAFRAID

By GLADYS JOHNSON

Ardeth Learns of Party Responsible for Item

CHAPTER XLIX.

RIDICULOUS . . . to be searching like this for something which couldn't be here . . . What could be printed in The Spy which could concern her? And yet, why had it been mailed to her, if not to wound?

Down in a corner, that column of sneering personalities called Through the Spyglass . . .

"The night has a thousand eyes—the day but one—" So runs the old verse, which is perhaps the reason the night sees so many more interesting things than does the day.

Apropos of which, Ye Spy saw such a touching sight a touching sight a few nights ago. A young married man of this town calling on his former inamorata. Tender love scenes are so touching!

I shall not disclose his name, of course, for Ye Spy is never indiscreet, nor do we wish to cause trouble among those who sit in the high places, and this young man, not so long ago, married into one of our wealthiest families. Nor can one entirely blame him, for it is whispered that he was much enamored of this lovely blonde who is fair, though she does not belong to the social elect.

Be that as it may—this gentleman's call upon the lady of his secret choice, did not end until that hour when the milkman begineth his rounds.

Tut! tut! K. What would the fair wife say!

Fortunate it is that this little love nest is hidden where one would least look for it. But Cupid is a sly fellow and can find his way even down among the busy marts of trade.

By the time Ardeth had finished reading this effusion, her face was white and cold. She turned to the mailing address on the cover. Only the curt, typewritten direction which gave her no clue as to the sender.

Night Recalled

She looked up and found her eyes caught by the gaze of Ah Ling standing opposite in the doorway. And Ardeth knew, that in some fashion the contents of this paper were known to the Chinese girl.

Warm sympathy in Ah Ling's gaze. "That is a bad paper! I wanted to throw it out, Miss Carroll, but—" she shrugged, "sometimes it is better to know what our enemies are saying. Then we can be on guard."

Ardeth swept the paper into the basket as though it were a snake.

"It's vile. Why—who would put that thing in?"

Her mind went fearfully back to the night when Ken had come here—dazed and seeking comfort. Someone had followed him . . . someone had waited to see him leave . . . Some enemy, lurking about the small shop in the night. Hiding, perhaps in the dark alley, peering in at them.

The thought was horrible.

"Oh—a dastardly thing to do!" she heard herself saying in a low, intent voice, which she did not recognize. "A—a rotten thing to do! Who would want to hurt me? Who would do such a thing?"

"The Spy," Ah Ling returned promptly with a wise look of her slant eyes.

"But who is he?" Ardeth blazed at her. "If I could find out I would ... I would have him horsewhipped out of a decent community!"

Ah Ling's Advice

Ah Ling shook her head with its waves of lacquered hair. The small ivory face was expressionless, her eyes were remote.

"No, Miss Carroll. You could not afford to do that. Neither you—nor any of the other people he has slandered. For the world would misunderstand. They would not applaud you for killing a snake. They would say you were admitting your guilt. Can't you see—to take offense at what is written is to admit guilt. That is why such a thing as that—can live." She poked contemptuously at the green sheet with one orange brocaded slipper. "It would be all the world needed to start it whispering. The world it not charitable."

"Ah Ling—Rosie! You know who the spy is!"

"I know. I will tell you—for your own protection. It is Cyril Underhill." Little Rosie Ling's lip curled as she said it for she hated him.

Ardeth's eyes went wide for a moment. "How do you know?"

The slanting eyes glittered. "My cousin Lee works for him as cook. Mr. Cyril Underhill is careless! He leaves his papers about his apartment. If he thinks at all of Lee he thinks 'Oh, he is just ignorant Chink.'" The vermillion lips curled. "My cousin Lee is American born. He reads English as good as me—as you—though that so clever Mr. Underhill does not know that.

Cleverness

"He knows much, my cousin Lee. What this Cyril Underhill does. Who calls upon him—" she suddenly checked herself. Slanted a sidewise look at the other girls. Made a little gesture with her hands.

"Well, I have told you. Because I like you a lot, Miss Carroll. But you will say nothing, of course."

Ardeth was silent, turning over in her mind the information she had just received. She did not doubt the truth of Ah Ling's statement for a moment. She knew the network of relationship which bound together San Francisco's Chinese. She knew the cleverness of these excellent servants who could hear and see all and say nothing—at least to no white person.

Chinatown could ring with the affairs of Pacific avenue, but Pacific avenue would never guess it. It was Ah Ling's personal loyalty alone which had allowed even this much to seep out of her.

So Cyril Underhill was The Spy. Her face burned as she remembered the days he had been down here, petted and patronized by the very women he was secretly stabbing in the back.

Considers Action

She remembered him standing, dark and elegant by the Coramandal screen, reading excerpts from the scandalous articles he had secretly written, encouraged by malicious feminine laughter.

Did Cecile know he was The Spy? It would be like her to appreciate the spiteful humor of thus being behind the scenes. Or was Cecile deceived and worked as well? Was this man of no loyalties leading her on, too?

But Ah Ling was right! Ardeth thought with a sudden maddening sense of impotence. Her hands were tied with her knowledge. If she told this to Ken . . . her heart leaped with fright; Ken would kill the sneak. It would mean a scandal which would bring the [illegible] down about their ears.

To expose Cyril Underhill would release scandals whose ramifications led far back. An upheaval which would shake a city to its social depths. . . .

No. Not yet. Wait! And in the meantime do nothing which could bring this scandal monger down upon her defenseless head.

Calls Progress and Expansion Natural in U. S.

By B. C. FORBES

IT IS REFRESHING to encounter a man who sees beyond the present business clouds and who is resolutely planning for bigger developments than ever before.

The rest of the country probably has only scant idea of how rife is pessimism in these days in the country's financial metropolis, especially in the Wall Street section. After a long series of 4,000,000 and 5,000,000 and 6,000,000 up to 16,000,000-share days on the New York Stock Exchange, Wall Street houses fret and fume over days which fail to register transactions of even 2,000,000 shares. We so quickly forget. The writer vividly recalls when a "million-share day" was front-page news. Doubtless the current lack of activity partly accounts for the pessimism now prevailing.

READ THESE INSPIRING expressions by Thomas N. McCarter, president of Public Service and allied companies, providing New Jersey with its utility facilities:

"The United States were created and have been developed by optimists whose vision, aspirations and confidence have been justified by results. The trend in this country is today, as it has always been, toward further progress and greater prosperity. Such setbacks in the mounting curve of prosperity as have occurred in the past have been temporary and their causes have soon been overcome.

"No business man who hopes for success can afford to base his plans upon anything but the promise that the growth and progress of the country is bound to continue indefinitely, in spite of more or less serious retrogression that may from time to time occur.

"American business is, in my opinion, strong enough and resilient enough to absorb such shocks as it must inevitably receive during periods of business depression which, until we know more about business economics, are bound to come occasionally, so that the important thing at the present moment is to realize that the onward movement will continue and that with the passing of the temporary slowing down, its pace will be accelerated.

"Electric and gas utilities are, I am confident, in a sound position. Their services are essential, the demand for them is growing, and such serious problems as they face have to do with artificial restraints and rules of conduct rather than with those basic questions of supply and demand which are the cause of difficulty in other industries. They are moving steadily forward with their programs of expansion and betterment, which is the best possible evidence of the confidence that their managers feel in the basic soundness of general business conditions.

"The problems of the local transportation industry involve not only these questions of regulation but are interwoven with economic conditions that make them much more difficult. This industry is just as essential to the well-being and development of the country as a whole as are the electric and gas industries.

"There seems to be an unwillingness on the part of the public to pay the fair cost of this service. This attitude must be changed if the industry is to live."

THE UNITED STATES used to draw people from every corner of the earth but send out none if its own. The growth of our international trade, and especially the developments of American-owned enterprises in other lands, has changed that. Colonies of Americans have sprung up in many parts of the world.

Complaint is sometimes made that aliens living here get together and maintain many of their native habits. Americans obroad usually find their own fellow-countrymen the most congenial. It is surprising how few Americans it takes to organize an American club and other American institutions. Take Shanghai. That Chinese city has an American school attended by 500 boys and girls of families of American business men, profesional men, missionaries, etc. The existence of this school has made many representatives of American institutions in the Far East more content with their lot, and has thus greatly cut down turnover.

You should see the list of American business leaders who are now engaged in raising a million dollars to keep Shanghai's American school abreast of the increasing calls upon it. The campaign executive committee is headed by Howard E. Cole, vice president of the Standard Oil Company of New York, and embraces such busy men as James A. Farrell, Herbert L. Pratt, James G. Harbord, Winthrop W. Aldrich, C. M. Keys, Willis H. Booth, William C. Breed, David A. Brown, Martin Egan, Arthur W. Loasby, William M. Chadbourne.

And yet we are told that American business men haven't a thought in the world except for money and money-making.

It is Wall Street tradition that a very dull stock market that doesn't go down will in time start to go up.

STOCK BUYING WAITS PROFIT INDICATION

Hesitation Shows Uncertainty In Public Mind Regarding Time of Upward Trend

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER.

NEW YORK, June 5.—Speculation is waiting for a cue from business indicators.

The motif for taking on additional lines of stock will be the prospects for rising profits. Recent hesitation reflects uncertainty in the popular financial mind as to when the next upward turn in business will come. If more widespread optimism were pervasive, it would be reflected on the stock ticker.

And yet in the light of financial history it would be futile to expect the market to wait until the resumption of prosperity becomes an accomplished fact. In the last analysis, speculation over longer periods thrives on uncertainty. Risk assumption is the specialized social role of the speculator. For example, when promotions are new and untested, they are speculations, not invested. When and if the promises of the promoters have been fulfilled and the propositions have become seasoned and tested by experienced, they become investments.

WEAK SHAKEN OUT

The stock market is an imperfect barometer. It vacillates from one unjustified extreme to another. It would not be unusual for the market to make several false starts in discounting the return of prosperity. In the present cycle, the market has already made one false start. The rise in stock prices between January and April was based on the surmise that business was turning for the better, rather than on any statistical proof. Toward the end of April, the collective financial mind concluded that stock prices had outrun business accomplishment, and there was a rapid reversal in the market.

The early May reaction shook out many of the weak and impatient holders, and stocks have now settled into more patient, if not stronger, hands. But of late the market has tended to narrow down to a dull trading affair among professionals. There has been a lack of new leadership. The market suffers for the time being not only from the actual statistical position of business, but even more from the popular lack of confidence in the vitality of prospective near term improvement. Periods of dullness at the market place, however, are not interminable. After a period of further waiting, disappointed holders will be tempted to let stock go. In the present situation, however, it seems more likely that as the time approaches new leadership will assert itself in the market and seek to anticipate the inevitable improvement that lies somewhere ahead. If this discounting is done too prematurely and too violently there may, of course, be other false starts before actual general prosperity returns.

Of course, the other crucial factor in price determination is the going rate of interest.

STOCKS WORTH MORE

In view of the precipitate decline in interest rates since last fall, stocks which have retained their dividends are worth more—other things being equal—than they were then. For in the last analysis stock prices represent an appraisal of present and prospective dividends capitalized at the going rate of interest. Of course much of the recovery from panic levels was predicated on the new level of interest rates.

As for the future, interest rates are unlikely over sustained periods to go any lower. They are now abnormally low, and tend to make securities with fixed interest or safe dividends relatively more attractive than in the past.

Interest rates are so low that they already in part reflect business recession. Seasonal factors, including crop movement and fall trade stimulus, should tend to strengthen interest rates. Accordingly, from a speculative standpoint, the good news about future business is not yet out.

The low money rates reflect in part a subnormal demand. Only the exceptionally astute have the courage to buy the use of money when they could get it on the bargain counter, and in the period of dullness the basis for new fortunes and new industrial expansion are being quietly laid.

Bank Loans Reduced By Curtiss-Wright

NEW YORK, June 5.—C. M. Keys, president of Curtiss-Wright Corporation, states that as of May 31 the company had reduced its bank loans to $2,750,000 from $4,825,000 as of December 31, last. A further material reduction is looked for within the next few weeks.

As of May 15, the company had on hand $9,153,000 of government orders and $1,582,000 commercial orders for prompt delivery. The company is negotiating with the government for further substantial orders which will be closed in the near future.

Montgomery Ward's Gross Business Makes Good Gain During May

So far as gross business is concerned, Montgomery Ward has been doing a great deal better than many other lines of industry. May sales were $25,050,000, and for the first five months $105,195,000. May business was 26.01 per cent ahead of the corresponding month of last year, and for the five months 5.30 per cent ahead of the similar period of 1929. The May gain is explained by the opening of new stores, but at the same time it shows that Montgomery Ward has not stopped growing. Montgomery Ward stock has been under pressure since the first of the year.

The common stock of the National Biscuit Company is selling in the market for more than $500,000,000. We recall that some traders, not so many years ago, were selling it short when it was selling for less than one-tenth of that figure. Some traders are selling it short now, although if the rate of growth over the last decade is maintained, it will not be a great many years before National Biscuit is eligible for membership in the billion dollar club.

The $3 Kennecott Copper dividend gives a good line on what other copper companies are likely to do in respect to disbursements to shareholders. With the price below $50 a share, the yield on Kennecott is still in excess of 6 per cent. The guess of the Street is that Anaconda will pay $1 quarterly, which would be at the rate of $4 annually, and yield a little in excess of 6 per cent. Magma Copper is now paying $5 annually. If the dividend is reduced to a $3 basis, the yield, at $36 a share, would be over 8 per cent. On a $2 basis, the yield on Calumet and Arizona is not much in excess of 3 per cent.

Wall street still insists that the public utility shares will assume the position of leadership on the next advance in the stock market. It has been reported recently that the aim of those who are negotiating new affiliations in the industry is to have things in such shape that actual combinations may be effected without delay during the summer while Congress is out of Washington. These consolidations, as they are announced, are expected to stimulate a revival of bullish activity in the power and light stocks on a broad scale.

As soon as selling pressure is released, the stocks which are quoted under a fair value show signs of definite recovery, and the bears who sold them short set about to cover their trail as well as they may. A market like the present is decidedly unsafe for the short-seller, because the volume of floating stock is extremely small. This is hardly the time to be throwing overboard the stocks of financially strong and profitably-operated American corporations. The trade reaction is still with us but bottom has been reached, even if the corner has not been turned. There is still some doubt as to the latter, and nothing startling is expected of the forthcoming season. Patience and good judgment exercised right now, in the selection of good stocks, will yield more satisfactory returns, in income and trading profits, than when stocks are riding on the crest of a speculative wave.

The drop of $315,000,000 reported in the total of borrowings by stock exchange members as of May 30, last, did not carry much influence in shaping the market's course yesterday. A shrinkage of $252,000,000 in Federal Reserve loans for the nearest comparable period had about prepared Wall street for the decline shown in the stock exchange total. The decreased reported was about in line with what might have been anticipated in view of the shakeout which the market had experienced during the month. The bull movement of March and April had resulted in a combined increase of $895,544,000 in the stock exchange loan total, so that considerably less than half that increment was crease reported was about in slump.

Goodyear Rubber Cuts Tire Prices

NEW YORK, June 5.—T. W. Litchfield, president of Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, announces a reduction in tire prices, effective today.

Prices of four-ply passenger car sizes will be reduced approximately 5 per cent. Tubes will carry a similar reduction. There will be only a slight reduction in the rice of Goodyear heavy-duty passenger car tires, while the Pathfinder heavy-duty line will be increased in price in some sizes.

Can Makers Expect to Have Good Year

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

TWO OUTSTANDING INDUSTRIAL corporations which have excellent prospects for the present year, regardless of the current business depression, are American Can and Continental Can. Their leading customers are the packers of food products. Their sales this year will depend on the harvests of fruits and vegetables which must be packed whether general business for the balance of the year is good or bad.

It is too early in the year to make any estimate of the number of cans which will be needed during 1930. More vegetables have been planted for canning purposes this year than last year. Barring unfavorable weather developments the production of cans will show an increase.

Reports to the government from a representative number of packers indicate a 10½ per cent increase in the acreage to be planted in peas, an 11.6 per cent increase in corn and a 24 percent increase in tomatoes. These are the principal crops affecting canning operations in this country. Their progress is closely watched by officials of the can companies.

General Line Cans

THE CAN COMPANIES will lose some business in general line cans. These are containers used by makers of paints, varnishes, oils and other products which would feel the general business depression. It seems probable, however, that the gains which may be expected in the packs of foods will compensate for the decline in this field.

American Can will be likely to make a slightly better comparison of sales this year than Continental Can since a smaller portion of its business is in general line cans.

The packs of fruits were reduced to some extent last year by frosts in California. The increase in the vegetable acreage this year, as well as the gain which will be shown in fruits if the unfavorable weather is not repeated, will result in a very substantial volume of business for the canners.

Carryover Normal

THE SUPPLY OF CANNED goods is normal so that the customers of the can companies will not have an exceptional marketing problem after this year's pack of foods is completed.

The demand for canned foods has been showing a steady yearly growth which has been ample to provide a market for expansion in the growing of fruits and vegetables. Public confidence in canned goods has undergone a widespread change since the war and this has materially stimulated the development of the industry.

Profits Gain

BOTH COMPANIES REPORTED increased earnings in 1929. American Can showed net profit of $22,724,802. After deducting preferred dividends this was equivalent to $8.02 a share on the common stock. In 1928 net profit was $19,863,326 or $6.86 a share. The stock is on a $4 annual dividend basis. The policy of the company has been to pay occasional extras as they have been warranted by earnings.

Continental Can reported net profit for 1929 of $8,967,702 which was equivalent to $5.02 a share on the common stock after deducting preferred dividends. In 1928 net profit was $6,690,769 or $4.35 a share. This stock is on a $2.50 annual dividend basis.

Auto 'Saturation' 'Bogey,' Ford Says

DETROIT, June 5.—(AP.)—There never will be a "saturation point," in the automobile industry because the industry always will be able to make better cars, Henry Ford told the Associated Press today. "And," he added, "the automobile industry is just beginning to make 'real' automobiles."

Mr. Ford amplified the thought by adding that not only the automotive industry, but all industry is safe from the bugaboo of "saturation" for the same reasons—that quality always can be improved, and that not even a small fraction of possible users have thus far been supplied.

Lehn & Fink Covers Half Year Dividends

NEW YORK, June 5.—Sales of Lehn & Fink Products Company in the first five months of 1930 were about 6 per cent less than the same period last year and earnings were down about 3 per cent, A. R. M. Boyle, secretary of the company, said today. He added:

"The dividend is being earned by a wide margin and there has been no talk whatsoever of the dividend being passed. In the first six months of 1929 net profit was $923,116, equal to $2.20 a share."

Stocks Decline — Lone Star Gas Strong

BEAR SELLING SENDS STOCK LIST OFF

Trading for Time Reaches Substantial Volume With 2-Point Losses Common

NEW YORK, June 5.—(AP.)—Professional traders continued their experimental efforts to send prices one way or the other in today's stock market, and found speculation for the decline the more effective. Bear selling was in substantial volume for a time and losses of two points or more were common among the pivotal shares.

Extraordinarily abundant credit and the possibility of a reduction in the New York Federal Reserve rediscount rate were interpreted unfavorably, in sharp contrast to the construction placed upon similar developments in March. Bankers acceptance rates were cut to 2¼-2⅛ per cent for the shorter maturities, the lowest in six years. These rates are far out of line with the rediscount rate of 3 per cent and would seem to suggest a downward revision. The Bank of England made no change in its 3 per cent rate, however, and a reduction of the New York rate to a level lower than that of London would be a departure from recent policy.

BANK STOCKS SAG

While the reductions in bankers' acceptance rates were undoubtedly in expectation of the temporary influences toward cheap money of the quarterly treasury financing during the next fortnight, they have apparently been encouraged by the reserve authorities, in view of the reduction of the reserve buying rate on Tuesday. The bearishly inclined stated that such drastic slashing of money rates would seem to indicate that bankers believe business is in need of an extraordinarily strong tonic and that flotation of the reparations loan may require considerable artificial assistance. The New York Federal Reserve rate is now as low as it has been since the reserve system was inaugurated. In the over-the-counter market bank stocks sagged.

Added to the rather unsettling changes in the money market, corporate news was none too pleasing. Goodyear cut its tire prices about 5 per cent, emphasizing the downward movement of commodity prices, and General Electric declared only the regular dividend, failing to order an extra as was done at this time in each of the three preceding years. Stocks were sold in occasional blocks of 5,000 to 10,000 shares, indicating large scale bear operations, but the market remained a professional trader's affair.

MONEY RATE HOLDS

Call money held officially at 3 per cent, but was available in good supply at 2½ in the outside market. Shorter maturity time money was quoted at ¾ to 3.

Some of the high priced shares broke sharply, such issues as Auburn, Case, Westinghouse Electric, Eastman Kodak, Worthington and Colombian Carbon losing 5 to more than 10 points. United States Steel sagged about 3 points to a new low for the movement and such shares as Radio, General Electric, Sears Roebuck, Public Service of New Jersey, American Water Works and Consolidated Gas lost 2 points or more. Glidden dropped to a new 1930 low, reflecting writing off of inventory losses.

Calumet & Arizona's Production Slumps

BOSTON, June 5.—Production of Calumet and Arizona Mining Company, including that of New Cornelia Copper Company prior to consolidation, amounted to 7,598,000 pounds of copper in May against 13,463,000 pounds in May, 1929.

April Report Shows Manufacturing Off

WASHINGTON, June 5.—Manufacturing production in April adjusted for seasonal variations showed a gain of 1 per cent over the previous month, but was considerably below the same period a year ago, according to the Commerce Department.

General Tire Co.'s May Sales Higher

AKRON, June 5.—The volume of unit sales of the General Tire and Rubber Company during May was larger than during May, 1929, according to William O'Neill, president. The firm's plant is working at capacity. June has started out with all indications that it will break records for volume of business done in any similar month in the company's history.

Jersey Standard To Lay Pipe Line

NEW YORK, June 5.—The Standard Oil Company of New Jersey has completed engineering plans to lay a twin 10-inch pipe line 300 miles between Tulsa, Okla., to a point near Wood River, Ill., 13 miles north of St. Louis. The project will cost about $15,000,000.

E. W. Martin With Tubize Chatillon

E. W. Martin, it was announced today, has been placed in charge of the Pennsylvania territory for the Tubize Chatillon Corporation, manufacturers of synthetic yarns. He will assume his new duties at once. Mr. Martin was formerly representative in the same territory of the Nyanza mills, Woonsocket, R. I.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, June 5.—Cotton opened steady at a decline of 4 points to an advance of 1 point. Active months sold about 4 to 8 points net lower during the first few minutes under renewed liquidation and scattered offerings which were promoted by favorable weather reports and easy Liverpool cables. The decline to [illegible] for the new October contract attracted some trade buying and the market was fairly steady at the end of the first half hour with prices working back to about yesterday's closing quotations. REPORT UNITED LIGHT SEEKS LONE STAR

Stock in Heavy Demand Here; Rights Up Also; Liberty Dairy Strong

Reports that United Light and Power Company is negotiating for a large interest in Lone Star Gas caused a sharp run-up in the latter company's shares in the early trading on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today.

Several thousand shares of Lone Star were taken during the forenoon with the price rising to near 51, as compared with yesterday's close at 49¼. Near the close of the market today some profit taking appeared and the stock lost most of the early gain. There was a huge turnover in the Lone Star "rights" also. The rights accrue to holders of record May 31, in connection with the company's proposal to sell additional shares at $22.50 each on the basis of one for each six held.

United Light, which is controlled by the Eaton interests of Cleveland, is understood to be seeking working control of Lone Star, one of the most important gas producers and distributors in the country.

In other quarters the local market was comparatively quiet and generally narrow. Liberty Dairy scored an advance of 1½ points on a small turnover, but the movements in the main list were confined to fractions in most instances.

GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO, June 5.—Wheat prices here showed unusual steadiness early today, influenced by relative strength of Liverpool quotations and by dearth of moisture overnight in spring wheat territory Northwest. Reduced estimates of Italy's wheat crop were a bullish factor. Opening at ⅜c off to a shade advance, Chicago sagged a little further, and then averaged somewhat higher than yesterday's finish. Corn, oats and provisions were also firm, with corn starting unchanged to ¼ to ⅜c up, but subsequently easing back.

Official reports today indicated only light to fair rains over most of the spring wheat belt both north and south of the Canadian border. There were also advices at hand that wheat production in Italy this season promises now to total 74,000,000 bushels under last year, with reserves of old wheat scant and harvest not expected to commence until July. On the other hand, Liverpool closing quotations today were less firm than earlier and upturns here failed to hold well.

A feature of the market gossip current today was renewal of talk that Russia is likely to prove a disturbing element to friends of higher prices for wheat. In this connection a leading authority here was out with a statement saying it is difficult to believe that a country which is chiefly agricultural and is extensively importing tractors and other farm machinery is not destined to be a great factor in the world's wheat situation, although this is doubted by many, owing to its political conditions. The statement added that with Russia possibly entering the export field, it is essential that serious crop reduction must occur in other countries to advance and maintain wheat prices.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND VIEWS

AMERICAN UTILITIES

The American Utilities and General Corporation has acquired voting trust certificates representing 247,606 shares of Class B stock of the Consolidated Gas Utilities Company as a result of its offer to exchange its own Class B voting trust certificates share for share for those of the latter company. The American Utilities now has 42 per cent of the outstanding certificates. Consolidated operates 1,200 miles of main natural gas pipe lines in Oklahoma and Kansas.

P. & L. E. Seeks Spur To New Lead Plant

The Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad has asked permission from the Interstate Commerce Commission to construct 3½ miles of new line extending from Monaca southwesterly to a point near Bellowsville, Beaver County, Pa., to serve a smelting plant of the St. Joseph Lead Company to be constructed there.

Continental Fibre Acquires New Unit

The Continental Diamond Fibre Company has added three units through acquisition of the Irvington Varnish and Insulator Company of New Jersey, Fibroc Insulation Company of Indiana and the Chicago Mica Company, a report to the New York Stock Exchange has disclosed.

Fort Pitt Bridge Plans Expansion

Consolidation of the Fort Pitt Bridge Company with the Massillon Iron Works is expected to take place within a week or 10 days.

Negotiations have been under way for several weeks. Officials of the Fort Pitt Bridge Company said today that the transaction has not reached a sufficiently definite stage for them to discuss it.

Fort Pitt Bridge is capitalized at $1,200,000. Its plant is at Canonsburg, Pa. Its production of structural steel has been sold for several months in advance. The company is understood to need additional plant facilities which it cannot construct adjacent to its present plant. The consolidation with the Massillon, O., organization will provide the desired increase in capacity.

AIRCRAFT'S NET EARNINGS ON UPTREND

Second Quarter's Results Indicate Full Year May Exceed Showing of 1929

NEW YORK, June 5 — With the earnings on the uptrend during the past two months and heavy charge offs for plant construction behind, profits of United Aircraft and Transport Corporation in the second quarter should be decidedly ahead of those for the first three months when company showed net income of $900,391 after charges, minority interests and federal taxes equivalent to 39 cents a share on 1,840,460 common shares outstanding. Although no official estimate is obtainable, present indications point to earnings continuing their upward trend for the remainder of the year and it is highly probable that 1930 gross business will exceed that of last year.

BIG ORDERS PENDING.

Company's unfilled orders now are in the neighborhood of $9,000,000 and it is understood that government orders are pending which will increase this amount by about $8,000,000.

In view of the fact that the majority of large aviation companies showed losses for the first quarter of the current year due to seasonal causes and the present slow commercial demand for planes, United Aircraft's showing is considered highly satisfactory. Also, when it is considered that during this period company was undergoing a reorganization program which was begun in the latter part of last year and which has further retarded earnings, the wisdom of the management's policy of manufacturing only upon definite orders is further emphasised.

CURRENT RATE GOOD

Current business of corporation's widespread subsidiaries is satisfactory. Due to the large backlog of government orders and steadily increasing foreign business, present depression of commercial demand in this country does not affect the company's earnings materially. The company's main subsidiary, Pratt & Whitney Aircraft Company, is producing between 120 and 140 engines monthly, having maintained this rate since the first of the year. Although this is not capacity production, officials regard it as satisfactory considering the present condition of the industry. Company's output and earnings so far this year have been handicapped by its removal to a new plant.

Chicago Pig Iron Quotations Lower

CHICAGO, June 5. Producers here are quoting a spread of $18.50 to $19 a ton on pig iron, with most business going at the lower price. A basic price of $18.50 probably will be established shortly, compared with the previous basic price of $19 a ton.

$7,500,000 American Loan for Greece

ATHENS, June 5 — Finance Minister Mares and Mr. Rose, representing American banks, agreed today on an American loan for productive works consisting of an advance of $7,500,000 5½ per cent bonds issued at 99.13 on the dollar, expenses at the cost of the American banks.

STEEL PIPE IN GOOD DEMAND

CLEVELAND, June 5 — Larger sizes of lapwelded steel pipe continue in active demand and the mills are in a favorable position as to unfilled tonnage of this material, according to Daily Metal Trade. Butweld pipe is in poorer demand, however, and in view of the failure of building operations to improve more rapidly the outlook is regarded as less satisfactory than a month ago. Western steel wire mills report May shipments exceeded those in the preceding month, but dealer orders lately have subsided considerably as farmers are engaged in field work, while manufacturers' wire demand at the moment is extremely limited.

Demand for steel plates continues to improve in the East, while at Pittsburgh tinplate specifications are holding at a steady rate and a pickup in shipments is in prospect. Competition is less severe in the semi-finished market at Youngstown and as a result the market has firmed up to a flat $32 on billets, slabs and sheet bars. Substantial improvement in pig iron buying is reported at Cleveland.

Transamerica Corp. Will Pay Extra

NEW YORK, June 5. Elisha Walker, chairman of Transamerica Corporation, states that at the regular directors' meeting on June 11 it is expected that the regular quarterly cash dividend of 40 cents a share and an extra stock dividend of 3 per cent will be declared payable July 25 to stock of record July 5.

Transamerica has been paying 1 per cent stock dividend periodically in the past.

POLE DEFENDS BANK CHAINS

ASHEVILLE, N. C., June 5. — Branch banks within economic areas would vastly strengthen the American financial system, Comptroller of the Currency J. W. Pole declared here today before the District of Columbia Bankers' Association annual convention.

While Pole, remarking that the time is not quite ripe for legislation, did not take a rigid position as to what Congress should do, he said it might be desirable to make a study of the banking system with a view to the further extension of branch banking.

Pole declared that extension of branch banking to embrace the rural communities would not prove inimical to the best interests of the public nor would it lead to monopolistic control.

Mr. Pole said:

"Under the trade area branch banking plan I can foresee many great banking institutions growing up in practically every state of the Union, with capital structures adequate to the responsibilities which their large development entails, competing with each other within the trade areas which they serve as they now compete with each other in the largest cities of the country, assuring the public, rural and urban without discrimination, of the advantages of competitive banking service on the one hand and uniform safety for deposits on the other."

Pennsy Authorized To Lease Seashore

WASHINGTON, June 5 — The Interstate Commerce Commission has authorized Pennsylvania Railroad to lease the West Jersey and Seashore Railroad for 999 years from July 1, 1930, under terms providing payment of a 6 per cent rental on $11,690,450 of capital stock.

The rental rate likewise applies to any additional stock issued after July 1 next. The Pennsylvania also will pay under the lease interest on the shore line's bonds and its expenses, including taxes, etc.

DAILY TRUE STORY

'Double Check'

"Fifty gross assorted brown curls."

Peter Arnold stared at what he had written and chuckled. He had a nice sense of humor.

Carefully he erased "brown curls" and wrote "ash trays."

Peter had started an importing business of his own in a small way. By industry and personal economy he hoped to build it into a big and profitable concern.

Writing "brown curls" and "ash trays" didn't seem to be concentrating so well on the importing business.

Peter, still smiling, stared across the narrow space between the two blocks into the window of the Inglewood Investment Company where he could plainly see the brown curls. They were naturally attached to the pert little head of Lolita Smith. Lolita operated a typewriter with nimble fingers and hammered out endless "follow up" letters for her employers.

She had been there only a few weeks. At first Peter scarcely noticed that the cute little girl with the glossy brown curls had replaced the stout and somewhat sloppy black-haired girl who had previously operated the typewriter.

Gradually—or was it suddenly? He couldn't remember, anyway, one day he was fully aware of the presence of Lolita Smith, although he didn't know her name.

He glanced at her every morning and many times throughout the day. He wished she would glance at him once in a while. She did, but she was too clever to let him know it.

Nice kid — sweet girl — he wished he could get to know her—she would make just the sort of wife he often dreamed about. But a wife was out of the question when a chap was building up a business for himself. If he had remained manager for the Acme Importing Company he could have afforded matrimony with his steady salary, but then, he would have just had his steady salary and no prospects for many years, since both partners of that company were young and healthy. Now, some day, he would make a lot of money.

One Room Home

At 5:30 Peter put his books away in the small second-hand safe, locked his office door and started for home, "home" consisting of one small room midway up town.

At 6 he would go out to Kinkman's restaurant for his dinner. At 7 he would be in front of the Echo Radio store, to listen to Amos 'n' Andy.

Some day he would have his own radio. Right now he needed every dollar to put into his business so he mingled with the crowd in front of the Echo shop and chuckled over the drolleries anent Fresh Air Taxis, Madam Queens, Susies and the like. Then he would go back to his one-room "home," get out sundry commercial reports, consular reports and other literature, to study more deeply the possible future best bets in the importing game.

Of late he would study a while and sit back to smoke his pipe—a pipe being a man's smoke, anyway, and more economical—and think of the pretty little girl with the glossy brown curls.

But Peter Arnold didn't daydream to any extent that hurt his little industry. He was getting a reputation for digging up unusual novelties that hit public fancy and sold well.

A score of foreign concerns had made a profit, along with Peter, and now sent him catalogs and, what is better, samples.

Peter was examining a box of samples one afternoon. These consisted of wall-eyed blue cats that were candle sticks—the cat's tail consisting of the candle; also other grotesque chinaware, of more or less ornamentation and utility.

Lolita Smith, resting for a brief moment between letters, caught sight of the wall-eyed blue china cat on Peter's table desk across the way and wondered whatever on earth that thing could be. Peter saw her staring and smiled.

Lolita ducked her head, inserted paper in the machine and began typing:

"Possibly our explanatory letter of last week did not come to your attention, otherwise you would have taken advantage of our extraordinary offer—and so on and on, after the usual manner of sucker bait.

Amos 'n' Andy

"She's shy," thought Peter.

Lolita was somewhat shy, but curious. She finished the letter and looked across again. This time Peter held up the wall-eyed blue cat for inspection. He struck a match and lighted the candle so the girl might understand that it was just a harmless candlestick and not a Brobdignagian germ.

Lolita was also polite. She smiled and patted her hands in dumb applause. Then she turned industriously to her work.

Peter got ready to take these samples out to possible wholesale buyers.

"Well," he said, "that's something."

He wasn't thinking of the wall-eyed blue china cat, but of Lolita's smile. Saying "That's something," reminded him of Amos 'n' Andy. "Now, ain't that somethin'," he quoted. He was staring across at Lolita. She looked up and flashed him another fleeting smile.

"Check," Peter murmured, returning the smile, with interest.

He hurried out to his appointment and returned with a most satisfactory order.

It was a few nights later that he came from his dinner in Finkman's and paused in front of the Echo Radio Shop. Floyd Gibbons was just rattling off the last of his freshly hunted headlines. Then came the strains of the "Broken Melody."

The Kingfish was telling Andy about the Battle-ax and Peter was grinning when he forgot all about everything except some glossy brown curls peeping out from under a turban in front of him. Of course there was a girl attached to the curls.

She was with another girl and turned to smile at her. Peter recognized her—the little typist across the way!

Peter tried to listen and watch. He watched mostly. The girl with Lolita moved away, but Lolita didn't notice it. The Amos 'n' Andy dialogue faded out. Lolita turned around, thinking that she was speaking to her girl friend.

"Awfully clever tonight," she said.

"Check!" Peter replied.

"Oh!" cried Lolita, and then, "I—I thought—I thought you were a girl friend."

"Do I look like one?"

Lolita got red, then she laughed.

"Not at all. I mean, I had a girl friend beside me and I didn't know she had gone. I always stop at a radio place to hear Amos 'n' Andy."

Meets Lolita

"I listen every night. I haven't a radio—wish I did," Peter explained, honestly and eager to make conversation.

"Double check," said Lolita, smiling.

"Do you live near here?"

"I do now. I just came down from High Bridge to live with my married sister. What was that funny blue thing you showed me today?"

Peter told her about it.

"I import them—all those grotesque things. People seem to be crazy about them."

"Nice," murmured Lolita, then she smiled again and walked away.

Peter looked for Lolita the next night and the next, but did not see her. They had waved hands across the little space between the blocks, and smiled.

Then Peter met Lolita again. This time he chatted and gave her his first business card.

"I'm not ritzy enough to have calling cards," he said.

"I haven't any, but my name is so unusual you won't forget it," Lolita answered. "It is Smith!"

Both of them laughed. Youth laughs easily, and with sincerity, at this stage.

"Lolita Smith," she added.

It was raining, some months later. Peter and Lolita had become quite friendly, but had never seen each other except through their office windows and in front of the radio shop.

Peter had an umbrella. He caught sight of Lolita and made her stand under two-thirds of it.

They listened to Amos 'n' Andy together.

Lolita giggled. "Andy is going to say—"

She wasn't quick enough in her prognostication, for the basso of Andy boomed out: "Check an' double check!"

Peter walked the two blocks to the place where Lolita lived with her sister.

"My sister," she said, "is lovely and so is her husband, but she is deaf, from a childhood illness, and because she can't hear a radio, her husband won't have one."

Brown Curls

"Good scout," agreed Peter.

"And I wish I had a radio," Lolita confided.

"So do I—can't afford it while I'm starting my importing business."

Then he told her about the time he wrote "brown curls" instead of "ash trays," and left her at her door.

Spring had finally arrived.

Peter and Lolita exchanged smiles across the little space more often. Spring, no doubt, was responsible for this. Peter did something new—he quit his office five minutes ahead of time and went down and waited for Lolita. He took her up to Finkman's for dinner with him.

Then they stood out and listened to Amos 'n' Andy.

After that he went home with her and she invited him up to see her sister and husband and the little youngster. The married sister disappeared in the kitchen along with her husband.

Peter was telling Lolita about his friend, Mr. Sturgis, buyer for Stacey & Co.

"So he is going to live in Europe and do his buying right on the ground," Peter explained, "and it seems too bad for him to leave his cosy little place, two rooms and kitchenette—and a wonderful radio."

"Oh, dear—think of giving that up," Lolita agreed.

"Check," replied Peter. "Not only that, but he has a three-year lease on the place—he owns all of the furnishings, you see. The rent—"

Peter named it, surprisingly low.

"I can have the place and all of his furnishings for just what the rent costs. I've got to decide tomorrow. Now if you would marry me, Lolita, we could live there and hear Amos 'n' Andy every night, and I need a typist now, so you could work with me—er—see?"

Lolita sat very still and said nothing.

Peter kissed her.

"Will you, dear?"

"Double check," she whispered.

Metropolitan Plan to Aid Industrial Growth

The completion of a Metropolitan plan for Pittsburgh means more than an increase in the city's census figures. It might have an important bearing on the cost of operating industrial plants in this district. Anything which lowers the expenses of industries here means more Pittsburgh products sold and better employment.

On June 18 the Public Service Commission will open hearings on the short haul freight rate case. Local industries will protest against large increases in the cost of moving steel from mills to factories within this district.

These industries will tell the commission that increased rates on short hauls have been forced on them but not on plants in other districts. This has happened because the ruling does not apply to charges for moving steel within a city's switching limits. Pittsburgh's switching district is only one-twentieth as large as Chicago's. It is smaller than the switching districts of other large cities which are competing for our markets.

Switching districts are arbitrarily fixed by the railroads. They frequently cover a larger area than a city's limits, but they invariably are at least as large.

If the industrial communities surrounding Pittsburgh were a part of the city, the railroads would have no excuse to offer wher factories at these points ask to be included within the switching district so that they could take advantage of lower freight rates for moving materials from other Pittsburgh plants.

While this appears to be a mere technicality, in many cases it would cut the costs of interplant movements of steel in half. It would save local industries from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000 a year and would encourage the location of new plants in Pittsburgh.

Way Out for Council In Traffic Plan War

Council has received more evidence that the traffic arrangement it favors for the Eleventh street area in connection with the construction of the proposed Pennsylvania passenger terminal is not adequate. The City Planning Commission has apprised Council of its disapproval of certain parts of an ordinance covering the matter.

Council favors a plan providing for handling traffic at grade. A special committee appointed to study the matter recommended a plan for separation of traffic by depressing some lanes, with others at grade or elevated. All "expert" opinion is for the latter scheme and strongly opposed to the other. Council, it is assumed, leans only to the makeshift because it is less costly.

Yet the financial side should not be the great consideration in this matter. Relying upon the opinion of engineers and others, it is evident that a pennywise policy will be poundfoolish to a greater extent than most things to which the old saw is applied. If Council does not have the money, of course, it cannot be expected to do the impossible.

But why cannot Council commit itself to the adequate plan and complete financing later? Money now available for appropriation certainly should suffice for such work as could be done on the project until the fund could be augmented from the next budget. The railroad work, we assume, could proceed under this plan and the city would get what it needs.

Speeders, Watch Out! Eyes May Be on You

June is one of the months in which motorists should be extremely careful. The month of roses also is a month of traffic fatalities. Of course no month is exempt in that respect, but June is one of the worst in the year, according to statistics.

It will be a good month in which to test the effectiveness of the work of the Traffic Safety Observers. This is a group of citizens who observe and report unwise acts of motorists which endanger their own lives and the lives of others. A letter to offending drivers is the first result. It appeals to their sense of fair play. If second and third offenses are charged to the same driver the letters are more severe in tone. For the fourth offense—action!

Just now, we have been informed, special attention is being paid to speeders and weavers, the most inconsiderate of the rights of others among all who operate motor cars. They should watch their step—or wheel. One or more of 500 pairs of eyes of traffic overseers may be upon them.

Assistant Postmaster Urged for Promotion

Among those seeking appointment to succeed George W. Gosser as postmaster is James B. Anderson, present assistant postmaster, in whose behalf strong recommendation has been made to Senator David A. Reed. Mr. Anderson is said to have the indorsement of the entire Pittsburgh district delegation in the House of Representatives. Pittsburgh Council recently sent to Senator Reed a petition for the appointment of Anderson signed by all members except one. He also has the indorsement of Crafton Business Men's Association. His home is in Crafton Heights.

If experience has any weight in the matter, Mr. Anderson should qualify handily. He has been an employe of the postfice for 30 years, having begun as a clerk. The movement his behalf is in contrast to the procedure formerly prevailing the appointment of postmaster, which was a political plum be garnered by somebody outside of the postal service.

NEW SOCIAL SCIENCES

By Archibald Henderson

It has long been recognized that the older disciplines—politics, economics, history and jurisprudence—are fully entitled to be ranked as social sciences. The developments of modern life, the increasing incidence of human relationships, have shown the marked interdependence of these four social sciences. These sciences not only depend upon each other; they have reached such a strong interpenetration that they must be studied, not only separately, but with reference to their vital relationships.

Meanwhile, a new group of social disciplines has come to the fore, to press their claims to recognition as social or at least semi-social sciences. The characteristic feature of these newer disciplines, says Seligman, is that they arose at a time when a "growing recognition of the intertwining of all the human strands in the texture of life was leading to a disappearance of separation of the older sciences."

Anthropology is winning the attention of the modern world, as a natural consequence of the development of certain sciences, such as geology and geography. When the implements, ornaments and dwellings of ancient man, as well as the skeletons of ancient man himself, were gradually unearthed, they prompted the study of the conditions (political, economic and legal) under which ancient man dwelt.

Penology is another one of the modern social sciences which has steadily grown in importance. Today, great and close attention is being paid to the criminal, less as criminal than an individual. Crime is recognized to be, in part, at least, a form of disease, a symptom of individual and social unhealthiness. The recognition of social responsibility in the matter of both crime and disease marks the great scientific advance in the development of penology.

The modern (one had almost said the contemporary) science of sociology bulks enormously in the life of today. Its very comprehensiveness, all-inclusiveness, has served as a bar to its immediate acceptance as a science in the true sense. But it has long passed the stage when it could be truthfully called the most dismal of sciences. Sociology is the social science, the quintessence of all that we mean by the term "social science."

The association of scientific inquiry with social action is one of the most beneficial of modern contributions to the study of right living. It is a sort of human engineering—the putting into practice of those scientific theories and principles which promise effectuating improved social conditions and social relationships.

Ethics, education, philosophy, psychology, biology, geography, art and linguistics are steadily deepening in social influence, and are coming to be recognized as bearing within them the fertile seeds of authentic social sciences of the future.

∴ LISTEN, WORLD ∴

By Elsie Robinson

Will you go insane before you die? Or, at least, become extremely peculiar?

No—don't snort! That's no idle question. Mental disorder is no longer confined to an unfortunate few—it has become one of our commonest calamities. And your chances for continued sanity are much slimmer than you think.

Every other bed in United States hospitals is occupied by a mental case! In 1880 we had only 65 mental cases for every 100,000 people. If we increase at our present rate there will shortly be 635 insane people for every 100,000 sane. These figures are not sensational guesswork. They are part of the amazing report recently rendered in the First International Congress on Mental Hygiene assembled in Washington, D. C.

How come this horror? Through the speed, congestion and tense competition of our modern life. Too much hurry. Too much worry. Too many sights and sounds and impressions passing on our eyes and ears, our brain and nerve centers. You don't have to be born crazy . . . You can get that way.

Take your flashlight. Press it incessantly. How long before that light dims, burns out? Not long. That's what happens to people when life presses too incessantly on them. Gradually they cease to register impressions. Or erect strange mental defences. Or find strange mental escapes. At first they seem just "notions." Laughable notions—tiresome notions—irritating notions. But gradually these notions deepen, harden, become actual mental impediments. Then we call these notional people "nuts" and clap them in asylums if they become too troublesome.

But all "nuts" can't be clapped in asylums—and they constitute a spreading menace.

"Mental disorders are contagious," says Prof. Henri Laugier, of the Sorbone. "Those who live in congested districts, who lead busy lives in great commercial centers, are in grave danger. If 500 normal persons were to be exposed in crowded quarters to five victims of mental diseases, the effects of those five abnormal persons would be felt by every one of the normal 500."

Sick minds are one of the prices we pay for our imperfect modern civilization. And we should all know of that menace. But fortunately we can create health for our minds as well as for our bodies. If you don't want to go insane play some—rest some—circulate moderately. Don't let yourself run away from people morbidly—or seek them feverishly. Keep your mind open to new thoughts and your life open to new experiences. Don't let your mind harden into peculiar attitudes. Don't grow grudges. Don't harbor fears. Above all, have some interesting work. If your regular job isn't interesting—find some work on the side that is. Cultivate a stimulating hobby. Happy work will keep almost any life in sane balance.

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS.

Some city folks get their only taste of real rough life when they go to camp in the summer. There was a young woman went out to a camp in the mountains to visit a woman friend of hers. The city girl was kinda upset by the lack of a lot of things like subways and electric refrigerators, but she thought maybe she could put up with such hardships for a few weeks.

When she had been there for a little while she looked around for a wash bowl and faucet, and didn't see any.

"Where do we wash?" she says.

"In the spring," says her hostess.

"Excuse me, Margaret," she says, "but I said where, not when. And, besides, I can't wait till spring to wash up for dinner, can I?"

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS.

Old as the Stars

Old as the stars the songs men sing,
Old as the stars and sun;
For, ah, in what a little ring
The deep emotions run!
Of love and hope and joy men's songs,
Back in the dawn of time;
And since to every age belongs
Each theme they weave in rhyme.
As old as stars, yet ever new,
Blithe songs of love and hope;
They are so dear, they are so few,
The dreams toward which men grope.
Love like a flower, love like a flame,
And hope, a voice that lures;
Men's themes of song will be the same
As long as earth endures.

Text For Today Unto him that loved us, and washed us from our sins in his own blood, and hath made us kings and priests unto God and his Father; to him be glory and dominion forever and ever. Amen.—Revelations 1:5, 6.

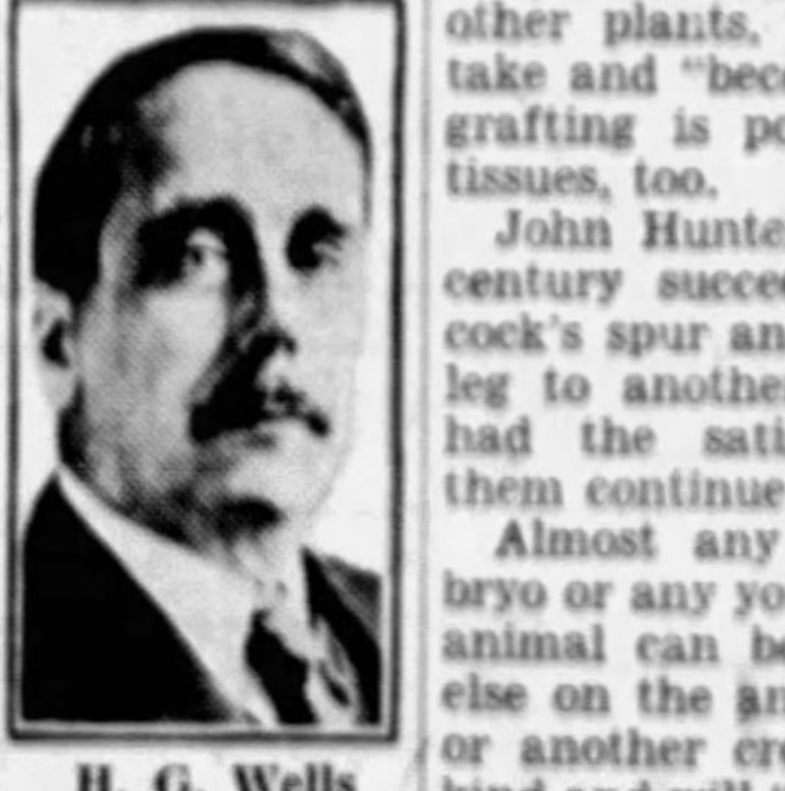
THE SCIENCE OF LIFE

By H. G. WELLS
In Collaboration With
Prof. Julian Huxley and George P. Wells.

Regeneration is so queer and unfamiliar a process to the human investigator that it was thought at one time to be a special protective device evolved by creatures which are particularly exposed to injury.

It was supposed for example that newts, being peculiarly liable to have their limbs bitten or torn off, had therefore evolved this wonderful aptitude for regrowth in order to save themselves from extinction.



H. G. Wells

But, as a matter of fact, regeneration is a very surprisingly widespread thing. Moreover, it is apparently a primitive thing, a power possessed by all the simplest forms of life, and one which we have lost, not one that the newt and the lobster and the flatworm have gained.

Worms, polyps, sponges, and so forth, are capable, we have seen, of total regeneration. Fragments of the body, torn off, can build up a whole new individual. It is evident enough that this power is related to sexless reproduction; both are aspects of a tendency which primitive living matter has of rebuilding and reorganizing itself.

As we pass the Animal Kingdom in review, turning from the simpler to the more complex, we see that the abilities to regenerate and to reproduce asexually fall off as the body gets more elaborately specialized.

A newt or a lobster can regenerate limbs but not much more than that. We ourselves can regenerate very little. The healing of a wound, the growth of new skin over a cut, the setting of a broken bone, the repair of a torn muscle or tendon—these are the last vestiges in our own bodies of this strange regenerative capacity.

This is all that remains to us of the reproductive power that can make the severed flatworm into two individuals.

§ 8. The Graft and the Chimaera.

Man, we noticed, can do curious things with the normal rhythm of life. He can imitate fertilization and sexless reproduction. We turn now to an even more striking interference—to the mixing together of organisms of different kinds to form one.

It is well known that branches of plants can be grafted on to other plants, and that they will take and "become one flesh." But grafting is possible with animal tissues, too.

John Hunter in the eighteenth century succeeded in grafting a cock's spur and a piece of chick's leg to another fowl's comb, and had the satisfaction of seeing them continue to live and grow.

Almost any organ of an embryo or any young and soft-bodied animal can be grafted anywhere else on the anatomy of the same or another creature of the same kind and will "take" and grow.

A tadpole's growing limb or the regenerating leg-bud of a newt will grow after grafting on to the head or the flank, and will sprout out toes and turn into a well-formed leg quite happily.

An eye-rudiment taken from one salamander embryo and stuck on to the flank of another grows into a normal looking eye (though, of course, the animal can never see with it) and will even change its color and shape, as do the animal's own eyes, when the host changes from tadpole to land-salamander. And with very young embryos, whole regions, or even whole animals, can be grafted.

Double tadpoles stuck back to back or belly to belly have been artificially produced, and will feed and grow and turn into double frogs. Moths, too, can be grafted while in the chrysalis stage, and each part will go on growing in its appointed way.

By this means the most bizarre monsters can be created, such as two tail-ends joined in the middle, or a tandem moth with four pairs of wings.

The intimacy of union effected by grafting is shown very vividly by the mutual reaction of scion and stock in grafted plants. Identical apple-stems, for example, grafted on to different rootstocks, behave very differently.

For one thing, the color and size of the scion's apples is modified by the rootstock. On one stock, the scions show quick growth, but fruit sparingly and late; on another they fruit early and well, but stay small; and some rootstocks seem to promote both rapid growth and heavy fruiting. The degree of the stock's influence in these cases seems to depend on the place of grafting.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, June 5.—Stage mothers are more often than not targets for abusive sarcasm and comic paper hoots. Producers profess to abhor them and yet the record of stage mothers is largely one of unusual sacrifice and deprivation. Their devotion has studded the theatrical heavens with stars.

There are many who have gone without clothing, food and other necessities to be certain their ducklings have dancing and dramatic tuition. No phase of poverty has been too great for them to endure. And with success, they are perfectly content to remain in the background.

The mother of the Eatons—Mary, Doris, Pearl and Charles—is an example. She faced many managerial rebuffs to give her four children a place in the spotlight. Another famous stage mother is Mrs. Janis, mother of the talented Elsie. Wherever her daughter appears, she is usually in the wings.

Their singular devotion is an epic of the footlights. Miss Janis declines social engagements that do not include her mother. They have toured the world together many times and only illness has prevented Mrs. Janis from missing a single performance.

Ailene Stone, Fred's wife, and mother of Dorothy and Paula, has consecrated her life to her daughters. When Dorothy was co-starring with Will Rogers, Mrs. Stone did not miss a night sitting up at her Forest Hills home to await her daughter and provide a midnight snack.

The mother of The Four Marxes believed in her sons when agencies were indifferent. She literally lived on crusts while they knocked about one-night stands. It was her indomitable courage alone that kept their feet firmly on the road to success.

While these are conspicuous instances, the list of others who have made a supreme sacrifice is long. In my mail one day was a note from a stage mother that was typical and read: "I saw my daughter's name in lights tonight. Tomorrow I go to a hospital for a grave operation — deliriously happy."

Dorothea Antel is carrying on with her Sunshine Shoppe in the 70's. Confined to a bed for seven years as the result of a stage accident she has made her living catering to professional folk with her line of feminine dainties.

* * *

This column today seems somewhat a saga of stage folk. It is written at a time when thousands of professionals are "at liberty" and facing an economic uncertainty they never knew before. Many are in want. Of all people those of the stage are less given to bitterness in disaster. They may strut preposterously, mouth outlandish boasts and otherwise indulge a peacock flair for display—but they seldom whine. And what a world this would be with no whiners!

A letter—and the most aristocratic handwriting I ever saw—from a valet says he has just been discharged because he did not keep his master's collection of pocket lighters filled with gasolene. "He had 20," he says, "and just happened to pick up the one that was empty."

They were discussing the season's dramatic lines with the biggest emotional choke. My vote goes to one in "Journey's End." The scene is a dug-out in the hell and muck of No Mans Land where a war weary group awaits the zero hour. A dull-witted sergeant, apropos of nothing whatever, remarks: "I seen a robin this morning—singing."

The famous Bourgereau painting which hung so long over the old Hoffman House bar has been sold to an Oklahoma millionaire. Maxfield Parrish's "Old King Cole" which similarly graced the Knickerbocker, has been reported in many places, but an art critic tells me it is displayed on the walls of the Racquet Club.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

The people who most need advice are usually the ones who most strenuously object to taking it.

Are you one of this kind?

If the counsel is fair-minded and might benefit you just why are you opposed to it?

Do you think it would be acknowledging a weakness on your part?

Far from it; the more one who can listen to and profit by suggestions heard or directed to him personally is not missing any opportunities for improvement.

Most of us know little in proportion to what might be known.

Many of us go through life passing by or casting off chances to learn.

It is your antagonistic attitude toward one who volunteers to tell you something supposed to be useful to you, that prevents your learning as much as you might.

You solace your pride by shrugging off what you choose to consider as interference.

One of the most expensive experiences in the lives of most persons is paying no heed because it seems like an admission of ignorance.

We all have so much to learn that we should not set aside chances of gaining valuable and useful knowledge.
